Pipeline Okayed By Legislature; Goes To Barron

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The keynote of the administration's coal pipeline bills is now an act of the Legislature and on its way to the man who asked for its passage, Gov. Barron.

A few relatively non - controversial pipeline bills await final passage, but these can be disposed of before the adjournment deadline at midnight Thursday.

A conference committee wrangle on the main pipeline bill was avoided yesterday when each house accepted amendments by the other. The final bill, combining three of the original administration measures, was then passed again by each chamber.

The votes were 55-27 in the House and 20-12 in the Senate. The final vote came in the Senate last night.

The most controversial part of the railroad - opposed legislation was the proposal to give coal pipeline companies the right of eminent domain — the power to bring condemnation suits to acquire property for right of way.

Under the legislation as passed, these qualifications will have to be met before a coal pipeline company will have that right:

It will have to show that the pipeline will be operated as a common carrier and as a public utility. As a common carrier, the pipeline must be available to numerous coal companies.

It will have to show that part of its business will be intrastate, provided there is "any reasonable demand" for this kind of operation. In other words, if there is reasonable demand for it, part of the operation will have to consist of business originating and terminating in West Virginia.

5 Amendments Due On November Ballot

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Before this 30-day session of the Legislature is over, there may be five constitutional amendments ready to go on the November election ballot.

Three amendments already are assured places on the ballot. Two more are in position to win legislative approval before the adjournment deadline at midnight Thursday.

One is an amendment to double legislators' pay, from $1,500 to $3,000 a year; give them $15 a day for expenses while in session, and provide for a 60-day general session every year.

One level behind at amendment stage on the Senate calendar were a House-approved resolution and enabling bill for a constitutional amendment dealing with apportionment of House seats.

Yesterday the Senate gave final approval to another amendment to let sheriffs serve two successive terms. They may not now succeed themselves.

The other two amendments already sure of places on the ballot would:

Enable a governor to serve two successive terms and give him sole responsibility for drafting the proposed state budget for submission to the Legislature.

Cites Crisis In Schooling

$5.7 Billion Education Aid Plan Proposed By President

City School Staff Given $100 Raises

All Employes Will Share In Additional Funds From State

Across - the - board increases of $100 for all employes were granted by the Board of Education Monday night, along with supplementary funds for two other accounts, after it officially was advised of an increase in state foundation funds.

Retroactive to Jan. 1, the boosts cover all persons employed by the board, ranging from Supt. Ralph W. Betts to the newest worker, including teachers, administrative personnel not on the salary schedule, custodians, secretaries, salaried employes and cafeteria personnel.

The board unanimously approved the recommendation of its finance committee.

The increase will add $26,326 to payroll costs, Supt. Betts said.

The net increase in state foundation funds is $42,741, Betts reported, explaining the last session of the State Legislature authorized $100 increases in each salary category and $100 per classroom unit for general operating increases. The increases are added into the formula under which foundation funds are distributed.

The board approved a boost of $10,000 in the equipment account with the balance of $6,415 going into the educational supplies fund. By its action, the board strengthened the three most important elements in a school program, Betts said.

The superintendent had advised the board last November that an increase of approximately $43,000 was anticipated and said salary increases were under consideration.

However, he declined to make a recommendation until the State Department of Education actually had certified the amount to be available.

Under the revised salary schedule, here are the new minimum and maximum salaries in the various categories depending on experience:

Teachers with less than three years' training, $3,500 minimum and $4,700 maximum; more than three years' training but less than a degree, $3,700 and $5,100; bachelor's degree, $4,100 and $5,600; bachelor's degree plus 30 hours, $4,200 and $5,900, and master's degree, $4,300 and $6,100.

Teachers with less than three years' training reach the maximum after 10 years while those in the other categories reach the top salary after 12 years.

Asks Okay Of Program During '62

5-Year-Plan Lists No Church, Private, High School Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy told Congress today a crisis in American schooling makes it imperative that a five-year $5.7 billion aid to education program be enacted this year. He asked no help for church and private elementary and high schools.

It was this exclusion of parochial schools that stalled the aid for classroom construction and teachers' salaries program last year in a congressional row over help for church schools.

But Kennedy, a Roman Catholic said again today in a special message that his program offers "the maximum scope permitted by our Constitution." He contends federal outlays for church schools would violate the constitutional concept of separation of church and state.

Kennedy's program of federal loans, grants and scholarships at every level of learning would cost $1.5 billion in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

He said the outlay would be "the most profitable investment society can make."

As if to refute reports that his administration would be willing to forego funds for aiding public school construction and higher teachers' pay, the President put that contested measure at the top of his list.

Next came aid for college construction and scholarships, which are given a better chance of becoming law. Third was an array of "special" education and training programs with emphasis on more support for science and engineering, medical and dental training, and a broad attack on adult illiteracy.

Few give the bill much chance, even if revived. But Kennedy spoke out strongly for vigorous government help. In the past year "our crucial needs have intensified and our deficiencies have grown more critical," he said.

"It is imperative that such a proposal carrying out these objectives be enacted this session."

The country must provide facilities for 14 million more elementary, secondary and college students by 1970, the message said, or an increase of 30 per cent. College enrollments alone will nearly double.

Water Project Report Given For St. Clair

Association Plans Study Of Plan For Revenue Bonds

A proposed public water service program for suburban areas of St. Clair Township — utilizing water purchased from East Liverpool — was discussed at a meeting of the township's Improvement Association Monday night at the Calcutta fire station.

A report on the proposed system, which would be financed by a $1,110,000 revenue bond issue, was presented by representatives of A. R. Todd Associates of Wheeling, engineers.

The association took under study the proposal which would set up a water system to serve Calcutta, Glenmoor and intermediate points, providing 90 per cent of available customers in the area sign a contract to join in the plan.

The system would obtain water from East Liverpool and Dean Wilhelm, member of an association committee studying the water situation, said city officials reported water could be made available at 35 cents a thousand gallons.

He said the city reports it has from 1 million to 1½ million gallons of water in excess of its daily requirements.

Plans call for a 6-inch line from the city water plant in the East End to Calcutta, an 8-inch

Secret Army Seizes Paper In Daring Act

Reply To DeGaulle Promise Of Algeria Peace Agreement

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—The European Secret Army answered President Charles de Gaulle's promise of an Algerian peace agreement with the daring seizure today of an Oran newspaper. Secret Army commandos blanketed the city with a pirate edition asserting the French settlers will win their battle to block Algerian independence.

The publication and distribution of thousands of copies of the contraband newspaper in Algeria's second city was probably the most daring propaganda coup yet pulled by ex-Gen. Raoul Salan's rightist underground.

It followed only by hours De Gaulle's address to France in which he scorned the Secret Army as "subversive and criminal" and vowed that nothing would stand in the way of his plans for Algerian peace and independence.

De Gaulle's speech buoyed Algeria's Moslems with new hope and optimism. Although he did not say agreement had been reached with the rebel provisional government, many saw an end of the 7½-year-old rebellion near at hand. "This time peace is really around the corner," said one.

Chief Renews Pay Hike Bid For Firemen

Budget, Requests For Equipment In Report To Council

Chief Charles Bryan renewed his yearly appeal for salary increases for fire department personnel in his annual report submitted to City Council Monday night.

The chief also included the department's budget and suggestions for purchase of new equipment, improvements at the city's four fire stations and made a new plea for establishment of a building code and appointment of an electrical inspector.

The chief recommended a flat 30 per cent increase for himself, three assistant chiefs and 27 firemen.

The request, Bryan said, is not "unreasonable," declaring the department is the poorest paid in any city of comparable size in the state. He said Salem, a city with about half East Liverpool's population, pays firemen $450 monthly.

He asked the purchase of two new trucks to replace a 1,000-gallon pumper which is 32 years old and a 750-gallon pumper now 21 years old and obsolete. Parts for the 750-gallon pumper no longer can be purchased out of stock and must be hand-made, he noted.

He also asked for 1,000 feet each of 2½-inch and 1½-inch hose and some up-to-date fire nozzles. The life of fire hose generally is seven years, he said, but the department is using some 20 years old.

Applegate Asks Limit On Convention 'Tabs'

Does the city have the right to set maximum amounts it will pay for meals and lodging of officials on authorized out-of-town trips to conventions and conferences?

City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate asked that question Monday night in a letter to Council, asserting that some of the bills presented in the past have been unreasonably high, in his opinion.

"Some of the vouchers ask reimbursement for $4 to $5 for a lunch or dinner and $12 to $15 for a hotel room," the auditor's letter said. "I feel Council should enact legislation setting maximum amounts that will be paid for such items."

Council received and filed the letter without comment.

Leftists Nip Tokyo Talk

Students Cheer Robert Kennedy

TOKYO (AP) — Thousands of students at Tokyo's Waseda University gave Robert F. Kennedy a roaring, cheering welcome today, but shouting, jeering leftists broke up a speech by the U.S. attorney general. It was the first hostility Kennedy has met on his visit to Japan.

It was estimated the hecklers totaled fewer than 100. U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer said they were "a small group of hard-core Communists and I don't believe they were from Waseda."

Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, stood calmly on the university stage despite the pandemonium, then left the auditorium building through a rear door. Mrs. Kennedy was hit in the stomach by a gesticulating cheerleader trying to drown out the hecklers, but she quickly recovered her composure.

"I think the vast majority of the students were friendly," the President's brother said later. "I'm just sorry we didn't get more of a chance to exchange ideas. I'd like to go back."

Thousands of students swarmed about Kennedy's car as he drove into the university grounds to cheers of "Kennedy! Kennedy!" and cries of "Shake my hand."

The American visitor was literally carried up the steps of the building. Police and university security officials finally managed to get the disheveled Kennedy inside, but he turned and waved out the door, shouting "thank you!" A thunderous cheer went up from the students.

The auditorium was packed with about 6,000 students. As Kennedy waited to begin his speech, a disturbance broke out in the front rows and several youths tried to climb on the stage. Small knots of strategically located young people set up cries of "Kennedy go home. Kennedy off the platform. Cuba. Okinawa."

Most of the students kept quiet, and the attorney general plunged resolutely into his speech, reviewing his brother's policies. When he said he would discuss the "responsibilities of living in a democratic nation," strong applause broke out, but jeering, shouting students in the rear of the hall drowned out the rest of his remarks.

A college cheerleader jumped to the stage and got students to singing the university song. The leftists collected in the back of the hall, and the Communist internationale mingled with the school song.

The cheerleader then led the students in school cheers. From the back the hecklers continued jeering, heaped up wooden chairs and climbed on top of them, shouting, "Go home. Leave the platform. Cuba."

The Zengakuren leftist students' group said representatives from 30 of its chapters were at the university to ask questions of Kennedy and present petitions. The Zengakuren organization led the 1960 riots that resulted in cancellation of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's visit to Japan.

A Marine Corps helicopter was stationed about three miles away for use if it had been necessary to move the Kennedy party out by air.

Ambassador Reischauer said he thought the incident would backfire on the agitators.

Officers Ask Wage Boosts, Premium Pay

Councilmen Pledge To Study Requests From FOP Group

The police department asked Council Monday night for a general 30 per cent wage increase and five other concessions, including premium pay for overtime and holiday work.

Council took the request under advisement after it was presented by four members of the wage and grievance committee of Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 29 and Patrolman Paul E. Carter, president.

Patrolman Orin C. Smith, the committee chairman, presented Council with a three-page typewritten proposal listing the department's requests. In addition to the general pay boost, it seeks:

Establishment of a longevity pay plan that would allow an officer an extra $1 a month on his salary for each year's service.

Premium pay for work on holidays such as New Year's Day and Christmas, for which the officers now are paid straight time.

Time and a half pay for overtime work instead of the $1.50 hourly paid now.

A change in the vacation plan, granting officers 22 days off after 10 years' service instead of after 15 years, as at present.

Shouldn't Have Been Called

Some Reservists Slated To Be Released By Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army reported today it is releasing an undisclosed number of reservists it acknowledged shouldn't have been called to active duty during the Berlin crisis mobilization.

It said it "has instructed the field to advise those individuals erroneously called up they are eligible for release from the service."

Involved are men who, due to misinterpretation of policy, were kept in the ready Reserve when they should have been transferred to the inactive Reserve.

The Army said it does not have any figures on the number affected. Generally, they are among the more than 14,000 Army reservists ordered to duty specifically to fill up ranks of understrength Reserve and National Guard units mustered into active service last fall.

During the mobilization, some protested they were called up unjustly. The Army in effect admitted this today, saying "during the build-up certain personnel were called to active duty erroneously."

It noted that men entering the Army before enactment of the 1955 Reserve forces law incurred an eight-year ready Reserve obligation.

"When they completed five years of combined active duty and a ready Reserve service they were eligible for transfer to the standby Reserve," the Army said.

Moore Files For Primary; No Opposition

CHARLESTON, W. VA. (AP) — The entry of Rep. Arch Moore, Glen Dale Republican, as a candidate in the May primary became official Monday as the Secretary of State's office received another batch of certificates mailed before the deadline.

Moore has no opposition in the 1st District and it will be a race of an incumbent against an incumbent in November.

The opposition will be Rep. Cleveland Bailey, Clarksburg Democrat who has represented the old 3rd District for years.

Bailey's switch to the 1st District was a result of a reapportionment approved by the 1961 Legislature due to the 1960 census, which showed a population lost for the state.

1,200 Homes Not Tied In

Board Seeks Right To Bill On Sewer's 'Availability'

The Board of Public Utilities asked Council Monday night to impose a sewage service charge on householders who continue to use septic tanks or other methods of waste disposal despite the fact nearby sanitary sewers are "available" to them.

W. O. Schneider, chairman of the board, said the most recent survey of records shows 1,200 homes are not connected to the sewer system. However, the department does not know exactly how many of these householders have a sewer "available"—within a reasonable distance of their homes — and have not taken advantage of it, he said.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper explained the utilities board's proposal, then the members of the board answered Council's questions. But Council took no action.

"This is an issue that will require a lot of study," President Charles N. Edwards told the board. The question was referred to the ordinance committee, as the board's request would require a change in the present legislation, according to the solicitor.

In addition to Schneider, the board was represented by F. J. Cloran and Howard Moore, members of the board, Donald T. Duke, water department superintendent, and Charles Huddlestun, superintendent of the sewage treatment plant.

"The board mentioned to me that a large number of people

Salem Man Will Run For Auditor Post

A Salem Republican leader filed Monday with the County Election Board for his party's nomination for county auditor at the May 8 primary.

Two other GOP candidates, who had announced earlier, also submitted their petitions.

The deadline for entering the primaries is Wednesday at 4 p.m., Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, reminded.

Seeking the auditor's post is T. Emerson Smith, former county Republican chairman who also formerly was a member of the election board.

Confirming their previous announcements, Ernest A. Lowe, 410 Wedgewood St., filed for the GOP nomination for county commissioner while Boyd Wallace, a Cadiz area farmer, filed for state senator in the 20th-22nd District.

5 Amendments Due On November Ballot

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Before this 30-day session of the Legislature is over, there may be five constitutional amendments ready to go on the November election ballot.

Three amendments already are assured places on the ballot. Two more are in position to win legislative approval before the adjournment deadline at midnight Thursday.

One is an amendment to double legislators' pay, from $1,500 to $3,000 a year; give them $15 a day for expenses while in session, and provide for a 60-day general session every year.

One level behind at amendment stage on the Senate calendar were a House-approved resolution and enabling bill for a constitutional amendment dealing with apportionment of House seats.

Yesterday the Senate gave final approval to another amendment to let sheriffs serve two successive terms. They may not now succeed themselves.

The other two amendments already sure of places on the ballot would:

Enable a governor to serve two successive terms and give him sole responsibility for drafting the proposed state budget for submission to the Legislature.

All Employes Will Share In Additional Funds From State

Across - the - board increases of $100 for all employes were granted by the Board of Education Monday night, along with supplementary funds for two other accounts, after it officially was advised of an increase in state foundation funds.

Retroactive to Jan. 1, the boosts cover all persons employed by the board, ranging from Supt. Ralph W. Betts to the newest worker, including teachers, administrative personnel not on the salary schedule, custodians, secretaries, salaried employes and cafeteria personnel.

The board unanimously approved the recommendation of its finance committee.

The increase will add $26,326 to payroll costs, Supt. Betts said.

The net increase in state foundation funds is $42,741, Betts reported, explaining the last session of the State Legislature authorized $100 increases in each salary category and $100 per classroom unit for general operating increases. The increases are added into the formula under which foundation funds are distributed.

The board approved a boost of $10,000 in the equipment account with the balance of $6,415 going into the educational supplies fund. By its action, the board strengthened the three most important elements in a school program, Betts said.

The superintendent had advised the board last November that an increase of approximately $43,000 was anticipated and said salary increases were under consideration.

However, he declined to make a recommendation until the State Department of Education actually had certified the amount to be available.

Under the revised salary schedule, here are the new minimum and maximum salaries in the various categories depending on experience:

Teachers with less than three years' training, $3,500 minimum and $4,700 maximum; more than three years' training but less than a degree, $3,700 and $5,100; bachelor's degree, $4,100 and $5,600; bachelor's degree plus 30 hours, $4,200 and $5,900, and master's degree, $4,300 and $6,100.

Teachers with less than three years' training reach the maximum after 10 years while those in the other categories reach the top salary after 12 years.

Asks Okay Of Program During '62

5-Year-Plan Lists No Church, Private, High School Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy told Congress today a crisis in American schooling makes it imperative that a five-year $5.7 billion aid to education program be enacted this year. He asked no help for church and private elementary and high schools.

It was this exclusion of parochial schools that stalled the aid for classroom construction and teachers' salaries program last year in a congressional row over help for church schools.

But Kennedy, a Roman Catholic said again today in a special message that his program offers "the maximum scope permitted by our Constitution." He contends federal outlays for church schools would violate the constitutional concept of separation of church and state.

Kennedy's program of federal loans, grants and scholarships at every level of learning would cost $1.5 billion in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

He said the outlay would be "the most profitable investment society can make."

As if to refute reports that his administration would be willing to forego funds for aiding public school construction and higher teachers' pay, the President put that contested measure at the top of his list.

Next came aid for college construction and scholarships, which are given a better chance of becoming law. Third was an array of "special" education and training programs with emphasis on more support for science and engineering, medical and dental training, and a broad attack on adult illiteracy.

Few give the bill much chance, even if revived. But Kennedy spoke out strongly for vigorous government help. In the past year "our crucial needs have intensified and our deficiencies have grown more critical," he said.

"It is imperative that such a proposal carrying out these objectives be enacted this session."

The country must provide facilities for 14 million more elementary, secondary and college students by 1970, the message said, or an increase of 30 per cent. College enrollments alone will nearly double.

Association Plans Study Of Plan For Revenue Bonds

A proposed public water service program for suburban areas of St. Clair Township — utilizing water purchased from East Liverpool — was discussed at a meeting of the township's Improvement Association Monday night at the Calcutta fire station.

Chief Renews Pay Hike Bid For Firemen

Budget, Requests For Equipment In Report To Council

Chief Charles Bryan renewed his yearly appeal for salary increases for fire department personnel in his annual report submitted to City Council Monday night.

The chief also included the department's budget and suggestions for purchase of new equipment, improvements at the city's four fire stations and made a new plea for establishment of a building code and appointment of an electrical inspector.

The chief recommended a flat 30 per cent increase for himself, three assistant chiefs and 27 firemen.

The request, Bryan said, is not "unreasonable," declaring the department is the poorest paid in any city of comparable size in the state. He said Salem, a city with about half East Liverpool's population, pays firemen $450 monthly.

Councilmen Pledge To Study Requests From FOP Group

The police department asked Council Monday night for a general 30 per cent wage increase and five other concessions, including premium pay for overtime and holiday work.

Council took the request under advisement after it was presented by four members of the wage and grievance committee of Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 29 and Patrolman Paul E. Carter, president.

Patrolman Orin C. Smith, the committee chairman, presented Council with a three-page typewritten proposal listing the department's requests. In addition to the general pay boost, it seeks:

Establishment of a longevity pay plan that would allow an officer an extra $1 a month on his salary for each year's service.

Premium pay for work on holidays such as New Year's Day and Christmas, for which the officers now are paid straight time.

Time and a half pay for overtime work instead of the $1.50 hourly paid now.

A change in the vacation plan, granting officers 22 days off after 10 years' service instead of after 15 years, as at present.

Salem Man Will Run For Auditor Post

A Salem Republican leader filed Monday with the County Election Board for his party's nomination for county auditor at the May 8 primary.

Two other GOP candidates, who had announced earlier, also submitted their petitions.

The deadline for entering the primaries is Wednesday at 4 p.m., Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, reminded.

Seeking the auditor's post is T. Emerson Smith, former county Republican chairman who also formerly was a member of the election board.

Confirming their previous announcements, Ernest A. Lowe, 410 Wedgewood St., filed for the GOP nomination for county commissioner while Boyd Wallace, a Cadiz area farmer, filed for state senator in the 20th-22nd District.

Moore Files For Primary; No Opposition

CHARLESTON, W. VA. (AP) — The entry of Rep. Arch Moore, Glen Dale Republican, as a candidate in the May primary became official Monday as the Secretary of State's office received another batch of certificates mailed before the deadline.

Moore has no opposition in the 1st District and it will be a race of an incumbent against an incumbent in November.

The opposition will be Rep. Cleveland Bailey, Clarksburg Democrat who has represented the old 3rd District for years.

Bailey's switch to the 1st District was a result of a reapportionment approved by the 1961 Legislature due to the 1960 census, which showed a population lost for the state.

Shouldn't Have Been Called

Some Reservists Slated To Be Released By Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army reported today it is releasing an undisclosed number of reservists it acknowledged shouldn't have been called to active duty during the Berlin crisis mobilization.

It said it "has instructed the field to advise those individuals erroneously called up they are eligible for release from the service."

Involved are men who, due to misinterpretation of policy, were kept in the ready Reserve when they should have been transferred to the inactive Reserve.

The Army said it does not have any figures on the number affected. Generally, they are among the more than 14,000 Army reservists ordered to duty specifically to fill up ranks of understrength Reserve and National Guard units mustered into active service last fall.

During the mobilization, some protested they were called up unjustly. The Army in effect admitted this today, saying "during the build-up certain personnel were called to active duty erroneously."

It noted that men entering the Army before enactment of the 1955 Reserve forces law incurred an eight-year ready Reserve obligation.

"When they completed five years of combined active duty and a ready Reserve service they were eligible for transfer to the standby Reserve," the Army said.

Applegate Asks Limit On Convention 'Tabs'

Does the city have the right to set maximum amounts it will pay for meals and lodging of officials on authorized out-of-town trips to conventions and conferences?

City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate asked that question Monday night in a letter to Council, asserting that some of the bills presented in the past have been unreasonably high, in his opinion.

"Some of the vouchers ask reimbursement for $4 to $5 for a lunch or dinner and $12 to $15 for a hotel room," the auditor's letter said. "I feel Council should enact legislation setting maximum amounts that will be paid for such items."

Council received and filed the letter without comment.

1,200 Homes Not Tied In

Board Seeks Right To Bill On Sewer's 'Availability'

The Board of Public Utilities asked Council Monday night to impose a sewage service charge on householders who continue to use septic tanks or other methods of waste disposal despite the fact nearby sanitary sewers are "available" to them.

W. O. Schneider, chairman of the board, said the most recent survey of records shows 1,200 homes are not connected to the sewer system. However, the department does not know exactly how many of these householders have a sewer "available"—within a reasonable distance of their homes — and have not taken advantage of it, he said.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper explained the utilities board's proposal, then the members of the board answered Council's questions. But Council took no action.

"This is an issue that will require a lot of study," President Charles N. Edwards told the board. The question was referred to the ordinance committee, as the board's request would require a change in the present legislation, according to the solicitor.

In addition to Schneider, the board was represented by F. J. Cloran and Howard Moore, members of the board, Donald T. Duke, water department superintendent, and Charles Huddlestun, superintendent of the sewage treatment plant.

"The board mentioned to me that a large number of people

One Man In Heights

Inadequate Fire Protection Seen

Asserting that the Pleasant Heights fire station is staffed regularly by only one man, Councilman Edward Massey declared Monday night that Council should authorize an increase in the size of the 31-man fire department or take other steps to assure that all outlying firehouses will have their regular complement of two men.

Massey declared that Pleasant Heights "is discriminated against," as two men regularly are assigned to the other outlying stations on North Side and in East End. On a normal shift, five men are available for duty at Central Station, leaving five to be assigned between the three outlying stations, he said.

AT ONE TIME, two firemen were stationed at Pleasant Heights on one shift, with only one on the other turn, Massey said. But now it's operated full-time with only one man, he added.

"Pleasant Heights is available from downtown by only one route," he said. "If Lisbon St. was tied up by a wreck near the foot of the grade, a truck couldn't get from downtown to Pleasant Heights.

"The fire department has been efficient; our low fire loss shows that," he said. "The work week now is 56 hours, compared to the 72 hours previously," he added. "When the work week was cut to 56 hours, no manpower was added and it became necessary for the chief to cut the manpower in the outlying stations."

Addition of three firemen would allow all three outlying stations to be manned fully, Massey said. He suggested that Council add three firemen or appoint a committee to investigate the problem.

"I WAS A member of Council when the firemen's hours were cut," Councilman George E. Willshaw said. "There were two men at the Pleasant Heights station. We were assured there would be no curtailment of service. What's come up in the meantime I don't know."

Chief Charles Bryan, who was in the audience, said three firemen were laid off after the work week was cut to 56 hours, but later they were restored to duty.

"If we were working before with two men, why aren't we working now with two?" Willshaw asked.

"We don't have enough firemen," the chief responded, giving a detailed explanation of work-scheduling and problems created by vacations, sickness and the men's days off duty.

At the request of Safety-Service Director Robert Owen, President Charles N. Edwards appointed a three-man committee to make another investigation of the old incinerator department plant at the foot of Washington St. to decide if it is beyond economical repair and to make recommendations for erection of a new garage and storage building for city equipment and supplies.

Owen pointed out that a committee from the 1960-61 Council decided the old building was not worth repair, but he said he would like an opinion from the present Council.

He pointed out that money has been available for over two years for construction of a new garage building. A city - owned site on E. 2nd St. near Washington St. has been mentioned as the best site, he added. However, Owen said he would like to have the committee's recommendations on a site, also.

"I understand a contract already has been let, but it hasn't been honored," Massey said. Owen nodded in the affirmative.

Massey referred to a contract for a garage building let in the last few days of the administration of Mayor Fred Lawrence in 1959. It went to James Boyd of Calcutta, operator of the Boyd Lumber Co., but the building never has been erected.

MURRAY referred to a previous conversation with Owen about the possibility of obtaining the former Duquesne Distributors building on outer Dresden Ave. as a city garage. Owen said a check showed half the building sits on the right-of-way for the California Hollow-West End Freeway, so it could not be used.

Owen asked Council to schedule a caucus next Monday night in order to confer with him and Mayor Bert H. Goodballet. Polled by the president, Council agreed to the session and set it to begin at 7. Queried later, Owen said he was not ready to disclose the purpose for which the meeting was sought.

Owen suggested that Council take steps to proceed with installation of three new street lights in the W. 8th St.-Lisbon St. area, answering complaints from Sunnyside residents. The citizens complained of lack of lighting on a ramp running from Lisbon St. to W. 9th St. and the areas underneath overpasses that span W. 8th and Lisbon Sts.

AS AUTHORITY must be obtained from the Ohio Power Co. and the State Highway Department, three to four weeks will elapse between authorization and installation of the lights, Owen said.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper requested a meeting with the ordinance committee "to clear up some faults in city vacation ordinances."

"Some questions have come up, but a clear answer cannot be found in the ordinances," Cooper said. He said he believes the ordinances should be clarified. Cooper said he will work out a meeting date with Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr., chairman of the ordinance committee.

Council gave unanimous approval to two routine pieces of legislation.

One designates the First National Bank and the Potters Bank and Trust Co. as official depositories of city funds for a two-year period beginning March 1. The ordinance is presented routinely in each new biennium.

THE OTHER GIVES the city's consent to the State Highway Department to perform some work inside the city limits in connection with the next phase of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway. The legislation was requested by the State Highway Department, which said the work on the highway phase will extend about 18 inches inside the corporate limits.

Council agreed to a caucus at 7 p. m. at its next regular meeting Feb. 19 to discuss crossing protection with the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.

Pennsy executives met with the former Council several months ago, presenting a proposition for installation of automatic gates and blinker lights at the Walnut St. crossing. They asked the city to share the cost, estimating the city's expense at about $17,000.

The conference was arranged after Cooper said the Pennsy officials asked a date on which to explain their proposition to the new Council.

COUNCILMAN Kenneth Berg, reporting for the street committee, said it recommends a 24-hour ban on parking in Grove Alley between E. 5th and E. 6th Sts. The committee recommends a parking ban in the same alley between E. 6th St. and Bradshaw Ave. between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m., except on holidays and Sundays, he said.

Berg said the committee also recommends a ban on parking on the south side of Edgewood Ave., except the deadend section. The committee made investigations in the two areas at the request of Owen. The report was referred to the ordinance committee for presentation of legislation.

Massey, reporting for the claims committee, reported approval of a $31.50 bill from Guy Danser of Wellsville R. D. 1, who said his auto was damaged when he backed into an open manhole. Massey reported disapproval of a claim from S. A. Thomas of Globe St., who said his car slid into a sewer.

The committee was given a $61 bill from Mrs. Mary Hughey, 1839 Ohio Ave., for injuries to her right foot and ankle in a fall in a chuckhole on Myrtle St. in March 1961.

The meeting opened with invocation by Maj. William Hathorn of the Salvation Army.

Many Of GOP See Romney As Another Willkie

WASHINGTON (AP) — Automaker George W. Romney's weekend visit to Washington left many Republicans with the impression their party may have another Wendell Willkie—but with a change in design.

Most party members commenting on Romney's appearance on the big-time political circuit figured he will have to get himself elected governor of Michigan before he can show his wares in the 1964 presidential nomination bidding.

There didn't seem to be much doubt that Romney, president of American Motors, would depart from the Willkie pattern to seek the governorship this year.

Willkie never stood for public office before he won the 1940 GOP presidential nomination. He was registered as a Democrat as late as 1937.

Such party pros as Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, once the national Republican chairman, did not discount Romney's chances two years from now if he can muster the support of a substantial majority of Michigan voters this year.

"I think we may well see the Wendell Willkie thing all over again if Romney can get by the barrier of getting himself elected governor of Michigan," Scott said.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York said he thought Romney "made a good impression" on Republicans in Congress.

Man Pleads Guilty To Burglary Charge

KITTANNING, Pa. (AP) — Philip Mainer of Youngstown pleaded guilty Monday to conspiring to burglarize a Sharon, Pa., clothing store in September, 1960. He also pleaded no defense to charges of being an accessory before the fact and attempting to bribe an officer.

An earlier trial in Mercer County (Pa.) was ruled a mistrial, and a change of venue was granted for the new trial in Armstrong County on the basis that an unbiased jury could not be selected there.

Cincinnati Electric Seeking Injunction

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. is seeking an injunction to compel Sidney Liskow, greater Cincinnati, to remove a dam at a fishing lake in Clermont County.

The utility firm filed suit Monday in common pleas court, contending the dam, built next to a utility pole, is a hazard to fishermen who could cast their lines over high tension wires supported by the pole.

DiSalle Files Petitions For Governor Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Petitions for renomination were filed by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Monday. DiSalle's only major Democratic rival, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, was to file his petitions today.

The governor's petitions listed 4,976 signatures from all 88 counties. The limit on signatures which may be filed in such a race is 5,000 representing a minimum of 30 counties. However, a candidate for governor must present at least 1,000 valid signatures.

On the Republican side, Auditor James A. Rhodes, gubernatorial hopeful, was faced with competition as William L. White of Mount Vernon filed for the May primary.

The deadline for filing nominating petitions is 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Monday's activities saw two new entries for nomination in the race for congressman - at - large. Republican state Sen. Lowell Fess of Yellow Springs filed as the sole opponent, so far, of Robert Taft Jr. of Cincinnati. Richard C. Bing of North Canton presented petitions for the Democratic nod.

Former state Treasurer Roger W. Tracy of Columbus filed his petitions for the Republican race for auditor, as did Richard M. Brown, 41, Cuyahoga Falls attorney.

State Sen. Ross Pepple of Lima filed 2,400 signatures for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator, seeking to oppose Democratic Sen. Frank J. Lausche. Republican John Marshall Briley of Toledo filed for the same race.

Three Republicans filed for lieutenant governor, state Sen. Charles W. Whalen Jr. of Dayton, William R. Van Aken of Shaker Heights and William T. Weisenborn of Marion.

Petitions for the Republican nomination for U.S. representative for the 11th Congressional District were filed by former Congressman Oliver P. Bolton, who presented the maximum number of signatures from the five counties in the district.

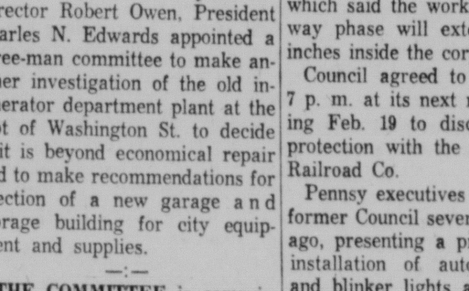

More than eight million Americans now work in offices in the "white collar" jobs—or about 15 for every 100 people employed.

Board Hires In South Side Faculty Post

A teacher and three cafeteria employes were hired at a meeting of the Southern Beaver County Joint Board of Education Monday evening at South Side High School near Hookstown.

Victor Thomas, supervising principal, reported that Pressley Steele of Laurel Gardens, Pa., a graduate of Slippery Rock State Teachers' College, was employed to teach science. He replaces Melvin Cook, who left after returning from a leave of absence for military duty.

Miss Charlotte Young of Freeport, Pa., hired at a previous meeting, has accepted the position of girls' health and physical education teacher and cheerleader coach. She is a graduate of Slippery Rock.

David Wern of Pughtown, elementary teacher, was authorized to take a leave of absence without pay to finish his practice teaching at West Liberty Teachers College. Robert Wern of Pughtown, his brother, will replace him while he is away.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Phyllis Swearingen who worked in the cafeteria. She has accepted a position at the juvenile camp at Raccoon Creek State Park. Mrs. Mary Miller of Hookstown R. D. 1 was hired to replace her.

Mrs. Catherine Andrews of Georgetown and Mrs. Lillah Beal of Georgetown R. D. 1 were hired as part-time cafeteria employes.

The board approved purchase of two force-type heaters for the high school. One will be installed in the principal's office and the other in the general office.

Approval was given for the purchase of 30 table-type booths for the language laboratory from C. M. Eichenlaub of Pittsburgh for $2,195, and for a Kodak projector from the J. E. Foss Co. of Pittsburgh.

Several field trips were approved. Latin students will attend the Latin Festival March 2 at the Buhl Planetarium at Pittsburgh. Stewart Kennedy, foreign language teacher, will be in charge.

George Moreth will take his science class to the Carnegie Museum at Pittsburgh this month on a date to be set.

David Fluke, guidance director, was authorized to take interested seniors to Point Park Junior College and the Robert Morris Junior Business College. About 20 seniors will take another trip to the University of Pittsburgh, Duquesne University and Carnegie Tech. The last group will go by bus.

The board also heard a report on buildings and grounds, including plans for the new 10-classroom and other additions. Plans and specifications still are being prepared for the $586,720 project.

School Addition To Be Used Soon

EAST PALESTINE — The new addition at the Senior High School is to be put to use around March 1, the Board of Education was told at a meeting Monday night.

The board inspected the new structure in which floors are being installed with lockers to be placed shortly.

The addition is part of $650,000 school improvement project approved by voters in 1960. The new grade school is not expected to be completed for use until next autumn.

The board granted use of the high school gym for mass polio vaccine clinics March 21 and March 24. The use of the facility for the Sabin oral vaccine program was requested by Dr. Nicholas Soldo of East Palestine. The clinics are to be sponsored throughout the county by the county medical society.

2 Money Bags Stolen By Tavern Customer

Two money bags containing an undisclosed sum estimated at "several hundred dollars" were stolen off a counter by a customer in Gene's Bar, 115 E. 6th St., at 6:37 this morning, police were told.

A waitress told police the unidentified customer was standing at the bar near the money bags when she walked to the other end of the bar to get a cup of coffee. When she returned, the customer and the money had vanished, she related.

Only one other customer was in the tavern at the time and he was standing at a spot far away from the cash, police were told. Capt. Robert H. Pyle said the probe is continuing. Lt. W. E. McDaniel and Patrolman Paul E. Carter made the initial investigation.

Claimed In Fire

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Fire claimed the life of Mrs. Alice Herrington, 48, of Youngstown Monday. Firemen said she apparently fell asleep in a living room chair in her home, and a fire in the closed room broke out.

St. Clair

line along State Routes, a 10-inch line to a storage tank then an 8-inch line to a second storage tank near Glenmoor.

A sysem of small lines would be arranged so that no home would be more than 500 feet from a fire hydrant.

Plans call for customers to pay a tap-on charge of $100 if they apply prior to installation of lines. Any customer desiring water after the contract for the construction has been let would be charged a tap fee of $300.

Tentative charges for water are estimated at $5.75 to $6 a month for a 3,000-gallon minimum. Each customer would sign a contract agreeing to take water for a five-year period unless he moves from the district.

J. C. Henry and Bruno Romanowski of the Todd firm explained details of the proposal, pointing out the association would have to ask county commissioners to survey the district and establish it as a water district.

A trusteeship would be set, and legal and engineering programs approved. It would be possible to finance planning by obtaining an interest-free loan from the federal government.

The association became interested in the water situation because of recent water shortages in some area wells and in preparation for future plans for the township.

The Todd report indicated that the township's 1960 population of 5,737 is expected to increase to 8,500 by 1980.

It was pointed out last night that such a water system would insure an adequate supply not dependent upon changing water levels, and would also mean lower insurance rates as a result of improved fire protection.

The Todd representatives said that construction of new homes had increased water consumption so that more water is being pumped out of the ground faster than it accumulates and some residents have been foced to have water hauled at prices such as $11 for 1,000 gallons.

Costs of the project would include $1,020,000 for construction, $65,000 for engineering, $5,000 for legal service, $2,500 for project contingencies, $5,000 for initial operations, $60,000 for interest during construction, and $60,000 for bond discount. It was estimated tap-on charges would bring in $110,000 (1,100 customers at $100 each), thus trimming the total of $1,217,900 to $1,107,900.

Estimated annual income was set at $90,300, and expenditures at around $85,000 to $90,000, including $64,749 for bond retirement.

The Todd representatives suggested the first steps be toward establishing a water district and creating a water authority.

Emil Dominick, chairman of the water committee, was requested to obtain Atty. Charles Knapp of Bellaire, advisor on similar projects, to speak at a later meeting.

Stewart Snyder, president, was in charge. Next meeting will be March 5.

school principal, $9,200; East Junior High principal, $7,400; Westgate principal, $8,500; Westgate assistant principals, $7,300 and $7,000.

The new salaries for other employes include clerk of the Board of Education, $5,100; superintendent of buildings and grounds, $4,450; bus drivers, $3,836, and school nurse, $4,050.

Under the wage boosts, custodians and firemen will draw these salaries based on whether they are employed for 10½ or 12 months:

Four-room buildings, $303.59 per month for 10½ months or $295.34 per month for 12 months; 8-room buildings, $331.81 or $319.44; 10-room building, $344.06 or $330.16; 12-room building, $360.81 or $344.92, and Memorial Auditorium assistant custodian, $355.81 or $339.76. Assistant custodians at the high school, East Junior and Westgate are on the same schedule as custodians of eight-room buildings.

High school fireman, $377.81 or $359.48, and Westgate fireman (11½ months), $427.49.

Patterson Field, $345.58; Central, $375.90, and head custodians, $356.91. All are for 12 months.

Custodians of 4-, 8-, 10- and 12-room buildings, assistant custodians and firemen may elect to take salaries on a 10½- or 12-month basis. The 10½-month basis includes the regular 10 months' work plus vacation on the salary rate rather than the summer hourly rate. Custodians and firemen are entitled to two weeks' vacation after working one year.

The monthly salaries for the secretaries will be $225 per month during the first six months; $238 monthly for the second six months; $253 during the second year; $275.33, third year; $285.33, fourth year; $295.33, fifth year; $305.33, sixth year, and $310.33 after seven years.

The new schedule does not provide for any increase over the present rate during the first year of employment and provides a cut of $4 a month from the present wage in the second year. However, none of the secretaries will be affected at present.

Betts explained no increases were set up for the first year and a cut made in the monthly rate for the second year of employment to provide a greater differential for the more experienced secretaries.

Under the former schedule, for example, a secretary in the second year of employment earns $257 monthly while one with three years' experience earns $267, a difference of $10. The new differential will be $22.33 monthly.

Because they are employed only when school is in session, cafeteria personnal at Westgate were granted $75 increases. The boosts fix the salary of the cafeteria manager at $2,250 and the assistant manager at $2,070.

Cafeteria workers, who are paid by the day, were raised from $9 to $9.40.

Crash Hurts Toronto Man

A 60-year-old Toronto man was injured in a two-car collision near West Point Monday, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon, which reported another mishap near Columbiana.

Mike Turick of Toronto was treated for a whiplash injury of the neck suffered when a car in which he was a passenger was struck from behind on Route 45 about two miles south of West Point.

Officers said Turick was in a car operated by Shedrick Channels, 71, of Toronto who was headed north and had been stopped by a flagman because of a disabled vehicle ahead.

Herman Jackson, 33, of Toronto was unable to stop in time, and hit the rear of Channels auto. He was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

A car driven by Robert Lower, 36, of Columbiana snapped off a guywire of a power pole on Route 14 when he swerved to avoid a crash with another auto.

Officers said a car operated by Fergus O'Connor, 63, of Uniontown was headed west on Route 14 when he failed to stop at a red traffic signal at the intersection with Route 46. Lower, headed south on Route 46, veered away from O'Connor's car to avoid a collision and his car hit the wire. The pole and power wires were not damaged, officers said.

Students To Sponsor Donkey Basketball

A donkey basketball game program March 6 at Chester High School was discussed at a meeting of the Student Council Monday.

The faculty will play Lions Club members in one game, and the Student Council will play the Key Club in another. Proceeds will be used for Student Council projects.

Plans were made to purchase wall clocks for school rooms presently without them and to repair other clocks. A singing valentine exchange was set Feb. 14.

Albert Lyons, president, was in charge.

St. Clair Road Plans Aired With Trustees

Blacktop programs for various roads in St. Clair Township were discussed by township trustees and residents at a meeting Monday night.

The programs were aired for the final year in Calcutta Acres, the start in McCaughtry Subdivision, the third year on Mud Lane and the second year on Coie St. in Glenmoor.

Firemen Greet New Member

Paul Miller, a quencher in the agricultural department of Crucible Steel Co. in Midland, was introduced as a new member when Calcutta volunteer firemen met Monday night in the station.

Chief Laverne Seckman announced he is making arrangements for a demonstration of a new Ward - LaFrance fire truck at the station on a Sunday later this month.

Firemen have been collecting funds for purchase of a new truck.

Firemen were reminded that nominations will be made March 19 for election of officers March 26.

Trustees were reminded they are to audit the department's books Feb. 13.

A Boy Scout troop will use the hall Feb. 22. Dale Horger, vice president, presided. It was reported that Norman Neal, president, is to undergo whirlpool therapy treatments at a Pittsburgh hospital. He was seriously injured in a fall last year.

Palestine Electric Line To Be Energized

EAST PALESTINE — The new 2-mile-long "high line" from the municipal power plant to a substation in the industrial area of the city was to be energized today, George McGuckin, safety - service director, told Council at a meeting Monday night.

Power is to be transmitted through the new lines, a $40,000 project which is part of an overall $835,000 improvement program for the power plant and system.

Council asked McGuckin to obtain a comparison between all contract prices on the projects in the improvement and engineering estimates.

Rogers Council Airs Fire Protection Plans

Mrs. Maine Hall, clerk, presented the 1961 financial report. The New Waterford Bank was named depository of village funds for two years.

Fairfield Plant Fire Causes No Damages

EAST FAIRFIELD — No damage was reported by the Columbiana fire department when it was called Monday at 2:15 p. m. to the 20th Century Chemist Co. plant, off Route 7.

A short circuit in the asphalt tank resulted in the call to Columbiana firemen.

The department called the Lisbon fire department to send the Civil Defense tanker and it made the run but was not needed.

Near-Zero Weather Due In Area Tonight

Taking command of the weather scene again, winter was returning to the East Liverpool area with a vengeance after a brief flirtation with spring.

Temperatures soared near 60 Sunday, began dipping sharply Monday and will range to near zero tonight in a new cold wave.

The forecast is for zero to 5 above tonight and continued cold Wednesday with snow flurries. Squalls left a skim of snow on the ground last night.

A city ashing crew was called out at 10 last night and worked until 2 a. m., Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin reported. Driving conditions were worst in East End, where some ice still remained this morning at the approaches to traffic lights, Laughlin said.

There were more snow squalls this morning, heavy at times, and streets began to whiten again.

Flu Hits Tokyo Again

TOKYO (AP) — Asian flu has hit Tokyo again, and some 250 schools have been closed.

Group To Plan County Meeting Of Educators

LISBON — Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, former county school board president, is chairman of a steering committee which will meet Wednesday night in the county school board's office to set up the annual all-county Board of Education meeting.

The group will discuss the type of meeting to be held, deciding if it will feature a speaker or panel discussions. The location and time also will be picked.

Services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 at the Kerr Funeral Home by Gerald Finnie, minister. Burial will be in Woodland Cemetery.

Friends may call tonight and Wednesday afternoon and evening at the funeral home.

Increase

school principal, $9,200; East Junior High principal, $7,400; Westgate principal, $8,500; Westgate assistant principals, $7,300 and $7,000.

The new salaries for other employes include clerk of the Board of Education, $5,100; superintendent of buildings and grounds, $4,450; bus drivers, $3,836, and school nurse, $4,050.

Under the wage boosts, custodians and firemen will draw these salaries based on whether they are employed for 10½ or 12 months:

Four-room buildings, $303.59 per month for 10½ months or $295.34 per month for 12 months; 8-room buildings, $331.81 or $319.44; 10-room building, $344.06 or $330.16; 12-room building, $360.81 or $344.92, and Memorial Auditorium assistant custodian, $355.81 or $339.76. Assistant custodians at the high school, East Junior and Westgate are on the same schedule as custodians of eight-room buildings.

High school fireman, $377.81 or $359.48, and Westgate fireman (11½ months), $427.49.

Patterson Field, $345.58; Central, $375.90, and head custodians, $356.91. All are for 12 months.

Custodians of 4-, 8-, 10- and 12-room buildings, assistant custodians and firemen may elect to take salaries on a 10½- or 12-month basis. The 10½-month basis includes the regular 10 months' work plus vacation on the salary rate rather than the summer hourly rate. Custodians and firemen are entitled to two weeks' vacation after working one year.

The monthly salaries for the secretaries will be $225 per month during the first six months; $238 monthly for the second six months; $253 during the second year; $275.33, third year; $285.33, fourth year; $295.33, fifth year; $305.33, sixth year, and $310.33 after seven years.

The new schedule does not provide for any increase over the present rate during the first year of employment and provides a cut of $4 a month from the present wage in the second year. However, none of the secretaries will be affected at present.

Betts explained no increases were set up for the first year and a cut made in the monthly rate for the second year of employment to provide a greater differential for the more experienced secretaries.

Under the former schedule, for example, a secretary in the second year of employment earns $257 monthly while one with three years' experience earns $267, a difference of $10. The new differential will be $22.33 monthly.

Because they are employed only when school is in session, cafeteria personnal at Westgate were granted $75 increases. The boosts fix the salary of the cafeteria manager at $2,250 and the assistant manager at $2,070.

Cafeteria workers, who are paid by the day, were raised from $9 to $9.40.

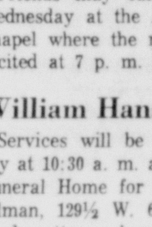

'Miss Naval Reserve' Entries Reduced To 6

STEUBENVILLE — The Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center received 15 applicants by Sunday's deadline in the contest for selection of "Miss Naval Reserve" of 1962.

The list includes Miss Dorothy Swickard, 21, of Richmond in Jefferson County. Other entries were from Follansbee, Weirton, Steubenville and Washington, Pa.

The field was narrowed to six semi-finalists in photograph judging. The winner will be chosen at a dinner - dance culminating "Naval Reserve Week" Saturday night in the VFW home in Weirton.

Crash Hurts Toronto Man

A 60-year-old Toronto man was injured in a two-car collision near West Point Monday, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon, which reported another mishap near Columbiana.

Mike Turick of Toronto was treated for a whiplash injury of the neck suffered when a car in which he was a passenger was struck from behind on Route 45 about two miles south of West Point.

Officers said Turick was in a car operated by Shedrick Channels, 71, of Toronto who was headed north and had been stopped by a flagman because of a disabled vehicle ahead.

Herman Jackson, 33, of Toronto was unable to stop in time, and hit the rear of Channels auto. He was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

A car driven by Robert Lower, 36, of Columbiana snapped off a guywire of a power pole on Route 14 when he swerved to avoid a crash with another auto.

Officers said a car operated by Fergus O'Connor, 63, of Uniontown was headed west on Route 14 when he failed to stop at a red traffic signal at the intersection with Route 46. Lower, headed south on Route 46, veered away from O'Connor's car to avoid a collision and his car hit the wire. The pole and power wires were not damaged, officers said.

Students To Sponsor Donkey Basketball

A donkey basketball game program March 6 at Chester High School was discussed at a meeting of the Student Council Monday.

The faculty will play Lions Club members in one game, and the Student Council will play the Key Club in another. Proceeds will be used for Student Council projects.

Plans were made to purchase wall clocks for school rooms presently without them and to repair other clocks. A singing valentine exchange was set Feb. 14.

Albert Lyons, president, was in charge.

St. Clair Road Plans Aired With Trustees

Blacktop programs for various roads in St. Clair Township were discussed by township trustees and residents at a meeting Monday night.

The programs were aired for the final year in Calcutta Acres, the start in McCaughtry Subdivision, the third year on Mud Lane and the second year on Coie St. in Glenmoor.

Firemen Greet New Member

Paul Miller, a quencher in the agricultural department of Crucible Steel Co. in Midland, was introduced as a new member when Calcutta volunteer firemen met Monday night in the station.

Chief Laverne Seckman announced he is making arrangements for a demonstration of a new Ward - LaFrance fire truck at the station on a Sunday later this month.

Firemen have been collecting funds for purchase of a new truck.

Firemen were reminded that nominations will be made March 19 for election of officers March 26.

Trustees were reminded they are to audit the department's books Feb. 13.

A Boy Scout troop will use the hall Feb. 22. Dale Horger, vice president, presided. It was reported that Norman Neal, president, is to undergo whirlpool therapy treatments at a Pittsburgh hospital. He was seriously injured in a fall last year.

Palestine Electric Line To Be Energized

EAST PALESTINE — The new 2-mile-long "high line" from the municipal power plant to a substation in the industrial area of the city was to be energized today, George McGuckin, safety - service director, told Council at a meeting Monday night.

Power is to be transmitted through the new lines, a $40,000 project which is part of an overall $835,000 improvement program for the power plant and system.

Council asked McGuckin to obtain a comparison between all contract prices on the projects in the improvement and engineering estimates.

Rogers Council Airs Fire Protection Plans

Mrs. Maine Hall, clerk, presented the 1961 financial report. The New Waterford Bank was named depository of village funds for two years.

Fairfield Plant Fire Causes No Damages

EAST FAIRFIELD — No damage was reported by the Columbiana fire department when it was called Monday at 2:15 p. m. to the 20th Century Chemist Co. plant, off Route 7.

A short circuit in the asphalt tank resulted in the call to Columbiana firemen.

The department called the Lisbon fire department to send the Civil Defense tanker and it made the run but was not needed.

Near-Zero Weather Due In Area Tonight

Taking command of the weather scene again, winter was returning to the East Liverpool area with a vengeance after a brief flirtation with spring.

Temperatures soared near 60 Sunday, began dipping sharply Monday and will range to near zero tonight in a new cold wave.

The forecast is for zero to 5 above tonight and continued cold Wednesday with snow flurries. Squalls left a skim of snow on the ground last night.

A city ashing crew was called out at 10 last night and worked until 2 a. m., Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin reported. Driving conditions were worst in East End, where some ice still remained this morning at the approaches to traffic lights, Laughlin said.

There were more snow squalls this morning, heavy at times, and streets began to whiten again.

Flu Hits Tokyo Again

TOKYO (AP) — Asian flu has hit Tokyo again, and some 250 schools have been closed.

Group To Plan County Meeting Of Educators

LISBON — Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, former county school board president, is chairman of a steering committee which will meet Wednesday night in the county school board's office to set up the annual all-county Board of Education meeting.

The group will discuss the type of meeting to be held, deciding if it will feature a speaker or panel discussions. The location and time also will be picked.

When You Can't See Straight

A well-meaning Associated Press reporter quotes an official of the United States Internal Revenue Service in New York City as saying we taxpayers should do something about mistakes in simple arithmetic on our income tax returns.

The IRS man suggests rechecking the figures the next day, when our brains have rested.

There's something the IRS man needs to know; to wit, when we get to the last line of the annual income tax ordeal we're in no mood to recheck anything the next day, unless the amount we still owe is so staggering we can't reconcile ourselves to it.

This is not, dear IRS man, just a problem in arithmetic. This is a traumatic episode that makes our innards churn because it affronts our dignity as U.S. citizens—not because we object to paying taxes but because we object to paying taxes under a system with so many inequities in it that we get red-necked thinking about them.

It's because we object to paying taxes under a system that rewards slickies who hire other slickies to find loopholes and slither through them.

It's because we object to paying taxes under a system that lets the big tax evader and avoider get away with murder but puts the pressure on every little operator trying to put aside enough wherewithal to meet the mortgage payment.

It's because we object to paying taxes under a system that lets the fellow next door subtract from his taxable income so-called expenses of doing business that we cannot subtract because what constitutes our "business" is not recognized as business by a group of confused congressmen in charge of tax laws and a passel of mixed-up federal employes interpreting the laws.

Against a background like this it's no wonder taxpayers make bloopers in arithmetic. They're so mad they can't see straight. They're still mad the next day—maybe madder.

Every administration since the year Grandmother fell out of the big oak tree, where she was trying to retrieve her kite, has talked about taking the inequities out of the income tax law and here we are starting off again on the same dreary process of having our tail-feathers pulled out with no justice and no anesthetic.

Out In The Open

Charges and counter-charges continue to fly over operation of the County Home at Lisbon. And, quite naturally, cries of "politics" again are heard.

While the exchange may stir doubts in the minds of many as to just what is what, it unquestionably serves to create a new interest in the operation of the county government.

Voters who previously didn't know—and didn't care in many cases—whether it took 4 or 40 to operate the home now must be asking just what constitutes an adequate staff, along with many other questions.

With this increased interest on the part of the individual goes an increased responsibility on the part of those entrusted with supervising the home's operation.

The county commissioners and the Board of Visitors should get together in a hurry and thrash out the various issues with the best possible operation of the home the ultimate objective.

If politics is involved in the present situation, it should be swept under the rug so that considered judgment can take over.

Taking Science's Word For It

It was a relief when the evil things foretold by Asiatic astrologers didn't happen last weekend.

The evil things foretold by our own astrologers usually don't happen either. A compassionate citizen feels sorry for his fellow men who believe this guff.

It isn't right for human beings to die more than once. Once is enough. Fakirs who mislead them into expecting death before their time should be exposed. At the very least they should be ridiculed.

The prediction of dire disaster last weekend didn't cause too much dislocation in this part of the world, where astrology is not in high repute and not to be mentioned in the same breath with astronomy and other sciences. But even here it may have discouraged some people from buying potato chips, pretzels and beer in large quantities, the same as meteorological reports on bad weather over summer weekends have been known to do.

Chambers of commerce in Florida, looking on the bright side where their bread is buttered, always are sensitive to weather forecasts, particularly those that mention hurricanes and temperatures below freezing. They say it's time enough to die if such things happen; they don't want guesswork.

Wall Street can be thrown into a tizzy by things a lot sillier than astrological hocuspocus. Wall Streeters are like baby turkeys, which fly into a panic and smother one another for no reason at all.

Is it because the planets line up in a row and eclipses occur? Or is it something less conclusive like the baby turkeys' tendency to smother one another?

All of us who know better felt sorry for people led down the astrological path last weekend. You'd think that sort of thing went out with the 20th century — or would you?

In any case, you'd think astrologers would get rid of the turbans and spooky outfits and wear white coats and horn-rimmed glasses. If they'd learn to be more like our own nuclear physicists, or at least more like our economic scientists, they could have people jumping off rooftops in every city on earth. When those science fellows tell us the sky is falling, they lay it on the line and we believe 'em every time.

Getting Their Bets Down Early

Steel Magazine says buyers will continue to stockpile steel until a new labor contract is signed.

A new contract, reports Victor Riesel, will be ready for signing by March 1, though the existing contracts run until June 30.

But the psychology of stockpilers is the thing no one seems to want to mention about all the in-fighting that has been going on between the steel industry and the Kennedy administration, between the managers of the industry and its labor leaders and sometimes between the labor leaders and the Kennedy administration.

The steel stockpilers are getting their bets down early on a price rise by doing what prudent buyers always do — buying at the old price. Has everybody forgotten what happened before when steel prices moved up a notch?

Immediately, the price of everything made of steel moved up three or four notches. All steel that had been stockpiled or was in the process of manufacture became more valuable to the people who owned it. They took a quick and painless profit on everything from potato mashers to trucks by writing up the value of their inventories.

Of all the things being hopefully wished for in regard to the steel industry this year, no one is mentioning lower prices. That would be as unthinkable as a cut in wage rates and fringe benefits in 1962.

Steelworkers will be out to get more than they've been getting, just as they have been ever since they won bargaining power in the steel industry.

Steel manufacturers, it follows, will be out to get more than they've been getting, too. No one is predicting they will take another round of wage and cost inflation without a boost in prices.

Stockpilers have no choice under these circumstances. They must stockpile. Whatever happens, they can use all the steel they can afford to lay in at current prices. Of one thing they can be dead sure: The price of steel isn't coming down.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Ford Foundation group warns country that automation may put human beings on shelf. It is going ahead so fast it can in time make idleness a compulsory hobby, producing a civilization dependent on pushbuttons, electrical contacts and clicking sounds.

Man's ambition can be stifled by machinery, his sense of purpose eradicated by mechanical devices and his hope of work (even on two-hour day in a feather-bed factory) wiped out by robots in a choice of sizes, designs and colors.

Even if there is nothing left for men to do but go fishing he may find fish are being located by electric brain, with computers giving size of big ones and fish industry getting "catch" by automated nets.

Hammock will offer no escape from general situation because hammock salesmen will be unemployed like everybody else. (Rocking chairs. They'll be pushbutton type. Who needs em?)

Automation possibilities are scaring women stiff. Wives face prospect of having husbands loafing around the house all the time, disgruntled through knowing that even complaints to the government will be answered by automation. Help-wanted ads may disappear, to be replaced by classified ads inserted by psychiatrists, neurologists and makers of paper doll-clipping devices. For example:

WANTED, MALE: Former workingmen to take advantage of our sensational new model knives for stick whittling. Makes whittling easy. Write now. One-Way Out Mfg. Corp.

OPPORTUNITY: For man in dilemma over loss of work through automation. Consult Dr. Philo Beeswax, hypnotist. He can make you think, in ten lessons, that you are fully employed.

ATTENTION MEN: Let the spell of music solve your unemployment problem. Fifty cheering hi-fi records including "Rainbow In The Sky," "On the Sunny Side of Street" and other songs of pre-technological era. Sing along with nostalgia. Ten years to pay.

We hope Ford people are wrong. Even columnists can be thrown out of work.

Just A Little Reminder

Dewey's Name Comes Up Again

By Victor Riesel

It may or may not come as a surprise to Thomas E. Dewey but those distant drumbeats are the beginning of a boom to draft him for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964.

Victor Riesel

Some GOP senators — shrewd and veteran strategists — have been "kicking it around" in cloakroom skull sessions. The ex-governor's most ardent champion and unleasher of the trial balloon among the senators is South Dakota's laconic Sen. Karl E. Mundt. He has found some of his colleagues receptive. This they corroborated in off - the - record conversations with me.

These politicos are as realistic as a pari-mutuel machine. They know Mr. Dewey. They are aware he wants least of all to match William Jennings Bryan's record of losing a presidential race three times. They know he will brush any public talk and virtually all private discussions.

THEY KNOW, too, he stands highest with the party's "pros." In Sen. Mundt's private talks, the conversation appears, therefore, to have run somewhat like this: For all practical purposes the Republicans must take Dick Nixon at his word that he seeks no national leadership. He wants no national activity. He likes what he's doing — running for governor of California. If he wins, he is telling his own intimates and family, he will try for a second victory in Sacramento. He does not choose to run for president in '64 —period!

There is, very much of course, Nelson Rockefeller. The midwest Republicans never were for him. And he has many problems. The Mundt group does not believe he will be a candidate for the presidential nomination, even if he stays in politics that long.

Some believe he may become part of a bi-partisan foreign affairs team in the image of the late Sen. Vandenburg.

Some of those now "talking Dewey" do not see Barry Goldwater nor George Romney as presidential candidates. Vice presidential, perhaps. But the thought is they have been projected far too early to maintain the pace right into '64.

TO SEN. MUNDT, this leaves the 59-year-old former prosecutor and governor, Tom Dewey. The latter never has lost any of his powerful influence in New York State.

Until the end of the Eisenhower administration, Mr. Dewey had enormous national political influence in the party machinery. It was Dewey who ran the GOP juggernaut against Sen. Taft for Gen. Eisenhower's political amateurs in 1952. It was Dewey who selected Dick Nixon for vice president.

It was Tom Dewey who was the only man for whom the Republican National Committee, under Len Hall and Sen. Thruston Morton, put on a national television hookup in the '56 and '60 presidential campaigns. It was Dewey who led the slashing attack on John Kennedy.

As for Dewey's previous defeats, the argument runs, he ran against the unbeatable Franklin Roosevelt during the war and failed to run "scared" against Harry Truman in '48. That was the greatest political boner of the century.

But almost a decade later, the record at the GOP national headquarters reveals that he was the most sought after campaign speaker aside from the national ticket itself. His broadcasts brought more mail, by actual county, than any others.

THERE ARE those who are close to Tom Dewey and say that he has had enough of politics and is enjoying his lucrative law practice. But, say the boom makers, he would have been willing to give it up for the post of secretary of state had Dick Nixon won. So he appears no longer wed to his professional privacy.

Regardless of what the ex-governor says, the talk will continue. The drumbeats will boom louder as the other national possibilities become improbabilities. There will be strong and sincere protests from Mr. Dewey.

If there is a chance — and not necessarily an even chance — to beat the dashing and popular John Kennedy, there are those who will be pressuring Thomas E. Dewey to try it once more — William Jennings Bryan or no.

Time Brings Changes

By David Lawrence

Is 'Bobby's' Trip Necessary?

It's strange what a difference just a few months make. The country was being told, for instance, in January 1961, that Robert F. Kennedy was being appointed attorney general, not just because he was the President's brother but because he was skilled in matters of law and the art of investigation. It was denied that any favoritism for a relative or nepotism was involved.

David Lawrence

Today the 36-year-old attorney general has become a "good will" ambassador for the President of the United States, who just happens to be his brother. There certainly is no need for the attorney general to take a 26-day journey around the world just to get information on how better to run the Department of Justice. He will learn little abroad that will enable him to deal with antitrust suits.

The fact that Robert Kennedy—referred to familiarly as a rule in Washington as "Bobby" — will in a sense represent his brother and will be given the equivalent of a royal welcome everywhere may be a satisfying errand or vacation for him but it will be obvious that it is his relationship to the President and not his status as a mere cabinet officer which warrants attention.

His itinerary includes Tokyo, Hong Kong, Jakarta in Indonesia, Bangkok in Thailand, Rome, Berlin, Bonn, The Hague, Paris and possible London.

Wherever he meets with the top men in foreign governments, he will be looked upon as a spokesman for the President of the United States.

The prime ministers in turn will hope that what they say to him will be transmitted to the White House. It's a strange way to conduct the diplomacy of the United States, which supposedly relies on the secretary of state and the American ambassadors abroad to carry on a system of communication on foreign policy.

If he were not the President's brother, the attorney general's trip wouldn't attract much attention abroad. He made a similar trip to Asia in 1955 accompanying Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court.

His comments then show his acuteness of observation. For he is, indeed, an alert - minded young man about whom Washingtonians are often found quipping nowadays that he hopes to succeed JFK in 1969, and then Ted Kennedy will come along as the third of the "dynasty" in 1977.

THIS IS ADMITTEDLY a long time ahead to speculate but Bobby Kennedy, likeable, ambitious, and a good politician, certainly realizes that just to make his mark as attorney general is not enough and that, if he is to train himself to be a presidential candidate later on, he must learn something about the world and engage in wider fields of publicity than the department of justice offers. In fact, there are enthusiasts who claim Bobby Kennedy would be more decisive than his brother and perhaps an even better administrator — though, of course, this, too, is perhaps a premature bit of speculation.

Bobby Kennedy was reported to have received a few weeks ago an informal bid to visit the Soviet Union. The report was subsequently denied in Moscow. Maybe the Kremlin had second thoughts after going back to the files and rereading the interview published on Oct. 21, 1955, in "U.S. News & World Report," just after Bobby Kennedy returned from a visit to the Soviet Union. He said then:

"I've had enough of it. . . . We are dealing with a government to whom God and the family or the individual means nothing, and whose practice it has been in the past to make promises and treaties to serve their purpose and to break them when it has been to their advantage. It can only be suicidal for us . . . on the basis of smiles to strengthen Russia and weaken ourselves. . . .

"Communism retains its basic evils whether it is is the Khrushchev type or the more oppressive Stalin style."

DECLARING that the Russians do not really permit freedom of travel and will not let visitors see all of their country or "things that are touchy," he mentioned some slave labor camps that the Russians wouldn't allow him to see. He spoke also of their "segregated" system of schools. When he was asked what this meant, he said:

"The explanation the officials gave us is that people like their own schools. . . .

"In every city that we visited in Central Asia the schools were segregated — the Russian school children in one school, the local children in another."

"Is there a difference in color," he was asked, "between the Russians and the natives?"

"Oh, yes," he replied. "They are completely different."

So maybe if Bobby Kennedy does visit Russia on this or a subsequent trip, he can tell the Russian people about the "freedom rides" in America and what all this can accomplish, though it's conceivable the State Department might advise him that this is a "touchy" subject on both sides.

In On The Ground Floor

By Truman Twill

Here is an idea I have been trying to put out of mind for days:

"Automation gradually will make inroads into service industries, replacing sales people, statisticians and bank tellers. Then, as automation moves into managerial ranks — and this move is already beginning — increasing numbers of 'middle managers' will find themselves supplanted."

I knew it would be this way.

But I know something else that goes beyond this. When automation has taken away the need for "middle managers," it will not stop there. It will take away the need for "top management" — and when that happens I will be in on the ground floor with my "decision maker" (Pat. Pending.)

Regular readers surely will remember my "decision maker," first described here when automation was only a word in business magazines. It has been described here many times since. It is an obsession.

Top management's prime function is to break up the log jams of indecisiveness forever forming at lower management levels where it is worth a middle manager's life to trespass on a top manager's decision-making prerogative.

Someone eventually must say yes or no, go or stop, buy or sell, build or burn, expand or contract. While it is desirable for the people who must do this to be equipped with Solomonic wisdom, the fact is they usually aren't, as the endless lists of bobbles, bankruptcies, darned-fool moves, collapses, crashes and deaths from dry rot prove. All they have is courage.

Decision-making must go on, to keep log jams of indecisiveness from forming. This is where my "decision maker" fits in. I got the idea from brooding over a picture of law enforcers smashing slot machines to protect public morals.

Why not, I asked myself, salvage these machines and use them to automate decision-making, thereby cutting overhead to the vanishing point by getting rid of a kind of manpower whose productivity, never high, had been falling off ever since the advent of golf and other indoor and outdoor sports with special fascination for top management?

By codifying the cherries, lemons, oranges and other slot-machine symbols to mean "yes," "no," "We'll see about it," or "You hit the jackpot, baby," we could keep things buzzing along at the top management level like bees in apple-blossom time.

Office politics, throat-cutting, back-stabbing, piques, pouts and till-dipping would disappear. Statistically, the chances of getting a sound decision by turning a crank would be better than the chance of getting one out of a top manager who might be in the throes of a nervous breakdown, gastric ulcers, wife trouble, income tax trouble, or fear of what might happen to his stock options.

This wouldn't cost anyone a penny, whereas automation setups always cost more than they save, being essentially a high-priced way of doing by machinery what could be done better by a human being if someone took the trouble to get the round pegs in the round holes.

For once, I'm in on the ground floor. All I'll need is a truckload of confiscated slot machines.

When You Can't See Straight

A well-meaning Associated Press reporter quotes an official of the United States Internal Revenue Service in New York City as saying we taxpayers should do something about mistakes in simple arithmetic on our income tax returns.

The IRS man suggests rechecking the figures the next day, when our brains have rested.

There's something the IRS man needs to know; to wit, when we get to the last line of the annual income tax ordeal we're in no mood to recheck anything the next day, unless the amount we still owe is so staggering we can't reconcile ourselves to it.

This is not, dear IRS man, just a problem in arithmetic. This is a traumatic episode that makes our innards churn because it affronts our dignity as U.S. citizens—not because we object to paying taxes but because we object to paying taxes under a system with so many inequities in it that we get red-necked thinking about them.

It's because we object to paying taxes under a system that rewards slickies who hire other slickies to find loopholes and slither through them.

It's because we object to paying taxes under a system that lets the big tax evader and avoider get away with murder but puts the pressure on every little operator trying to put aside enough wherewithal to meet the mortgage payment.

It's because we object to paying taxes under a system that lets the fellow next door subtract from his taxable income so-called expenses of doing business that we cannot subtract because what constitutes our "business" is not recognized as business by a group of confused congressmen in charge of tax laws and a passel of mixed-up federal employes interpreting the laws.

Against a background like this it's no wonder taxpayers make bloopers in arithmetic. They're so mad they can't see straight. They're still mad the next day—maybe madder.

Every administration since the year Grandmother fell out of the big oak tree, where she was trying to retrieve her kite, has talked about taking the inequities out of the income tax law and here we are starting off again on the same dreary process of having our tail-feathers pulled out with no justice and no anesthetic.

Out In The Open

Charges and counter-charges continue to fly over operation of the County Home at Lisbon. And, quite naturally, cries of "politics" again are heard.

While the exchange may stir doubts in the minds of many as to just what is what, it unquestionably serves to create a new interest in the operation of the county government.

Voters who previously didn't know—and didn't care in many cases—whether it took 4 or 40 to operate the home now must be asking just what constitutes an adequate staff, along with many other questions.

With this increased interest on the part of the individual goes an increased responsibility on the part of those entrusted with supervising the home's operation.

The county commissioners and the Board of Visitors should get together in a hurry and thrash out the various issues with the best possible operation of the home the ultimate objective.

If politics is involved in the present situation, it should be swept under the rug so that considered judgment can take over.

Taking Science's Word For It

It was a relief when the evil things foretold by Asiatic astrologers didn't happen last weekend.

The evil things foretold by our own astrologers usually don't happen either. A compassionate citizen feels sorry for his fellow men who believe this guff.

It isn't right for human beings to die more than once. Once is enough. Fakirs who mislead them into expecting death before their time should be exposed. At the very least they should be ridiculed.

The prediction of dire disaster last weekend didn't cause too much dislocation in this part of the world, where astrology is not in high repute and not to be mentioned in the same breath with astronomy and other sciences. But even here it may have discouraged some people from buying potato chips, pretzels and beer in large quantities, the same as meteorological reports on bad weather over summer weekends have been known to do.

Chambers of commerce in Florida, looking on the bright side where their bread is buttered, always are sensitive to weather forecasts, particularly those that mention hurricanes and temperatures below freezing. They say it's time enough to die if such things happen; they don't want guesswork.

Wall Street can be thrown into a tizzy by things a lot sillier than astrological hocuspocus. Wall Streeters are like baby turkeys, which fly into a panic and smother one another for no reason at all.

Is it because the planets line up in a row and eclipses occur? Or is it something less conclusive like the baby turkeys' tendency to smother one another?

All of us who know better felt sorry for people led down the astrological path last weekend. You'd think that sort of thing went out with the 20th century — or would you?

In any case, you'd think astrologers would get rid of the turbans and spooky outfits and wear white coats and horn-rimmed glasses. If they'd learn to be more like our own nuclear physicists, or at least more like our economic scientists, they could have people jumping off rooftops in every city on earth. When those science fellows tell us the sky is falling, they lay it on the line and we believe 'em every time.

Getting Their Bets Down Early

Steel Magazine says buyers will continue to stockpile steel until a new labor contract is signed.

A new contract, reports Victor Riesel, will be ready for signing by March 1, though the existing contracts run until June 30.

But the psychology of stockpilers is the thing no one seems to want to mention about all the in-fighting that has been going on between the steel industry and the Kennedy administration, between the managers of the industry and its labor leaders and sometimes between the labor leaders and the Kennedy administration.

The steel stockpilers are getting their bets down early on a price rise by doing what prudent buyers always do — buying at the old price. Has everybody forgotten what happened before when steel prices moved up a notch?

Immediately, the price of everything made of steel moved up three or four notches. All steel that had been stockpiled or was in the process of manufacture became more valuable to the people who owned it. They took a quick and painless profit on everything from potato mashers to trucks by writing up the value of their inventories.

Of all the things being hopefully wished for in regard to the steel industry this year, no one is mentioning lower prices. That would be as unthinkable as a cut in wage rates and fringe benefits in 1962.

Steelworkers will be out to get more than they've been getting, just as they have been ever since they won bargaining power in the steel industry.

Steel manufacturers, it follows, will be out to get more than they've been getting, too. No one is predicting they will take another round of wage and cost inflation without a boost in prices.

Stockpilers have no choice under these circumstances. They must stockpile. Whatever happens, they can use all the steel they can afford to lay in at current prices. Of one thing they can be dead sure: The price of steel isn't coming down.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Ford Foundation group warns country that automation may put human beings on shelf. It is going ahead so fast it can in time make idleness a compulsory hobby, producing a civilization dependent on pushbuttons, electrical contacts and clicking sounds.

Man's ambition can be stifled by machinery, his sense of purpose eradicated by mechanical devices and his hope of work (even on two-hour day in a feather-bed factory) wiped out by robots in a choice of sizes, designs and colors.

Even if there is nothing left for men to do but go fishing he may find fish are being located by electric brain, with computers giving size of big ones and fish industry getting "catch" by automated nets.

Hammock will offer no escape from general situation because hammock salesmen will be unemployed like everybody else. (Rocking chairs. They'll be pushbutton type. Who needs em?)

Automation possibilities are scaring women stiff. Wives face prospect of having husbands loafing around the house all the time, disgruntled through knowing that even complaints to the government will be answered by automation. Help-wanted ads may disappear, to be replaced by classified ads inserted by psychiatrists, neurologists and makers of paper doll-clipping devices. For example:

WANTED, MALE: Former workingmen to take advantage of our sensational new model knives for stick whittling. Makes whittling easy. Write now. One-Way Out Mfg. Corp.

OPPORTUNITY: For man in dilemma over loss of work through automation. Consult Dr. Philo Beeswax, hypnotist. He can make you think, in ten lessons, that you are fully employed.

ATTENTION MEN: Let the spell of music solve your unemployment problem. Fifty cheering hi-fi records including "Rainbow In The Sky," "On the Sunny Side of Street" and other songs of pre-technological era. Sing along with nostalgia. Ten years to pay.

We hope Ford people are wrong. Even columnists can be thrown out of work.

New Chinatown phone booths have pagoda roofs. Idea is to orient conversations.

Ask about President's statement that some Russians were probably criticizing Adzhubei's visits to United States, the Soviet leader replied, "Nobody questions my trip because in Russia we have freedom." Always kidding around, eh?

Just A Little Reminder

Dewey's Name Comes Up Again

By Victor Riesel

It may or may not come as a surprise to Thomas E. Dewey but those distant drumbeats are the beginning of a boom to draft him for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964.

Victor Riesel

Some GOP senators — shrewd and veteran strategists — have been "kicking it around" in cloakroom skull sessions. The ex-governor's most ardent champion and unleasher of the trial balloon among the senators is South Dakota's laconic Sen. Karl E. Mundt. He has found some of his colleagues receptive. This they corroborated in off - the - record conversations with me.

These politicos are as realistic as a pari-mutuel machine. They know Mr. Dewey. They are aware he wants least of all to match William Jennings Bryan's record of losing a presidential race three times. They know he will brush any public talk and virtually all private discussions.

THEY KNOW, too, he stands highest with the party's "pros." In Sen. Mundt's private talks, the conversation appears, therefore, to have run somewhat like this: For all practical purposes the Republicans must take Dick Nixon at his word that he seeks no national leadership. He wants no national activity. He likes what he's doing — running for governor of California. If he wins, he is telling his own intimates and family, he will try for a second victory in Sacramento. He does not choose to run for president in '64 —period!

There is, very much of course, Nelson Rockefeller. The midwest Republicans never were for him. And he has many problems. The Mundt group does not believe he will be a candidate for the presidential nomination, even if he stays in politics that long.

Some believe he may become part of a bi-partisan foreign affairs team in the image of the late Sen. Vandenburg.

Some of those now "talking Dewey" do not see Barry Goldwater nor George Romney as presidential candidates. Vice presidential, perhaps. But the thought is they have been projected far too early to maintain the pace right into '64.

TO SEN. MUNDT, this leaves the 59-year-old former prosecutor and governor, Tom Dewey. The latter never has lost any of his powerful influence in New York State.

Until the end of the Eisenhower administration, Mr. Dewey had enormous national political influence in the party machinery. It was Dewey who ran the GOP juggernaut against Sen. Taft for Gen. Eisenhower's political amateurs in 1952. It was Dewey who selected Dick Nixon for vice president.

It was Tom Dewey who was the only man for whom the Republican National Committee, under Len Hall and Sen. Thruston Morton, put on a national television hookup in the '56 and '60 presidential campaigns. It was Dewey who led the slashing attack on John Kennedy.

As for Dewey's previous defeats, the argument runs, he ran against the unbeatable Franklin Roosevelt during the war and failed to run "scared" against Harry Truman in '48. That was the greatest political boner of the century.

But almost a decade later, the record at the GOP national headquarters reveals that he was the most sought after campaign speaker aside from the national ticket itself. His broadcasts brought more mail, by actual county, than any others.

THERE ARE those who are close to Tom Dewey and say that he has had enough of politics and is enjoying his lucrative law practice. But, say the boom makers, he would have been willing to give it up for the post of secretary of state had Dick Nixon won. So he appears no longer wed to his professional privacy.

Regardless of what the ex-governor says, the talk will continue. The drumbeats will boom louder as the other national possibilities become improbabilities. There will be strong and sincere protests from Mr. Dewey.

If there is a chance — and not necessarily an even chance — to beat the dashing and popular John Kennedy, there are those who will be pressuring Thomas E. Dewey to try it once more — William Jennings Bryan or no.

Time Brings Changes

By David Lawrence

Is 'Bobby's' Trip Necessary?

It's strange what a difference just a few months make. The country was being told, for instance, in January 1961, that Robert F. Kennedy was being appointed attorney general, not just because he was the President's brother but because he was skilled in matters of law and the art of investigation. It was denied that any favoritism for a relative or nepotism was involved.

David Lawrence

Today the 36-year-old attorney general has become a "good will" ambassador for the President of the United States, who just happens to be his brother. There certainly is no need for the attorney general to take a 26-day journey around the world just to get information on how better to run the Department of Justice. He will learn little abroad that will enable him to deal with antitrust suits.

The fact that Robert Kennedy—referred to familiarly as a rule in Washington as "Bobby" — will in a sense represent his brother and will be given the equivalent of a royal welcome everywhere may be a satisfying errand or vacation for him but it will be obvious that it is his relationship to the President and not his status as a mere cabinet officer which warrants attention.

His itinerary includes Tokyo, Hong Kong, Jakarta in Indonesia, Bangkok in Thailand, Rome, Berlin, Bonn, The Hague, Paris and possible London.

Wherever he meets with the top men in foreign governments, he will be looked upon as a spokesman for the President of the United States.

The prime ministers in turn will hope that what they say to him will be transmitted to the White House. It's a strange way to conduct the diplomacy of the United States, which supposedly relies on the secretary of state and the American ambassadors abroad to carry on a system of communication on foreign policy.

If he were not the President's brother, the attorney general's trip wouldn't attract much attention abroad. He made a similar trip to Asia in 1955 accompanying Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court.

His comments then show his acuteness of observation. For he is, indeed, an alert - minded young man about whom Washingtonians are often found quipping nowadays that he hopes to succeed JFK in 1969, and then Ted Kennedy will come along as the third of the "dynasty" in 1977.

THIS IS ADMITTEDLY a long time ahead to speculate but Bobby Kennedy, likeable, ambitious, and a good politician, certainly realizes that just to make his mark as attorney general is not enough and that, if he is to train himself to be a presidential candidate later on, he must learn something about the world and engage in wider fields of publicity than the department of justice offers. In fact, there are enthusiasts who claim Bobby Kennedy would be more decisive than his brother and perhaps an even better administrator — though, of course, this, too, is perhaps a premature bit of speculation.

Bobby Kennedy was reported to have received a few weeks ago an informal bid to visit the Soviet Union. The report was subsequently denied in Moscow. Maybe the Kremlin had second thoughts after going back to the files and rereading the interview published on Oct. 21, 1955, in "U.S. News & World Report," just after Bobby Kennedy returned from a visit to the Soviet Union. He said then:

"I've had enough of it. . . . We are dealing with a government to whom God and the family or the individual means nothing, and whose practice it has been in the past to make promises and treaties to serve their purpose and to break them when it has been to their advantage. It can only be suicidal for us . . . on the basis of smiles to strengthen Russia and weaken ourselves. . . .

"Communism retains its basic evils whether it is is the Khrushchev type or the more oppressive Stalin style."

DECLARING that the Russians do not really permit freedom of travel and will not let visitors see all of their country or "things that are touchy," he mentioned some slave labor camps that the Russians wouldn't allow him to see. He spoke also of their "segregated" system of schools. When he was asked what this meant, he said:

"The explanation the officials gave us is that people like their own schools. . . .

"In every city that we visited in Central Asia the schools were segregated — the Russian school children in one school, the local children in another."

"Is there a difference in color," he was asked, "between the Russians and the natives?"

"Oh, yes," he replied. "They are completely different."

So maybe if Bobby Kennedy does visit Russia on this or a subsequent trip, he can tell the Russian people about the "freedom rides" in America and what all this can accomplish, though it's conceivable the State Department might advise him that this is a "touchy" subject on both sides.

Thief Gets Sink, All Of Carpet In Salineville Case

SALINEVILLE — Thieves with some interior decorating in mind put a new twist on the old saw of taking "everything but the kitchen sink" in entering the unused Knights of Columbus hall on Main St.

Police Chief Cleo Mellott today reported intruders took the kitchen sink from the large brick structure, but left silverware, dishes and various other furnishings.

However, they did move a piano and other furniture off the wall-to-wall carpeting on the first floor, cut the carpet right down the middle and walked off with it, Mellott said.

Council Advised Of Planning For Sewage Meeting

EAST PALESTINE — A public meeting to air proposals for a sewage disposal program for the area north of the city will be held Feb. 15 at 8 p. m. at the City Hall, Mayor Robert Harding advised Council at a meeting Monday night.

Mayor Harding said county commissioners have set up the meeting to consider the need for a sewage system in the area, which has been cited by the Ohio Health Department for unsatisfactory sanitary conditions.

Commissioners have sent letters to residents of Rogers Addition and have urged others in the area, including residents of N. Market St. Ext., to attend the meeting.

Proposals include formation of a separate sewage district or joining the East Palestine sewage system which entails annexation to the city.

That packaged pudding mix will be extra good if you fold whipped cream into it and spoon the mixture over strawberries (sliced or whole).

Motorist Forfeits; Tavern Cases Reset

NEW CUMBERLAND — Bert W. Wilson, 35, of Washington, Pa., forfeited a $110 appearance bond today before Squire John D. Herron on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

He was cited at 2:30 a. m. Sunday on Route 30 east of Chester by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Squire Herron has continued until Monday hearings scheduled yesterday for Marie Battalo, operator of Club Capri, Nick Vuckovich of the State Cigar Store and Bill Gresko of the S. A. C. Club in Weirton, who were charged Jan. 29 with violation of the state gaming and liquor laws.

Marie Battalo was cited for alleged sale of beer after hours. Vuckovich was charged with operating a lottery, and Gresko with after-hours beer sale. Sheriff's deputies served the warrants.

Board Sanctions Buying Of Language Laboratory

Purchase of the initial equipment to launch a language laboratory in East Liverpool High School was authorized Monday night by the Board of Education.

The board also voted unanimously to purchase a 66-passenger bus from Wimmer Motor Sales, the highest of three bidders, pending final approval of the State Department of Education.

THE 10-UNIT language laboratory will be purchased from the Bratton Corp. of Columbus for approximately $5,000 with the board being reimbursed for half the cost under the National Defense Education Act.

Supt. Ralph W. Betts told the board the purchase order will not be sent in until the State Department of Education certifies that half the cost will be paid with Title 3 funds.

The approval may require about 10 days and the equipment is expected to be installed before the term ends, Betts added.

BETTS said the equipment will include the individual booths, a control console for the instructor, microphone, headphones, single disk recorder and reproducer. The booths are soundproof.

C. Walter Ashbaugh, board president, haled the purchase as "a start in the right direction."

In response to a question from Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop, the superintendent said the equipment will serve about half of a present language class.

However, with the purchase of the control console already completed, Betts said he hopes funds for the purchase of an additional 20 individual units will be available in the 1963 appropriations.

THE EQUIPMENT will be used primarily in language classes but the administration envisions its use in other areas, such as the speech department, giving dictation to stenographic students and making oral book reports, the superintendent added.

The equipment will aid instructors in teaching a language since it is designed for individual instruction. Students will be able to pronounce words, hear their pronunciation played back and compare it with the proper pronunciation.

The instructor can "tune in" on individual students or work with one group out of the class.

The console is equipped with two tape recorders which will permit, for example, more advanced students to be working in one area while the remainder work on other material.

UNTIL THE laboratory is equipped, the instructor will have part of the class using the equipment while the remainder does other work in the subject.

He explained the shift in teaching a language has been from reading and writing to oral work.

Pending final approval of the state department, the contract for the 66-passenger bus was awarded to Wimmer on his bid of $7,525 for a GMC chassis equipped with either a Carpenter or Superior body. The price includes a $375 trade-in on the present 1952 bus.

O. S. Hill & Co., Inc., of Lisbon, which has a branch office in the East End, asked $6,695 for an International chassis while Mike Turk, Inc., bid $6,978 for the Chevrolet chassis. Both also specified a choice of bodies, Betts reported.

EXERCISING two options to make the International chassis identical with the GMC chassis would raise the Hill bid to $6,920, $605 lower than Wimmer. The options included an additional $125 for a five-speed forward transmission and $100 for the same size engine.

The state department suggests a 5-speed transmission but will sanction 4-speed, the superintendent said.

Betts pointed out the board has been operating almost exclusively with GMC busses since he has been superintendent.

The superintendent said he was informed by the transportation division of the State Department of Education that the board is not required to accept the low bid.

BETTS SAID several board members cited Wimmer's service in the past, but pointed out they are in no position to compare it with the other two dealers since they have dealt almost exclusively with Wimmer's firm.

Betts told the board the state department will reimburse the board for about 65 per cent of the cost.

The board at its organization meeting in January had authorized the superintendent to secure bids on both 60- and 66-passenger busses. However, Betts said a study of the transportation needs here indicated a 66-passenger bus was most desirable. He added the state allows about $700 more for a 66-passenger bus than it would for a 60-passenger unit.

Asked by James Lowe if it is cheaper to buy a bus than to contract for the service, Betts said no study has been made here. However, a state survey indicates it is cheaper to own buses than to contract, he added.

The board owns three busses and has a contract with Charles Snyder, who uses 10 buses, to provide the remainder of the transportation.

use septic tanks, even though there is a sewer near their home," the solicitor told Council. "I think the desire of the board is to see that all homes are connected to sewers, wherever possible."

"It's desirable from a health standpoint," the solicitor continued. "We'd like to have sewer rentals apply to properties which are close to sewers, whether they're connected or not. The ordinance reads now that the charge applies only to people connected to the sewer."

Cooper was asked if there is an ordinance on the books that requires householders to link their homes with a sewer if one is available.

He said there have been cases where the Health Department has decreed such action "when a definite health hazard exists."

Councilman George E. Willshaw said a question might arise as to what constitutes a "reasonable" distance from a sewer.

"If the limit was set at 100 feet, two homes in the same neighborhood might be affected differently," he said.

Moore said such an ordinance would give the department a new source of revenue. He said the disposal plant now is operating at a deficit of $10,000 a year. The conference was held in a caucus session before the public meeting.

Two requests from the utilities board were referred to committees after letters were read during the public meeting.

The finance committee was given a letter requesting authority to advertise for bids for purchase of a new half-ton and three-quarter ton pickup trucks and the trade-in of two used trucks. The cost was estimated at $4,000.

The ordinance committee was given a letter requesting authority to advertise for bids on purchase of 200 tons of a sand and cement mixture to be used in patching the walls of the Thompson Ave. reservoir. Both letters were signed by Schneider.

For High School

Board Approves Graduation Date

The Board of Education approved the dates of the baccalaureate service and commencement exercises at its meeting Monday night.

Acting on the recommendation of the high school faculty, the board gave its approval to the baccalaureate service on Sunday, June 3, and the graduation exercises on Tuesday, June 5. School will be dismissed on June 8.

The board also authorized Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, to borrow funds to meet the February payrolls if an advance on the real estate tax is not received.

BECAUSE TAX statements were delayed in being mailed, an advance may be too late to meet this month's payroll. The pay day for teachers is Feb. 20.

Miss Liebschner reported a balance of $31,533 in all school funds, including $22,252 in the general operating account.

Supt. Ralph W. Betts informed the board concerning an orientation program Wednesday at 9 a. m. at Westgate School for all eighth graders and their parents.

Eighth graders at St. Aloysius Parochial School and their parents also have been invited, he added.

THE ORIENTATION program is being held to outline to students and parents changes contemplated in the ninth grade program. The discussion will include the cost of a college education and is aimed at making youngsters and their parents more conscious of their selection and provide a more varied program for the ninth graders.

A formal recommendation will be submitted to the board when the changes have been worked out, the superintendent said.

The board authorized the establishment of a $500 service fund to meet expenses of board members on official business. It is permitted to set up a maximum of $1,000 or 20 cents per pupil. The enrollment as of Jan. 15 was 5,511.

James Lowe, vice president, said he would attend a meeting of representatives from all school boards in the county Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Courthouse at Lisbon when plans will be discussed for a countywide meeting of board members and administrators.

THE BOARD also authorized Betts, and Asst. Supt. Paul Blair to attend the annual meeting of the American Association of School Administrators Feb. 17-21 in Atlantic City. C. Walter Ashbaugh, board president, also will attend the session.

Ashbaugh also announced board committees for the year. They include Lowe and Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop, finance; Lowe and Harry D. McConville, board representatives on the High School Athletic Association board, and James B. Moss, Mrs. Dunlop and McConville, buildings.

The board approved the appointment of William Mason as a custodian at Westgate School. Mason, who has done considerable substitute work, was one of three men certified by the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

IT APPROVED the rental of Westgate auditorium to the Lions Club on March 10 for its annual minstrel show at a fee of $50 and to the East Liverpool Chapter of SPEBSQSA on March 29 for rehearsal and March 30-31 for the annual Parade of Quartets. The fee will total $115.

It also granted permission for the Field Enterprises Education Corp. to rent the library at Westgate on the nights of Feb. 13, 15, 20 and 22 and during the day on Feb. 17 and 24 to train local representatives. The fee will be $5 per session plus any custodial overtime, the board stipulated.

A tuition certificate for children attending Minerva schools also was approved.

With Betts, Blair and Ashbaugh attending the AASA meeting at the time of the next regular meeting on Feb. 19, the board decided to cancel the session unless necessary. Its next regular meeting will be March 5.

The city last purchased a fire nozzle 12 years ago and two of the nozzles in use are 60 years old, he said. In addition, he also asked Council to purchase some new gasmasks and four new first aid kits.

He recommended the removal of the second floor of the North Side station and remodeling of the downstairs. In addition, he asked the interior and exterior of all four stations be painted.

In his appeal for a building code, the chief said it is being made for the 21st year. On four occasions, he has asked the National Board of Fire Underwriters for books on a building code for a city with East Liverpool's population and each time received 15 books on the subject.

The chief said he has asked the appointment of an electrical inspector for 13 years, which is the last time the city had one.

Owen, Duffy Argue Points On Sunnyside

Councilman Frank Duffy and Safety - Service Director Robert Owen engaged in a heated exchange at Council's session Monday night over citizens' complaints from the Sunnyside district, but the argument ended inconclusively when President Charles N. Edwards rapped the two to order.

The debate between the two Democrats were touched off when Duffy referred to a trip which a fire truck made up the W. 9th St.-Lisbon St. ramp and through the Sunnyside area last Wednesday to prove Owen's contention that the district has adequate fire protection. The Sunnyside residents had contended a fire truck could not ascend the steep, curving ramp to reach their area.

"Owen took his joyride and it came out in the paper that the district has adequate fire protection, but the people deny it," Duffy said. Then he referred to charges that Grape Alley, one of the streets traversed by the fire truck, was ashed in advance of the trip, although normally it is not cindered.

"The people are not satisfied with the meeting with the State Highway Department," Duffy added. He referred to a meeting last week in which complaints of inadequate access were referred to the state officials.

"They have plans of their own and they're going ahead with them," Duffy added.

Owen asked if Council wished him to reply to Duffy. Told he had permission, he took the floor.

"Did you say I went on a joyride or I enjoyed the ride?" he said in a question to Duffy. "It was on business."

"When we got to the top of the ramp, I couldn't see Grape Alley. I said: 'Let's stop here; we've proved our point'."

"I didn't know then that Grape Alley had been ashed. But (Asst. Fire Chief Alfred) Van Dyne offered to take us up Grape Alley after I said we had proved our point."

"It's a mess down there and has been since the freeway started," Duffy replied.

"I realize you're a champion of the people," Owen replied. "Do you investigate these complaints before you come in to Council with them?"

Duffy said he is in the area frequently and is aware of the complaints. At several points in the discussion the remarks were unintelligible because both men were talking at the same time.

Then Edwards rapped his gavel and said: "I see no point in continuing this argument." He added that Duffy was "out of order."

"I don't think I am," Duffy replied, but he sat down and the discussion ended. A moment later, Council adjourned.

Driver Blames Snow For Downtown Crash

Poor visibility caused by a heavy snow squall was blamed for a two-way car crash Monday at 8:25 p.m. at Jackson and W. 6th Sts., police said.

The mishap involved a 1957 two-door sedan driven by Harry G. Arthur, 25, of Kelly Ave., Glenmoor, and a 1949 sedan operated by Eugene T. Ferguson, 66, of Westfield Rd., officers said.

128,000 Flee Homes In Philippine Floods

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—Floods have driven 128,000 Filipinos from their homes on Mindanao Island in the past 10 days, and the water is still rising in some areas.

A spokesman for the Social Welfare Department said 100,000 people in Agusan Province are threatened by floods. The situation was made worse by tropical storm Fran, which dumped more rain on the area.

Plot To Kill Khrushchev Called False

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Foreign Office press spokesman today branded as a "provocative rumor without any foundation at all," a story current in Moscow that an attempt had been made to assassinate Premier Khrushchev.

"It is an invention and completely false," the spokesman added.

The rumors had been investigated by correspondents and diplomats for several days. No one could find any substance to them.

The first report was that Khrushchev had been shot in the lung during a public meeting in Minsk, in White Russia, in mid-January. But on Jan. 26, some days after the rumored attack, Khrushchev spent three hours with a Burmese trade and diplomatic delegation in Kiev, in the Ukraine.

One of the Burmese said the premier was clearly in good health and good spirits.

On Jan. 30 Mrs. Khrushchev told guests at a meeting commemorating the birthday of Franklin D. Roosevelt that her husband was in Gagra, in the Caucasus.

A rumor then sprang up over the weekend that he had been stabbed Saturday in Gagra.

The foreign office said this morning this was false.

The spokesman declined to say where Khrushchev is now. Diplomats expressed belief that he is in Gagra working on the agricultural report he will give to the Communist party central committee meeting in Moscow March 5.

Newell Lions Club Will Hold Ladies Night Event Feb. 19

Plans for the annual Ladies Night program were announced at a meeting of the Newell Lions Club Monday night in the Shamrock Restaurant. Eighteen attended.

Richard Brenneman and J. Fred Allison, co-chairmen, reported on the event planned Feb. 19 at 6:30 in the Travelers Hotel. The program will be held in lieu of the regular meeting scheduled that date.

Richard Smith reported on activities of the "Help a Child to Health Council," a co-operative effort of 10 civic organizations in the Chester - Newell area in providing medical aid to youngsters. Thomas Miller was named Smith's assistant to the committee.

A report on the March of Dimes drive in Newell co-sponsored by the club was presented by Clarence Barnett. Donations still are being received, and residents missed in the solicitation by the Junior auxiliary of American Legion Post 114 are to mail donations to the Lions Club. A complete report on the donations will be given later.

The club is continuing the sale of light bulbs and a supply is available at Harry Messenheimer's cleaning shop.

A community improvement project proposed by Dick Smith was discussed. It will be revealed at a later date.

Basil Mangano screened slides with narration of a visit to Europe, including Germany, The Netherlands, Switzerland and Italy. He was introduced by Brenneman.

A Board of Directors meeting will be held Feb. 13 at 7:30 with Leonard Copestick, president.

Firemen

The city last purchased a fire nozzle 12 years ago and two of the nozzles in use are 60 years old, he said. In addition, he also asked Council to purchase some new gasmasks and four new first aid kits.

He recommended the removal of the second floor of the North Side station and remodeling of the downstairs. In addition, he asked the interior and exterior of all four stations be painted.

In his appeal for a building code, the chief said it is being made for the 21st year. On four occasions, he has asked the National Board of Fire Underwriters for books on a building code for a city with East Liverpool's population and each time received 15 books on the subject.

The chief said he has asked the appointment of an electrical inspector for 13 years, which is the last time the city had one.

His report also included a page detailing the repairs and normal maintenance made to each of the department's eight pieces of rolling stock.

Chester Senior Hurt In Basketball Game

Jess (Pat) Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Gill of Pan Ave., Chester, suffered a mild concussion when he struck a brick wall during an intermural game at noontime yesterday. He was to be released today.

Mrs. Gene Golden, 1215 Oakwood Ave., was treated for a laceration of the thumb suffered on a glass jar at home yesterday.

Owen, Duffy Argue Points On Sunnyside

Councilman Frank Duffy and Safety - Service Director Robert Owen engaged in a heated exchange at Council's session Monday night over citizens' complaints from the Sunnyside district, but the argument ended inconclusively when President Charles N. Edwards rapped the two to order.

The debate between the two Democrats were touched off when Duffy referred to a trip which a fire truck made up the W. 9th St.-Lisbon St. ramp and through the Sunnyside area last Wednesday to prove Owen's contention that the district has adequate fire protection. The Sunnyside residents had contended a fire truck could not ascend the steep, curving ramp to reach their area.

"Owen took his joyride and it came out in the paper that the district has adequate fire protection, but the people deny it," Duffy said. Then he referred to charges that Grape Alley, one of the streets traversed by the fire truck, was ashed in advance of the trip, although normally it is not cindered.

"The people are not satisfied with the meeting with the State Highway Department," Duffy added. He referred to a meeting last week in which complaints of inadequate access were referred to the state officials.

"They have plans of their own and they're going ahead with them," Duffy added.

Owen asked if Council wished him to reply to Duffy. Told he had permission, he took the floor.

"Did you say I went on a joyride or I enjoyed the ride?" he said in a question to Duffy. "It was on business."

"When we got to the top of the ramp, I couldn't see Grape Alley. I said: 'Let's stop here; we've proved our point'."

"I didn't know then that Grape Alley had been ashed. But (Asst. Fire Chief Alfred) Van Dyne offered to take us up Grape Alley after I said we had proved our point."

"It's a mess down there and has been since the freeway started," Duffy replied.

"I realize you're a champion of the people," Owen replied. "Do you investigate these complaints before you come in to Council with them?"

Duffy said he is in the area frequently and is aware of the complaints. At several points in the discussion the remarks were unintelligible because both men were talking at the same time.

Then Edwards rapped his gavel and said: "I see no point in continuing this argument." He added that Duffy was "out of order."

"I don't think I am," Duffy replied, but he sat down and the discussion ended. A moment later, Council adjourned.

Driver Blames Snow For Downtown Crash

Poor visibility caused by a heavy snow squall was blamed for a two-way car crash Monday at 8:25 p.m. at Jackson and W. 6th Sts., police said.

The mishap involved a 1957 two-door sedan driven by Harry G. Arthur, 25, of Kelly Ave., Glenmoor, and a 1949 sedan operated by Eugene T. Ferguson, 66, of Westfield Rd., officers said.

128,000 Flee Homes In Philippine Floods

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—Floods have driven 128,000 Filipinos from their homes on Mindanao Island in the past 10 days, and the water is still rising in some areas.

A spokesman for the Social Welfare Department said 100,000 people in Agusan Province are threatened by floods. The situation was made worse by tropical storm Fran, which dumped more rain on the area.

Plot To Kill Khrushchev Called False

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Foreign Office press spokesman today branded as a "provocative rumor without any foundation at all," a story current in Moscow that an attempt had been made to assassinate Premier Khrushchev.

"It is an invention and completely false," the spokesman added.

The rumors had been investigated by correspondents and diplomats for several days. No one could find any substance to them.

The first report was that Khrushchev had been shot in the lung during a public meeting in Minsk, in White Russia, in mid-January. But on Jan. 26, some days after the rumored attack, Khrushchev spent three hours with a Burmese trade and diplomatic delegation in Kiev, in the Ukraine.

One of the Burmese said the premier was clearly in good health and good spirits.

On Jan. 30 Mrs. Khrushchev told guests at a meeting commemorating the birthday of Franklin D. Roosevelt that her husband was in Gagra, in the Caucasus.

A rumor then sprang up over the weekend that he had been stabbed Saturday in Gagra.

The foreign office said this morning this was false.

The spokesman declined to say where Khrushchev is now. Diplomats expressed belief that he is in Gagra working on the agricultural report he will give to the Communist party central committee meeting in Moscow March 5.

Newell Lions Club Will Hold Ladies Night Event Feb. 19

Plans for the annual Ladies Night program were announced at a meeting of the Newell Lions Club Monday night in the Shamrock Restaurant. Eighteen attended.

Richard Brenneman and J. Fred Allison, co-chairmen, reported on the event planned Feb. 19 at 6:30 in the Travelers Hotel. The program will be held in lieu of the regular meeting scheduled that date.

Richard Smith reported on activities of the "Help a Child to Health Council," a co-operative effort of 10 civic organizations in the Chester - Newell area in providing medical aid to youngsters. Thomas Miller was named Smith's assistant to the committee.

A report on the March of Dimes drive in Newell co-sponsored by the club was presented by Clarence Barnett. Donations still are being received, and residents missed in the solicitation by the Junior auxiliary of American Legion Post 114 are to mail donations to the Lions Club. A complete report on the donations will be given later.

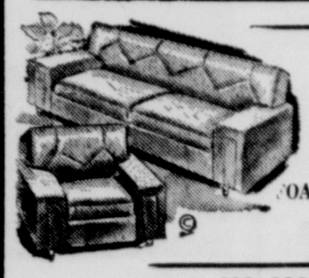

The club is continuing the sale of light bulbs and a supply is available at Harry Messenheimer's cleaning shop.

A community improvement project proposed by Dick Smith was discussed. It will be revealed at a later date.

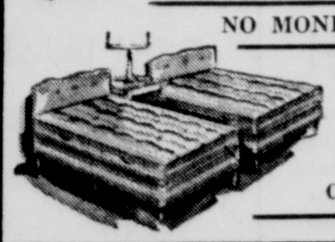

Basil Mangano screened slides with narration of a visit to Europe, including Germany, The Netherlands, Switzerland and Italy. He was introduced by Brenneman.

A Board of Directors meeting will be held Feb. 13 at 7:30 with Leonard Copestick, president.

'61 Fire Loss Is Lowest In Past 5 Years

East Liverpool's fire loss in 1961 totaled only $32,435, the lowest in five years and a reduction of more than 50 per cent under 1960's damages of $70,106, Chief Charles Bryan told City Council Monday night in his annual report.

Bryan said the insurance loss last year included $24,135 to buildings and $8,300 to contents. The figures do not include any uninsured losses, he said.

Last year also marked the third consecutive year in which there were no deaths from fire, Bryan noted. The last fatalities were in 1958 when four were recorded.

It was the lowest fire loss reported by the chief since 1956 when damages totaled $18,644. Fire damages since 1946 stand at $1,494,032, according to a compilation by The Review.)

The department answered 184 alarms during the year, including 152 received by phone, 18 from the police department, eight from fire alarm boxes and six verbally, the chief said.

January saw 28 alarms answered, the only month which exceeded 20. There were only 14 alarms in each of six months and 13 each in three others.

Fifty-five fires originated in autos and trucks, 42 in dwellings and 29 were grass or rubbish blazes.

The cause of 28 fires wasn't determined, Bryan said, while 25 calls were received in which the alarm either was false or there was no fire.

Carburetor backfires were blamed for 25 alarms while cigarettes and burning brush were responsible for 16 each. Fourteen fires resulted from electrical short circuits.

The miscellaneous reasons included the almost - legendary case of hunting a gas leak with a match, and five cases of arson.

Miscellaneous calls, not fire alarms, totaled 512 for the year, including 259 inspections and 44 talks and showing of educational films, Bryan said.

The inspections included 60 examinations of rest homes, hotels, cleaning plants, service stations and other buildings by George Boston, deputy state fire marshal, and department officers.

The city's two hospitals each were inspected three times and Roy Ricker of Youngstown, also a deputy fire marshal, conducted a demonstration at City Hospital on evacuating patients and extinguishing room and bed fires.

Each of the city's schools was inspected four times and fire drills were conducted. Addresses were given and fire safety films were shown at the schools and students were given pamphlets on fire prevention.

Sixty-six inspections were made at the homes of invalids and firemen placed window stickers so those homes could be easily recognized in event of fire.

Other miscellaneous calls during the year included 23 to flush gasoline, 21 smoke investigations and calls to help persons locked out to get into their homes.

Eighteen calls were on wiring and 17 each concerning faulty furnaces and natural gas leaks. Fifteen were on trash complaints.

Two-way radios were installed on all trucks and a communications set in each station, Bryan added, explaining the radio net "saved a lot of miles."

Additional trucks could be summoned and the crew knew what it was to do before arriving at the fire, the chief said. There also were instances in which firemen were en route back to the station when radioed about another fire.

The city also purchased 500 feet of 2½ inch hose last year, he said.

Hearings Set For 5 On Numbers Charges

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — A preliminary hearing is scheduled here Feb. 15 for five men, two from Ohio, who were arrested last December on charges of violating the federal anti-racketeering law.

They are Anthony J. Zambito, Wheeling, described as the "banker" in a numbers racket operating in Ohio and West Virginia; Arthur C. Hale, Blaine, Ohio; James J. Rogerson, Martins Ferry, Ohio; Tom Scarbor, Wheeling, and Alfred Brim, Triadelphia.

Wellsville Boy Attends 'Sight' Class

One Big, Happy Family

A partially - blind Wellsville boy is continuing his education at a special "sight - saving" class, aided by the helping hand of a Canton widow who says blind children have "given my life a purpose".

He is Ralph Albaneso, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Albaneso, 1799½ Chester Ave.

He attended first grade at Garfield School, Wellsville, but transferred to the Canton school this term through the cooperation of the Wellsville Board of Education.

Three other children reside at the Michel home — Judy Covington, 9, and Dorothy Bolden, 8, of Barberton, both of whom are blind, and Jill, Mrs. Michel's daughter. The Canton woman became a widow five years ago when her husband was killed in an automobile crash.

Mrs. Michel, who had been a secretary before her marriage, obtained outside employment for awhile after the tragedy, but wanted to be at home with her daughter. When the state asked if she would consider taking handicapped children into her home, she answered "yes" and the present satisfactory arrangement resulted.

There still are some material things that are needed to help the youngsters — including a "brailler", a machine that writes in braille; a typewriter (all three of the blind children can use a typewriter); a record player and "talking books", and a braille dictionary.

But material things or not, a Wellsville boy has found a second home in Canton and a brighter future education-wise.

Board Told Of Survey

Parents Sampling Shows New High School Favored

Nearly 81 per cent of the parents replying to a questionnaire concerning the future of the high school are in favor of an entire new plant, Supt. Ralph W. Betts informed the Board of Education Monday night.

Betts said 940 of the 1,158 replies are in favor of a new high school in a new location while 218 favor replacement of Central School only.

He cautioned board members the parents are not making a commitment since not all the facts —chiefly the site and the cost— are available.

Most of the replies apparently indicate the sentiments of both parents, he said, adding that replies from parents of Westgate students haven't been received as yet.

The superintendent said he was pleased with the response but said he anticipates several hundred more will respond.

The questionnaires were mailed to parents of high school students along with a return post card in the school's quarterly newsletter. Similar questionnaires were sent home with elementary students.

An accompanying letter explained the board is faced with "a major problem" concerning the high school buildings. The question is whether to think in terms of a new high school or replace Central building and continue to use the main high school and Memorial Auditorium.

The letter pointed out that educationally a new plant is preferable since the present location in a heavy traffic zone with the situation of pupils moving among the three buildings each hour "leaves much to be desired."

However, it points out a new plant would cost not less than $3 million based on a rough estimate of construction costs for high schools in other communities.

However, Central is no longer desirable as a school building since it requires a large portion of the maintenance funds just to keep it in condition for occupancy.

In addition, the physics, chemistry, biology, home economics and commercial laboratories are obsolescent, the letter explained.

A building to replace Central and house the laboratories plus shop rooms and an art laboratory might be constructed for about half the cost of a new plant, the letter added.

Cordier To Quit U.N. For Position At Columbia U.

NEW YORK (AP)—Andrew W. Cordier, a member of the United Nations high command since the international organization's founding, is resigning to assume a deanship at Columbia University.

The university announced Monday night that Cordier, a native of Canton, Ohio, will become dean of Columbia's School of International Affairs and Regional Institutes July 1.

Dr. Grayson Kirk, Columbia president, said Cordier, a U. N. undersecretary, will leave the world organization later this month.

Cordier had been a professor and department head at Manchester College in Indiana for many years before joining the State Department in 1944.

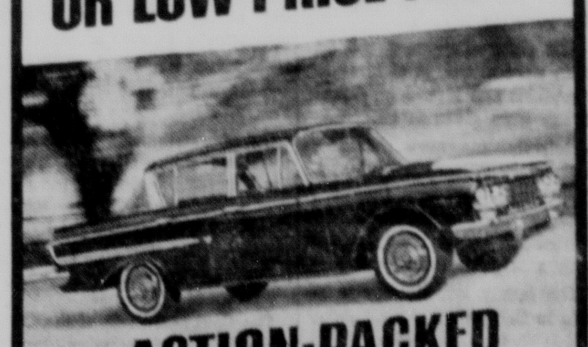

He was a member of the U.S. delegation to the San Francisco Conference which founded the U. N., was executive assistant to U.N. Secretaries-General Trygvie Lie and Dag Hammarskjold, and was recently named undersecretary for General Assembly and related affairs.

U.S. Probes New Phase Of Stock Market Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is investigating the possible manipulation of stock market prices through publicity campaigns financed by publicly owned corporations.

This is one of two new areas being studied by the Securities and Exchange Commission in its extensive inquiry into the securities industry.

It was learned today that SEC staff members also have been interviewing industry leaders in New York about the operations of money lenders who finance stock transactions. This was believed to be the prelude to a more intensive study of lenders who are exempt from the stock market credit restrictions imposed by the Federal Reserve Board.

The manipulation through publicity phase of the inquiry is focusing on the activities of a small group of financial public relations firms, most of them located in New York.

The SEC wants to find out whether any of these firms, in their effort to promote the corporations that hire them, have circulated press releases aimed at affecting stock prices.

Freeway's Reported 76 Per Cent Finished

Work on the new city freeway remains ahead of schedule, with about 76 per cent of the construction completed, William P. McKenna, deputy director of the Division 11 office of the State Highway Department at New Philadelphia, said today in a monthly report.

Construction on a 2.7-mile improvement of Route 46 between New Waterford and Route 7 is about 23 per cent completed, McKenna said.

Goldberg Vows Aid For Young Jobless

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg says the Kennedy administration is determined to do something for the one million Americans aged 16-22 who are both jobless and out of school.

He said a "modest and moderate" beginning would be the administration's youth employment opportunities act now before Congress, and he urged support of the measure.

Goldberg spoke Monday at a national conference on public work programs for urban young people, sponsored by the National Social Welfare Association and the National Committee on Employment of Youth.

Cincinnati Woman Eyes Congress Bid

CINCINNATI (AP)—Miss Monica Nolan, a former candidate for City Council and the state Senate, says she will be the Democratic candidate for the 1st Congressional District seat now held by Rep. Gordon Scherer, a Republican who is not running again.

Second Office Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says it will open a second office in Cleveland for its Wage and House and Public Contracts Division.

Named To Bench

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John J. McMahon, 52, a Cleveland attorney, has been named to the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court bench, succeeding the late Judge John J. Mahon who died last week. The appointment was announced Monday by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

NEW YORK (AP)—Andrew W. Cordier, a member of the United Nations high command since the international organization's founding, is resigning to assume a deanship at Columbia University.

The university announced Monday night that Cordier, a native of Canton, Ohio, will become dean of Columbia's School of International Affairs and Regional Institutes July 1.

Dr. Grayson Kirk, Columbia president, said Cordier, a U. N. undersecretary, will leave the world organization later this month.

Cordier had been a professor and department head at Manchester College in Indiana for many years before joining the State Department in 1944.

He was a member of the U.S. delegation to the San Francisco Conference which founded the U. N., was executive assistant to U.N. Secretaries-General Trygvie Lie and Dag Hammarskjold, and was recently named undersecretary for General Assembly and related affairs.

U.S. Probes New Phase Of Stock Market Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is investigating the possible manipulation of stock market prices through publicity campaigns financed by publicly owned corporations.

This is one of two new areas being studied by the Securities and Exchange Commission in its extensive inquiry into the securities industry.

It was learned today that SEC staff members also have been interviewing industry leaders in New York about the operations of money lenders who finance stock transactions. This was believed to be the prelude to a more intensive study of lenders who are exempt from the stock market credit restrictions imposed by the Federal Reserve Board.

The manipulation through publicity phase of the inquiry is focusing on the activities of a small group of financial public relations firms, most of them located in New York.

The SEC wants to find out whether any of these firms, in their effort to promote the corporations that hire them, have circulated press releases aimed at affecting stock prices.

Freeway's Reported 76 Per Cent Finished

Work on the new city freeway remains ahead of schedule, with about 76 per cent of the construction completed, William P. McKenna, deputy director of the Division 11 office of the State Highway Department at New Philadelphia, said today in a monthly report.

Construction on a 2.7-mile improvement of Route 46 between New Waterford and Route 7 is about 23 per cent completed, McKenna said.

Speech Topic Set

CINCINNATI (AP) — The topic of conservative Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater's speech Feb. 12 at Cincinnati Gardens will be the fiscal and foreign policies of the Kennedy administration, Carl B. Rubin, chairman of the Republican Lincoln Day Rally, said Monday.

Goldberg Vows Aid For Young Jobless

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg says the Kennedy administration is determined to do something for the one million Americans aged 16-22 who are both jobless and out of school.

He said a "modest and moderate" beginning would be the administration's youth employment opportunities act now before Congress, and he urged support of the measure.

Goldberg spoke Monday at a national conference on public work programs for urban young people, sponsored by the National Social Welfare Association and the National Committee on Employment of Youth.

Cincinnati Woman Eyes Congress Bid

CINCINNATI (AP)—Miss Monica Nolan, a former candidate for City Council and the state Senate, says she will be the Democratic candidate for the 1st Congressional District seat now held by Rep. Gordon Scherer, a Republican who is not running again.

Second Office Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says it will open a second office in Cleveland for its Wage and House and Public Contracts Division.

Named To Bench

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John J. McMahon, 52, a Cleveland attorney, has been named to the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court bench, succeeding the late Judge John J. Mahon who died last week. The appointment was announced Monday by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Action Needed To Banish Boredom

February is such a dreary month. It's easy to settle into a rut...and ruts are so deadly dulling! Boredom sets in. Then you eat just to be doing something. Doctors term this nervous nibbling.

Ida Jean Kain

One homemaker writes, "I usually gain 10 or 12 pounds over the winter and around the middle. . . then by spring none of my clothes fit."

Well, a winter weight gain is by no means uncommon. It frequently happens to the woman whose family is grown and no longer needs her active help. It also happens to young mothers who are shut in with the little ones.

To pull out of the winter doldrums. . .take action. Action stirs up interest and revives energy. Too weary? Recognize that boredom is deceptively tiring.

BOREDOM IS the mental counterpart of that physical state termed fatigue. It's apt to be a restless tiredness instead of a healthy, relaxing tiredness.

Mental and physical stimulation can banish boredom and give you a whole new outlook on life. Could you join a class? The YWCA offers a variety of classes, as do high school adult education programs.

You can enroll in a class in diction and vocabulary building; take bridge lessons, or flower arrangements, or learn a foreign language. There are also classes in oil painting, writing and typing.

By February most of us need a change of pace. Make the effort to change your day around a bit. When it's cold outside it does take effort to stir yourself. . . but oh it is so worth the while!

Walk some place. You might walk to the store and select a fresh fruit for dinner dessert. Walk home. This outing can quicken you energy.

LIFE SHOULD have some spontaneity in it. Occasionally I get a letter from a woman who has written on an impulse. One homemaker interrupted her housework to sit down and write that she had suddenly made up her mind to pull out of the slump, slim down and feel young again. She did it, too!

Act on that impulse. Do something to change your pace. Stir up the life forces within you. Set up goals and work happily toward them. When you muster the gumption to act. . .things start looking up!

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Wake Up And Stretch." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Try-Out Sessions Set For High School Play

Try-out sessions for the annual senior class play "Professor, How Could You?" will be held Monday and Tuesday in Room 301 at the High School.

Keith Langdon, speech - arts teacher, said the tests will be conducted with the use of objective material from classic and modern plays, and not from the play itself. Since the rehearsal schedule is tight and demanding, students who have after-school or evening employment will be ineligible, he added.

The production, set April 6-7, is a comedy in three acts by Anne Coulter Martens, with parts for five boys and five girls. Rehearsals will begin immediately upon completion of the cast.

Action Needed To Banish Boredom

February is such a dreary month. It's easy to settle into a rut...and ruts are so deadly dulling! Boredom sets in. Then you eat just to be doing something. Doctors term this nervous nibbling.

Ida Jean Kain

One homemaker writes, "I usually gain 10 or 12 pounds over the winter and around the middle. . . then by spring none of my clothes fit."

Well, a winter weight gain is by no means uncommon. It frequently happens to the woman whose family is grown and no longer needs her active help. It also happens to young mothers who are shut in with the little ones.

To pull out of the winter doldrums. . .take action. Action stirs up interest and revives energy. Too weary? Recognize that boredom is deceptively tiring.

BOREDOM IS the mental counterpart of that physical state termed fatigue. It's apt to be a restless tiredness instead of a healthy, relaxing tiredness.

Mental and physical stimulation can banish boredom and give you a whole new outlook on life. Could you join a class? The YWCA offers a variety of classes, as do high school adult education programs.

You can enroll in a class in diction and vocabulary building; take bridge lessons, or flower arrangements, or learn a foreign language. There are also classes in oil painting, writing and typing.

By February most of us need a change of pace. Make the effort to change your day around a bit. When it's cold outside it does take effort to stir yourself. . . but oh it is so worth the while!

Walk some place. You might walk to the store and select a fresh fruit for dinner dessert. Walk home. This outing can quicken you energy.

LIFE SHOULD have some spontaneity in it. Occasionally I get a letter from a woman who has written on an impulse. One homemaker interrupted her housework to sit down and write that she had suddenly made up her mind to pull out of the slump, slim down and feel young again. She did it, too!

Act on that impulse. Do something to change your pace. Stir up the life forces within you. Set up goals and work happily toward them. When you muster the gumption to act. . .things start looking up!

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Wake Up And Stretch." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

69 At Youth Sessions Held By Lisbon Ministers' Group

Sixty-nine young people from various church youth groups were present for the Youth Week meeting Sunday afternoon at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, sponsored by the Lisbon Ministerial Association.

Young people from St. Jacob's United Church of Christ had the call to worship with a representative of the Christian Youth Fellowship giving the invocation. The Elkton Methodist Church youth were in charge of responsive reading and First Methodist had the Scripture reading.

Youth Choir Sings

Special music was furnished by the Youth Choir of the Trinity church with Mrs. William Bergert organist.

Miss Sandra Yoos of the First Presbyterian Church introduced the speaker, Bennett Taylor Jr., Columbiana Boy Scout Council executive, who discussed "The Good Old Days."

The Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, the Rev. C. O. Armstrong and the Rev. William Spangler comprised the committee in charge.

Post Quartet Sings

Dinner was served buffet style. Tables were decorated with bouquets of poppies and American flags and the speaker's table was centered with an arrangement of red, white and blue flowers.

Mrs. G. R. McCune, president, welcomed the group and Mrs. Robert Fife was mistress of ceremonies.

The Lisbon Eagles Auxiliary will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening, Feb. 13, at 8 p. m. at the Eagles' Home.

A meeting for officers is set at 7:30. Final arrangements have been made for the 11th anniversary party of the auxiliary to be held Sunday, Feb. 18, at 5 p. m.

All members and families of the local Aerie 2216 and auxiliary members and their families have been invited. There will be dancing from 7 until 10.

Those planning to attend must make reservations by Feb. 13 by phoning HA. 4-3089 or HA. 4-7070 or notifying the club.

All auxiliary members were asked to take groceries for the basket and grab bag to the next meeting.

City Pastors To Show Film In Holy Week

Plans were discussed to show Cecil B. DeMille's silent film, "King of Kings," during Holy Week, at a meeting of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association Monday in St. John's Evangelical Luthern Church.

The Rev. Carl Beighley, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Church, and chairman of the union and special days committee, said plans for the film are not definite.

John H. Mostoller, minister of the First Church of Christ, and president of the association, reported on the Christian education committee in the absence of the Rev. Glenn Brunstetter, pastor of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church and chairman of the committee.

The president reported that 112 young people and adults attended the communitywide youth rally held Sunday at the First Church of Nazarene. An offering of $12.41 was received. At the recreation night held Tuesday at the First Methodist Church, in observance of Youth Week, the attendance was 75, the president said.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Recently I was shocked to hear wild rumors about the husband of a good friend of mine. This couple have four lovely children and they seem to all the world very happy.

The story is that the husband is having an affair with the maid who lives in their home. She's half his age and a common, ordinary sexpot. The girl drives the family car and has really taken over. Some new neighbors thought she was their daughter until they were told the facts.

As an act of friendship I told the wife what everyone is saying behind her back. Her reply was: "If that little dumbbell wants to throw away her youth on a married man, what do I care? She does plenty of work."

What can we do to help?—DEAR FRIEND.

Dear Dear: Nobody asked me for help—and so far as I can determine, nobody asked you either.

If what the gossips say is true, someone will pay a dear price. But I'm not in favor of forcing "help" on people.

Sleepy Head

Dear Ann: I'm a 16-year-old school girl with a terrible problem. I can't get up in the morning.

My father goes to work at dawn. Then he sets the alarm clock for 7 a.m. and puts it on the floor next to my bed.

Please believe me when I tell you I cannot hear it ring. I've tried two alarm clocks and put them both under my pillow. I even placed an alarm clock in a pan so it would make more noise. Nothing works.

I've had my ears tested and they are perfect. My mother says I don't want to hear the alarm. I've been late for school so often it's embarrassing. Please help me.

—RISE AND SHINE.

Dear R&S: The key piece of information does not appear in your letter. What time do you get to bed at night?

It's my guess that you've fallen into the habit of staying up too late. When morning comes you're too konked to hear anything. I suggest you hit the pillow two hours earlier. A girl of 16 should be able to "Rise and Shine" after nine hours of sleep with no trouble.

Inconsiderate Boobs

Dear Ann: Please set me straight. Has saying "thank you for the gift" gone out of style or what? I've shopped for hours for just the right graduation gift and then I had to run into the person on the street to hear that it was received.

I'm still waiting to get an acknowledgment for two wedding gifts which were sent in November. My niece and two nephews plus one sister-in-law have not written to say our Christmas gifts arrived.

My husband says I should give for the joy of giving and not expect thanks. I'm not looking for thanks, Ann, all I want is to know whether or not the gifts arrived. Would it be rude (as he says) if I wrote and inquired?—IGNORED.

Dear Ignored: Anyone who won't take the time and trouble to acknowledge a gift is a 16-cylinder, 4-door slob.

It takes no longer to pick up the phone or drop a line and say "thank you" than it does to unwrap a gift.

If a reasonable time elapses and no acknowledgment arrives, it's perfectly proper to phone or write an inquiry. If the gift went astray the store should be informed. If the gift arrived and the receiver is embarrassed—well, he deserves to be.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Policy Waited On Fallout In Event Of Atomic War

By GLENN WAIGHT

City firemen and police have studied some aspects of attack preparedness, but detailed policy apparently has yet to be set on specific reaction to approaching fallout in the event of atomic or nuclear war.

Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi said police have worked hand-in-hand with firemen and with medical officials on emergency situations, including establishment of first aid stations.

But in the event of attack on the industrial centers around East Liverpool's perimeter, the local department's main tasks would be traffic control and maintenance of emergency communications, the chief said.

Although no emergency power generator is available at City Hall, the police department could keep its radio system on the air.

One of the cruisers could be moved to headquarters and its mobile unit could be used as a base station, although the range is limited compared to the regular equipment, the chief said. In addition, the department has two battery - powered walkie - talkie units to supplement the units in its cruisers.

So even though a failure of conventional power puts the base station off the air, communications could continue on an emergency basis, the chief explained. Radio-equipped taxis could be commandeered for use as mobile emergency vehicles in the event of a national emergency.

"However, I feel a standby power generator is needed at City Hall to provide current to keep the regular transmitter on the air, as well as to provide light for the municipal offices, which would be the local nerve center in the event of a national emergency," the chief said.

The City Hall is to serve as headquarters for Civil Defense and for municipal government under the city program, but the building lacks adequate protection from fallout radiation, and at present has no food or water supplies. James Walker, city Civil Defense director, said plans are under way to get these supplies.

Referring to electric power, Walker said Ohio Power Co. officials have indicated current will probably continue for a while after a distant attack, until the turbo-generators run down for lack of steam pressure.

A nuclear bomb on Cleveland or Pittsburgh should not have an immediate effect on the local dial telephone system, Fred Edwards, Ohio Bell manager, said. Even long distance calls could probably be made through automatic re-routed circuits. But he said the effect of fallout on telephone systems has not been determined and that factor remains unclear.

Emergency and communications —when and if telephone service fails — would be available through the police and fire mobile units, some battery operated amateur radio transceivers, utilities trucks and Citizen Band transceivers of private citizens.

However there has been no formal organization of an emergency communications net — local "hams" are studying such a net in connection with the Red Cross —and there remains a real need for emergency power supplies for radio equipment.

Sgt. E. M. Mallery, commander at the Lisbon post of the Ohio Highway Patrol, said the patrol has established plans in event of an atomic attack.

Officers will remain on duty, directing traffic on evacuation routes, warning motorists and handling other emergency activities. The patrol has an emergency electricity generator at the barracks, so that its base transmitter will be available for communications.

The Lisbon post, however, does not yet have any Gieger counters or other radioactivity indicators, although this equipment has been ordered, and is expected shortly.

No specific detailed plans have been made for city firemen in event there is a distant bomb attack and the city is threatened only by fallout.

Fire Chief Charles Bryan said some of the firemen have had radiation defense training, and that firemen would remain on duty "if life or property were threatened."

He said Assistant Chief Alfred VanDyne has a radiation detector, but he knows of none elsewhere. Chief Bryan said preparations for nuclear attack will be among topics to be aired at a district firemen's meeting Saturday.

The fire chief said the fire department has an emergency power generator generally used for lighting which could be used to provide power for the base transmitter in order to provide radio contact.

Preliminary arrangements for emergency medical procedures, including formation of special teams, have been made through the City Hospital organization, Miss Nell Robinson, supervisor, said.

Plans are set for obtaining personnel for duty, reciprocal exchange with other area hospitals, certain evacuation measures and other preparations have been made, but the programming is not complete and policy not detailed for nuclear attack.

Pay Raise

Officer Smith acted as the committee's spokesman. He said the propositions and the research to back up the committee's arguments were the work of all members of the police department. Other members of the committee attending were Patrolman Floyd K. Heddleston, Jerry F. Adkins, and E. R. Furgason.

The committee cited the present wage scales of the police department: Chief, $5,400; captain, $4,800; lieutenants, $4,600, and patrolmen, $4,260.

It listed the wages paid in the adjoining cities of Midland, Salem and Wellsville and others from cities in Ohio ranging in population from 10,000 to 25,000.

Patrolmen's wages have remained at $355 monthly in East Liverpool for several years, although rates of pay for industrial workers and other police departments have gained steadily, the committee said in a resolution presented to Council.

Raising the officers' wages will enable them to regain their former standard of living and "retain their good credit in their home community," it added.

In many Ohio cities of comparable size, police receive as much as $1,000 more than local officers, the committee pointed out. East Liverpool is in the wage bracket followed by most cities of under 10,000 population, it added.

In connection with the request for longevity pay, Officer Smith declared there is no incentive for the officers to remain on their jobs. He said at present five men are thinking of leaving police work because of the low pay rates and are searching for other jobs.

"I know you are going to ask: 'Where is the money going to come from?" he said. "I am empowered by the police department to tell you that we're in favor of restoring the income tax, if necessary."

"We sympathize with you fellows," the committee was told by Edward Massey, a member of the finance committee. "We'll do everything we can for you. We realize we can't have a good police department without paying proper wages."

As the discussion ended, councilmen indicated they will take the police request under advisement.

Legion Plans Dinner, Fete

Plans for a past commanders dinner-dance March 6 were made at a meeting of Lawrenceville American Legion Post 163 Monday night.

Jack Adams of Wheeling, state commander, and Tommy Jones of Charleston, state adjutant, will be guests.

The post approved plans for sponsoring a Cub Scout Pack. Lunch was served 24 by Donald VanDyke and committee.

Intruder Takes Tools At Garage In East End

An intruder took a variety of tools from an unlocked East End garage while the family was absent from Friday to Monday, police were told last night.

Lee Kriner, 1502 Etruria St., told police the loss included a half-inch drill and attachments, a hammer, a spray gun and can, a German bayonet and a 6 - inch hunting knife with a sheath.

Kriner told police the garage door was left unlocked in the family's absence. There was no sign of forcible entry, police said. Kriner reported the theft last night at 8:45.

Flu Outbreak Shuts Schools In Plymouth

NORWALK, Ohio (AP) — An outbreak of flu-type ailments has resulted in closing of public schools in Plymouth for the rest of the week.

Maynard J. Coon, school superintendent, made the announcement Monday when illness kept 277 of the total enrollment of 1,201 pupils at home.

Meanwhile, absenteeism eased somewhat in the Fremont public schools in nearby Sandusky County. Only 736 pupils stayed home Monday because of flu and cold, compared with 1,139 Friday.

It's a shocking fact that many of our youngsters nowadays are so far under par that they can't pass simple physical fitness tests. They're in danger of becoming tomorrow's "soft Americans."

This danger is so real that President Kennedy has called for more emphasis on physical education. And the program of vigorous daily exercise recommended for all schools by the President's Council on Youth Fitness will get the kinks out of the kids. That's been proven in many schools.

See to it that your child gets proper exercise, every day, in his school. Urge your school board to adopt and carry out a vigorous program for physical development.

If it isn't doing so, find out why. Act at your next PTA meeting!

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Recently I was shocked to hear wild rumors about the husband of a good friend of mine. This couple have four lovely children and they seem to all the world very happy.

The story is that the husband is having an affair with the maid who lives in their home. She's half his age and a common, ordinary sexpot. The girl drives the family car and has really taken over. Some new neighbors thought she was their daughter until they were told the facts.

As an act of friendship I told the wife what everyone is saying behind her back. Her reply was: "If that little dumbbell wants to throw away her youth on a married man, what do I care? She does plenty of work."

What can we do to help?—DEAR FRIEND.

Dear Dear: Nobody asked me for help—and so far as I can determine, nobody asked you either.

If what the gossips say is true, someone will pay a dear price. But I'm not in favor of forcing "help" on people.

Sleepy Head

Dear Ann: I'm a 16-year-old school girl with a terrible problem. I can't get up in the morning.

My father goes to work at dawn. Then he sets the alarm clock for 7 a.m. and puts it on the floor next to my bed.

Please believe me when I tell you I cannot hear it ring. I've tried two alarm clocks and put them both under my pillow. I even placed an alarm clock in a pan so it would make more noise. Nothing works.

I've had my ears tested and they are perfect. My mother says I don't want to hear the alarm. I've been late for school so often it's embarrassing. Please help me.

—RISE AND SHINE.

Dear R&S: The key piece of information does not appear in your letter. What time do you get to bed at night?

It's my guess that you've fallen into the habit of staying up too late. When morning comes you're too konked to hear anything. I suggest you hit the pillow two hours earlier. A girl of 16 should be able to "Rise and Shine" after nine hours of sleep with no trouble.

Inconsiderate Boobs

Dear Ann: Please set me straight. Has saying "thank you for the gift" gone out of style or what? I've shopped for hours for just the right graduation gift and then I had to run into the person on the street to hear that it was received.

I'm still waiting to get an acknowledgment for two wedding gifts which were sent in November. My niece and two nephews plus one sister-in-law have not written to say our Christmas gifts arrived.

My husband says I should give for the joy of giving and not expect thanks. I'm not looking for thanks, Ann, all I want is to know whether or not the gifts arrived. Would it be rude (as he says) if I wrote and inquired?—IGNORED.

Dear Ignored: Anyone who won't take the time and trouble to acknowledge a gift is a 16-cylinder, 4-door slob.

It takes no longer to pick up the phone or drop a line and say "thank you" than it does to unwrap a gift.

If a reasonable time elapses and no acknowledgment arrives, it's perfectly proper to phone or write an inquiry. If the gift went astray the store should be informed. If the gift arrived and the receiver is embarrassed—well, he deserves to be.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Policy Waited On Fallout In Event Of Atomic War

By GLENN WAIGHT

City firemen and police have studied some aspects of attack preparedness, but detailed policy apparently has yet to be set on specific reaction to approaching fallout in the event of atomic or nuclear war.

Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi said police have worked hand-in-hand with firemen and with medical officials on emergency situations, including establishment of first aid stations.

But in the event of attack on the industrial centers around East Liverpool's perimeter, the local department's main tasks would be traffic control and maintenance of emergency communications, the chief said.

Although no emergency power generator is available at City Hall, the police department could keep its radio system on the air.

One of the cruisers could be moved to headquarters and its mobile unit could be used as a base station, although the range is limited compared to the regular equipment, the chief said. In addition, the department has two battery - powered walkie - talkie units to supplement the units in its cruisers.

So even though a failure of conventional power puts the base station off the air, communications could continue on an emergency basis, the chief explained. Radio-equipped taxis could be commandeered for use as mobile emergency vehicles in the event of a national emergency.

"However, I feel a standby power generator is needed at City Hall to provide current to keep the regular transmitter on the air, as well as to provide light for the municipal offices, which would be the local nerve center in the event of a national emergency," the chief said.

The City Hall is to serve as headquarters for Civil Defense and for municipal government under the city program, but the building lacks adequate protection from fallout radiation, and at present has no food or water supplies. James Walker, city Civil Defense director, said plans are under way to get these supplies.

Referring to electric power, Walker said Ohio Power Co. officials have indicated current will probably continue for a while after a distant attack, until the turbo-generators run down for lack of steam pressure.

A nuclear bomb on Cleveland or Pittsburgh should not have an immediate effect on the local dial telephone system, Fred Edwards, Ohio Bell manager, said. Even long distance calls could probably be made through automatic re-routed circuits. But he said the effect of fallout on telephone systems has not been determined and that factor remains unclear.

Emergency and communications —when and if telephone service fails — would be available through the police and fire mobile units, some battery operated amateur radio transceivers, utilities trucks and Citizen Band transceivers of private citizens.

However there has been no formal organization of an emergency communications net — local "hams" are studying such a net in connection with the Red Cross —and there remains a real need for emergency power supplies for radio equipment.

Sgt. E. M. Mallery, commander at the Lisbon post of the Ohio Highway Patrol, said the patrol has established plans in event of an atomic attack.

Officers will remain on duty, directing traffic on evacuation routes, warning motorists and handling other emergency activities. The patrol has an emergency electricity generator at the barracks, so that its base transmitter will be available for communications.

The Lisbon post, however, does not yet have any Gieger counters or other radioactivity indicators, although this equipment has been ordered, and is expected shortly.

No specific detailed plans have been made for city firemen in event there is a distant bomb attack and the city is threatened only by fallout.

Fire Chief Charles Bryan said some of the firemen have had radiation defense training, and that firemen would remain on duty "if life or property were threatened."

He said Assistant Chief Alfred VanDyne has a radiation detector, but he knows of none elsewhere. Chief Bryan said preparations for nuclear attack will be among topics to be aired at a district firemen's meeting Saturday.

The fire chief said the fire department has an emergency power generator generally used for lighting which could be used to provide power for the base transmitter in order to provide radio contact.

Preliminary arrangements for emergency medical procedures, including formation of special teams, have been made through the City Hospital organization, Miss Nell Robinson, supervisor, said.

Plans are set for obtaining personnel for duty, reciprocal exchange with other area hospitals, certain evacuation measures and other preparations have been made, but the programming is not complete and policy not detailed for nuclear attack.

Pay Raise

Officer Smith acted as the committee's spokesman. He said the propositions and the research to back up the committee's arguments were the work of all members of the police department. Other members of the committee attending were Patrolman Floyd K. Heddleston, Jerry F. Adkins, and E. R. Furgason.

The committee cited the present wage scales of the police department: Chief, $5,400; captain, $4,800; lieutenants, $4,600, and patrolmen, $4,260.

It listed the wages paid in the adjoining cities of Midland, Salem and Wellsville and others from cities in Ohio ranging in population from 10,000 to 25,000.

Patrolmen's wages have remained at $355 monthly in East Liverpool for several years, although rates of pay for industrial workers and other police departments have gained steadily, the committee said in a resolution presented to Council.

Raising the officers' wages will enable them to regain their former standard of living and "retain their good credit in their home community," it added.

In many Ohio cities of comparable size, police receive as much as $1,000 more than local officers, the committee pointed out. East Liverpool is in the wage bracket followed by most cities of under 10,000 population, it added.

In connection with the request for longevity pay, Officer Smith declared there is no incentive for the officers to remain on their jobs. He said at present five men are thinking of leaving police work because of the low pay rates and are searching for other jobs.

"I know you are going to ask: 'Where is the money going to come from?" he said. "I am empowered by the police department to tell you that we're in favor of restoring the income tax, if necessary."

"We sympathize with you fellows," the committee was told by Edward Massey, a member of the finance committee. "We'll do everything we can for you. We realize we can't have a good police department without paying proper wages."

As the discussion ended, councilmen indicated they will take the police request under advisement.

Legion Plans Dinner, Fete

Plans for a past commanders dinner-dance March 6 were made at a meeting of Lawrenceville American Legion Post 163 Monday night.

Jack Adams of Wheeling, state commander, and Tommy Jones of Charleston, state adjutant, will be guests.

Plans were discussed for a formal program to properly dispose of wornout American flags June 14 at the post.

The Grant District Burial Group will conduct a post everlasting ceremony at the post's anniversary celebration March 17.

The post approved plans for sponsoring a Cub Scout Pack. Lunch was served 24 by Donald VanDyke and committee.

Intruder Takes Tools At Garage In East End

An intruder took a variety of tools from an unlocked East End garage while the family was absent from Friday to Monday, police were told last night.

Lee Kriner, 1502 Etruria St., told police the loss included a half-inch drill and attachments, a hammer, a spray gun and can, a German bayonet and a 6 - inch hunting knife with a sheath.

Kriner told police the garage door was left unlocked in the family's absence. There was no sign of forcible entry, police said. Kriner reported the theft last night at 8:45.

Flu Outbreak Shuts Schools In Plymouth

NORWALK, Ohio (AP) — An outbreak of flu-type ailments has resulted in closing of public schools in Plymouth for the rest of the week.

Maynard J. Coon, school superintendent, made the announcement Monday when illness kept 277 of the total enrollment of 1,201 pupils at home.

Meanwhile, absenteeism eased somewhat in the Fremont public schools in nearby Sandusky County. Only 736 pupils stayed home Monday because of flu and cold, compared with 1,139 Friday.

It's a shocking fact that many of our youngsters nowadays are so far under par that they can't pass simple physical fitness tests. They're in danger of becoming tomorrow's "soft Americans."

This danger is so real that President Kennedy has called for more emphasis on physical education. And the program of vigorous daily exercise recommended for all schools by the President's Council on Youth Fitness will get the kinks out of the kids. That's been proven in many schools.

See to it that your child gets proper exercise, every day, in his school. Urge your school board to adopt and carry out a vigorous program for physical development.

If it isn't doing so, find out why. Act at your next PTA meeting!

sioner's post which will be filled this year.

William Weir of Perry Township, operator of a Salem wallpaper and paint store, filed last week. James Boyd of St. Clair Ave., Ext., has announced he also will seek the GOP nomination.

The incumbent commissioner, Frank Wilson, Wellsville Democrat, filed earlier.

Wallace also is the second to enter the race for state senator on the GOP ticket. Allen Dalrymple of Wellsville already has filed and Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers filed today for the same post, confirming a previous announcement.

State Sen. Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry has filed on the Democratic ticket for another term and State Sen. Edmund Sargus of St. Clairsville has announced he also will seek the Democratic nomination.

Because of reapportionment this year, only one state senator will be elected in the district.

Out Of The Air

ALAN GILL

At The Crossroads

"Hello," his earliest routine began, "my name is Orson Bean, Harvard '48." And he would quickly add: "Yale, nothing."

The fact is, he never went to college. But, in the little clubs where he made his reputation, he seemed the embodiment of the "Lampoon" editor turned loose on the smart set. The voice, after all, was pure Cambridge, Mass., the manner was undergraduate, the hair style was crew, and the jackets had three buttons on them.

"WHAT I DID," he says, "is stand up there with my magic act (I'd make a eucalyptus tree out of a newspaper) and paint little word pictures (about those lousy little pet toads that died on me when I was a kid) and then throw in an occasional shocker. Something in the vein of Mel Silverstein.

"Remember the Silverstein cartoon of the two guys hanging up there on the wall of a dungeon? There's no door, just a grill in the ceiling and somebody throws a bone down through it once in awhile. One prisoner—long whiskers, clothes in shreds—is saying, 'I've got a plan.' "

HE HAS CHANGED little over the years. His face is still a face you can cut bread with. (And his off-camera vocabulary will toast it for you, if you wish.) But his hair is now that of a poet, with precise waves and impressive sideburns.

"I haven't worn a crew cut in years," he says. "And every day one of my friends will give me a surprised look and say, 'Hey, since when did you let your hair grow?' I could grow a beard and nobody'd notice."

Orson Bean wants somebody to notice. He's not just a standup comedian any more, he's an actor —at least a part-time actor. (He is employed currently as a funny man in the Broadway musical, "Subways Are for Sleeping," and succeeds in stopping the show at least twice.)

WHEN I RAN into him the other day, he was Bean the actor, down on Wall Street for a "Naked City" episode called "To Walk Like a Lion," in which he plays a meek embezzler. It'll be a few weeks before this little melodrama shows up on your TV screen.

If he had a chance to play a homicidal maniac, I asked him, would he take it?

"I'd love it! Jump at it!"

And why is a funny man so willing to—well, at least temporarily—abandon comedy? Orson Bean is a few years older than he once was, and he's not at all sure of his point of view.

"I don't write my stuff out of headlines any more," he says. "I don't know what I think. Everybody's so jumpy, you know. Times Square is neon, pizza pie, rock 'n' roll, and those kids who walk along through all of this with a transistor radio up to their ears.

WHAT WOULD HE like to do?

"Oh, outside of a good acting part, I'd like to do a Henry Morgan-Orson Bean show. Just shooting the breeze. Henry knows I love him. And when he knows there's no resentment around the place, he's great.

"But more than that, I'd like to set a new record in young, affluent retirement. I'd have all my friends in every night and serve magnificent drinks and play — here he furrows his bread-knife profile and shoots his voice from the back teeth—"dirty charades."

You make a picture. Then you make a trailer for the picture that runs an hour and you show it on TV. Then you throw a party for the trailer for the picture and you show that, too.

Well, UPA, that other cartoon studio out there in Hollywood, is trying its hand at same. First, it's doing a "Magoo's Christmas Carol," with Mr. Magoo as Scrooge and Gerald McBoing-Boing as Tiny Tim, and that's just fine. (NBC is making sounds about this one.)

But then there's a movie-house cartoon they're doing called "Gay Pur-ee," and UPA is very seriously considering, for TV, a "Gay Pur-ee Party," a la Disney. Lots of stars, lots of trailers, lots of exploitation.

Well, if you're going to imitate Disney, I feel, you should imitate the best of Disney.

NAACP Sets Meeting Date For First Friday

Meetings were set for the first Friday of each month at 7:30 p.m. when the East Liverpool Branch of the NAACP met Friday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Spencer of Pennsylvania Ave.

Officers and committee members for the new year are Mrs. Spencer, president; Mrs. Elizabeth Carter, corresponding secretary; John Fitch, treasurer; Mrs. Louise Fitch, membership; Mrs. Annie Mae Jones, church and education; Mrs. Carter, program and entertainment; John Fitch, finance, and Mrs. Daisy L. Carswell of Wellsville, publicity and press. Other officers and committees remain as elected last year.

The meeting March 2 will be at the Spencer home. Wellsville members of the NAACP are included in the East Liverpool branch.

3 City Youths Get Penalties

Two East Liverpool area youths were sentenced Monday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for stealing hubcaps and driving a stolen car and a third, 15, was fined for shoplifting.

A 17-year-old Beaver Local High School boy, one of the two, was given two weeks detention in the County Jail and fined $25. After his release, he must obey a 5 p. m. curfew for the next four months and must report to Juvenile Officer Chris Pusey. The boy stole 16 hubcaps from five different cars last year.

His companion, a 16-year-old, was fined $25 and put on a 5 p.m. curfew for two months. He is not to apply for a driver's license until two months after his 17th birthday. He was charged with driving a stolen car.

The two youths were arrested after three other youths, apprehended for 22 burglaries and hubcap stealings, involved them.

The 15-year-old was fined $25 and given a 5 p.m. curfew for the next seven months.

He admitted stealing a transistor radio and then returning it damaged the next day at the store. He also took candy and silver from stores in East Liverpool.

His parents are separated and his father is in a Veterans' Hospital. As soon as he is released from the hospital, they are going back together again for the good of the children, court was told.

Gas Rate Refund Due Midland Customers

Midland customers of the Peoples Natural Gas Co. are due to share with other Western Pennsylvania gas users in a $3 million refund the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission is expected to order soon.

The refund will be the result of a five-year rate case involving the United Gas Pipe Line Co. of Shreveport, La. The PUC said Monday at Harrisburg it has agreed to the settlement subject to Federal Power Commission approval.

Six cases figure in the settlement and a seventh against United Pipe Line still pending could result not only in an additional refund but a new reduction in rates. United Gas Line will refund to Texas Eastern Transmission Co., which will in turn reimburse the area distributing firms. These distributors will then reimburse customers.

National Beauty Salon Week Program Will Open Sunday

The schedule of events for the observance of National Beauty Salon Week which begins Sunday, has been announced by Unit 15 of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

A kick-off breakfast will be held Monday morning at 10:30 at the Travelers Hotel. Mrs. Betty Masters will be crowned "Queen Of Cosmetology" and will reign for the remainder of the week.

In the afternoon, members of the unit will go to area rest homes to cut, style and wave the hair of the residents. Another group will remain in their salons to take care of the hair of needy orphans and retarded children.

A disc jockey will conduct a public "Twist Hop" Tuesday night from 7:30 to 10:30 at the Lake Marwin dance hall.

The highlight of the week will be a Hair Fashion Show at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at Westgate School auditorium. The program will include a "Teen Queen Contest," a "Fantasy Hair Parade," an "Artists Variety Styles" and a "Hair Color Parade."

Another contest will be held to choose a "Student of Cosmetology." This winner and the prize will be announced from the stage. Runners-up in the teen-queen contest will form her court and receive gifts.

On Thursday evening from 6:30 until 8:30, there will be a parade of models in the window of the Frank Crook Co.

Clarence Gilbert is general chairman for the week. Mrs. Eileen Oates is in charge of the welfare work and Mrs. Corrine Hall, publicity. Complete committees will be announced following a meeting Wednesday at Tice's Restaurant.

Porter Firm Named In Suit For Damages

Seven suits against 26 electrical equipment manufacturers involved in anti-trust violations last year have been filed by the six operating electric utility companies of the American Electric Power System, including Ohio Power Co.

The suits, filed in the U. S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, ask the court to determine the amount of damages sustained as the result of the alleged overpricing by the manufacturers and to award treble damages, plus litigation costs.

The five system companies, in addition to Ohio Power, are Appalachian Power Co., Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., Kentucky Power Co., Kingsport Utilities, Inc., and Wheeling Electric Co.

Defendants in the various suits include H. K. Porter Co., Inc., of Pittsburgh, which operates area brick plants as well as the Delta-Star Electric plant at Lisbon.

Student Choir Hears Concert At Pittsburgh

The 40-member A Cappella Choir of Wellsville High School attended a concert by the Concordia Choir of Moorehead, Minn., Saturday night at the Carnegie Music Hall at Pittsburgh.

Miss Phyllis Zimmerman, director, said the choir was given tickets to the performance by Ivan Fergason, a Pittsburgh architect and musician.

Following the concert, members of the choir met with Paul Christiansen, the director, who spoke briefly. The students also presented a gift to Fergason in appreciation of his donation. The trip was made by bus.

Autoist Fined At Wellsville

Two Wellsville men were fined this morning by Mayor William Daugherty following an auto accident Monday night in which one was hurt slightly.

Grover J. Stasel of Nevada St. was fined $150 and costs and given a mandatory three-day jail term on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

His companion, Robert M. Mullinex, 1311 Main St., Wellsville, who suffered a laceration of the forehead and scalp, was fined $15 and costs on an intoxication charge.

Mullinex was treated at City Hospital following the mishap and released.

Carl Graham Files For Chester Council

Graham, employe of the Homer Laughlin China Co., is a native of Wood County and has resided in Chester 31 years.

He served with an infantry unit for 4½ years in World War II, including 33 months in Alaska and the Aleutians.

He is a member of the American Legion, VFW Post 6450, First Christian Church Board and Chester Masonic Lodge and is a 32nd Degree Mason.

He is also a committeeman for Boy Scout Troop 26, and is president of the Chester-Newell Farmers and Sportsmen's Club. He is married and making his first bid in politics.

USW Executive Unit To Submit Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The executive board of the United Steelworkers Union — operating in almost complete secrecy—resumed talks today to draft proposals for a new contract with the basic steel industry.

USW President David J. McDonald presided over the 34-member board Monday as it opened the two-day conference in a downtown hotel.

Decisions on demands and strategy reached by the board will be submitted to the 170 - man wage policy committee Wednesday for approval.

Hammondsville Guest Honored With Party

Family members were present. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Furbee of Toronto R. D. and Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Mathias and William Lutton of Irondale.

Sentence Equals Driver's 7 Days Without License

A man who admitted he had been driving a car a week without a license drew a "reciprocal" seven - day term in County Jail today from Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Robert Donahue of Dresden Ave. Ext. was arrested Monday at 3:40 p.m. in Peach Alley, police reported. Queried by the judge, Donahue said he never had a driver's permit. He said he had been driving a week without a license.

The judge commented he felt a fair sentence would be a day in jail for each day Donahue drove without a permit. He lectured the defendant on highway safety, pointing out 30 persons lost their lives in Ohio traffic crashes last weekend.

Meanwhile, Roy P. Young, 44, of Shadyside Ave. was fined $20 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a speeding charge. Young was cited Friday at 9:20 p. m. on Route 7 by the State Highway Patrol.

ALAN GILL

At The Crossroads

"Hello," his earliest routine began, "my name is Orson Bean, Harvard '48." And he would quickly add: "Yale, nothing."

The fact is, he never went to college. But, in the little clubs where he made his reputation, he seemed the embodiment of the "Lampoon" editor turned loose on the smart set. The voice, after all, was pure Cambridge, Mass., the manner was undergraduate, the hair style was crew, and the jackets had three buttons on them.

WHAT I DID," he says, "is stand up there with my magic act (I'd make a eucalyptus tree out of a newspaper) and paint little word pictures (about those lousy little pet toads that died on me when I was a kid) and then throw in an occasional shocker. Something in the vein of Mel Silverstein.

"Remember the Silverstein cartoon of the two guys hanging up there on the wall of a dungeon? There's no door, just a grill in the ceiling and somebody throws a bone down through it once in awhile. One prisoner—long whiskers, clothes in shreds—is saying, 'I've got a plan.' "

HE HAS CHANGED little over the years. His face is still a face you can cut bread with. (And his off-camera vocabulary will toast it for you, if you wish.) But his hair is now that of a poet, with precise waves and impressive sideburns.

"I haven't worn a crew cut in years," he says. "And every day one of my friends will give me a surprised look and say, 'Hey, since when did you let your hair grow?' I could grow a beard and nobody'd notice."

Orson Bean wants somebody to notice. He's not just a standup comedian any more, he's an actor —at least a part-time actor. (He is employed currently as a funny man in the Broadway musical, "Subways Are for Sleeping," and succeeds in stopping the show at least twice.)

WHEN I RAN into him the other day, he was Bean the actor, down on Wall Street for a "Naked City" episode called "To Walk Like a Lion," in which he plays a meek embezzler. It'll be a few weeks before this little melodrama shows up on your TV screen.

If he had a chance to play a homicidal maniac, I asked him, would he take it?

"I'd love it! Jump at it!"

And why is a funny man so willing to—well, at least temporarily—abandon comedy? Orson Bean is a few years older than he once was, and he's not at all sure of his point of view.

"I don't write my stuff out of headlines any more," he says.

"I don't know what I think. Everybody's so jumpy, you know. Times Square is neon, pizza pie, rock 'n' roll, and those kids who walk along through all of this with a transistor radio up to their ears.

WHAT WOULD HE like to do?

"Oh, outside of a good acting part, I'd like to do a Henry Morgan-Orson Bean show. Just shooting the breeze. Henry knows I love him. And when he knows there's no resentment around the place, he's great.

"But more than that, I'd like to set a new record in young, affluent retirement. I'd have all my friends in every night and serve magnificent drinks and play — here he furrows his bread-knife profile and shoots his voice from the back teeth—"dirty charades."

You make a picture. Then you make a trailer for the picture that runs an hour and you show it on TV. Then you throw a party for the trailer for the picture and you show that, too.

Well, UPA, that other cartoon studio out there in Hollywood, is trying its hand at same. First, it's doing a "Magoo's Christmas Carol," with Mr. Magoo as Scrooge and Gerald McBoing-Boing as Tiny Tim, and that's just fine. (NBC is making sounds about this one.)

But then there's a movie-house cartoon they're doing called "Gay Pur-ee," and UPA is very seriously considering, for TV, a "Gay Pur-ee Party," a la Disney. Lots of stars, lots of trailers, lots of exploitation.

Well, if you're going to imitate Disney, I feel, you should imitate the best of Disney.

NAACP Sets Meeting Date For First Friday

Meetings were set for the first Friday of each month at 7:30 p.m. when the East Liverpool Branch of the NAACP met Friday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Spencer of Pennsylvania Ave.

Officers and committee members for the new year are Mrs. Spencer, president; Mrs. Elizabeth Carter, corresponding secretary; John Fitch, treasurer; Mrs. Louise Fitch, membership; Mrs. Annie Mae Jones, church and education; Mrs. Carter, program and entertainment; John Fitch, finance, and Mrs. Daisy L. Carswell of Wellsville, publicity and press. Other officers and committees remain as elected last year.

The meeting March 2 will be at the Spencer home. Wellsville members of the NAACP are included in the East Liverpool branch.

3 City Youths Get Penalties

Two East Liverpool area youths were sentenced Monday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for stealing hubcaps and driving a stolen car and a third, 15, was fined for shoplifting.

A 17-year-old Beaver Local High School boy, one of the two, was given two weeks detention in the County Jail and fined $25. After his release, he must obey a 5 p. m. curfew for the next four months and must report to Juvenile Officer Chris Pusey. The boy stole 16 hubcaps from five different cars last year.

His companion, a 16-year-old, was fined $25 and put on a 5 p.m. curfew for two months. He is not to apply for a driver's license until two months after his 17th birthday. He was charged with driving a stolen car.

The two youths were arrested after three other youths, apprehended for 22 burglaries and hubcap stealings, involved them.

The 15-year-old was fined $25 and given a 5 p.m. curfew for the next seven months.

He admitted stealing a transistor radio and then returning it damaged the next day at the store. He also took candy and silver from stores in East Liverpool.

His parents are separated and his father is in a Veterans' Hospital. As soon as he is released from the hospital, they are going back together again for the good of the children, court was told.

Gas Rate Refund Due Midland Customers

Midland customers of the Peoples Natural Gas Co. are due to share with other Western Pennsylvania gas users in a $3 million refund the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission is expected to order soon.

The refund will be the result of a five-year rate case involving the United Gas Pipe Line Co. of Shreveport, La. The PUC said Monday at Harrisburg it has agreed to the settlement subject to Federal Power Commission approval.

Six cases figure in the settlement and a seventh against United Pipe Line still pending could result not only in an additional refund but a new reduction in rates. United Gas Line will refund to Texas Eastern Transmission Co., which will in turn reimburse the area distributing firms. These distributors will then reimburse customers.

National Beauty Salon Week Program Will Open Sunday

The schedule of events for the observance of National Beauty Salon Week which begins Sunday, has been announced by Unit 15 of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

A kick-off breakfast will be held Monday morning at 10:30 at the Travelers Hotel. Mrs. Betty Masters will be crowned "Queen Of Cosmetology" and will reign for the remainder of the week.

In the afternoon, members of the unit will go to area rest homes to cut, style and wave the hair of the residents. Another group will remain in their salons to take care of the hair of needy orphans and retarded children.

A disc jockey will conduct a public "Twist Hop" Tuesday night from 7:30 to 10:30 at the Lake Marwin dance hall.

The highlight of the week will be a Hair Fashion Show at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at Westgate School auditorium. The program will include a "Teen Queen Contest," a "Fantasy Hair Parade," an "Artists Variety Styles" and a "Hair Color Parade."

Another contest will be held to choose a "Student of Cosmetology." This winner and the prize will be announced from the stage. Runners-up in the teen-queen contest will form her court and receive gifts.

On Thursday evening from 6:30 until 8:30, there will be a parade of models in the window of the Frank Crook Co.

Clarence Gilbert is general chairman for the week. Mrs. Eileen Oates is in charge of the welfare work and Mrs. Corrine Hall, publicity. Complete committees will be announced following a meeting Wednesday at Tice's Restaurant.

Porter Firm Named In Suit For Damages

Seven suits against 26 electrical equipment manufacturers involved in anti-trust violations last year have been filed by the six operating electric utility companies of the American Electric Power System, including Ohio Power Co.

The suits, filed in the U. S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, ask the court to determine the amount of damages sustained as the result of the alleged overpricing by the manufacturers and to award treble damages, plus litigation costs.

The five system companies, in addition to Ohio Power, are Appalachian Power Co., Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., Kentucky Power Co., Kingsport Utilities, Inc., and Wheeling Electric Co.

Defendants in the various suits include H. K. Porter Co., Inc., of Pittsburgh, which operates area brick plants as well as the Delta-Star Electric plant at Lisbon.

Student Choir Hears Concert At Pittsburgh

The 40-member A Cappella Choir of Wellsville High School attended a concert by the Concordia Choir of Moorehead, Minn., Saturday night at the Carnegie Music Hall at Pittsburgh.

Miss Phyllis Zimmerman, director, said the choir was given tickets to the performance by Ivan Fergason, a Pittsburgh architect and musician.

Following the concert, members of the choir met with Paul Christiansen, the director, who spoke briefly. The students also presented a gift to Fergason in appreciation of his donation. The trip was made by bus.

Autoist Fined At Wellsville

Two Wellsville men were fined this morning by Mayor William Daugherty following an auto accident Monday night in which one was hurt slightly.

Grover J. Stasel of Nevada St. was fined $150 and costs and given a mandatory three-day jail term on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

His companion, Robert M. Mullinex, 1311 Main St., Wellsville, who suffered a laceration of the forehead and scalp, was fined $15 and costs on an intoxication charge.

Mullinex was treated at City Hospital following the mishap and released.

Carl Graham Files For Chester Council

Graham, employe of the Homer Laughlin China Co., is a native of Wood County and has resided in Chester 31 years.

He served with an infantry unit for 4½ years in World War II, including 33 months in Alaska and the Aleutians.

He is a member of the American Legion, VFW Post 6450, First Christian Church Board and Chester Masonic Lodge and is a 32nd Degree Mason.

He is also a committeeman for Boy Scout Troop 26, and is president of the Chester-Newell Farmers and Sportsmen's Club. He is married and making his first bid in politics.

USW Executive Unit To Submit Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The executive board of the United Steelworkers Union — operating in almost complete secrecy—resumed talks today to draft proposals for a new contract with the basic steel industry.

USW President David J. McDonald presided over the 34-member board Monday as it opened the two-day conference in a downtown hotel.

Decisions on demands and strategy reached by the board will be submitted to the 170 - man wage policy committee Wednesday for approval.

Hammondsville Guest Honored With Party

Family members were present. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Furbee of Toronto R. D. and Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Mathias and William Lutton of Irondale.

Sentence Equals Driver's 7 Days Without License

A man who admitted he had been driving a car a week without a license drew a "reciprocal" seven - day term in County Jail today from Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Robert Donahue of Dresden Ave. Ext. was arrested Monday at 3:40 p.m. in Peach Alley, police reported. Queried by the judge, Donahue said he never had a driver's permit. He said he had been driving a week without a license.

The judge commented he felt a fair sentence would be a day in jail for each day Donahue drove without a permit. He lectured the defendant on highway safety, pointing out 30 persons lost their lives in Ohio traffic crashes last weekend.

Meanwhile, Roy P. Young, 44, of Shadyside Ave. was fined $20 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a speeding charge. Young was cited Friday at 9:20 p. m. on Route 7 by the State Highway Patrol.

Cumberland Women To Give Card Party

Stanton Local Remains In Lofty 2nd Spot

The Sports Bench

By BOB DUFFY
Sports Editor

A 'Little Man' Speaks Up . . .

In this day of the big men in basketball — Chamberlain, Baylor, Lucas, etc. — it is encouraging to see a little man come up with some high scoring nights.

We are referring to the weekend flurry turned in by Newell's Dave Bell, who is a real midget of the game, standing 5-foot-9.

All-state time is fast approaching and the Northern Panhandle often is overlooked when the selections are made. The primary objective of basketball is to put the ball through the hoop. The two Newell cagers have excelled in this phase of the game. Both certainly deserve all-state consideration.

Dave, the son of Harry Bell racing secretary of Waterford Park, poured in 86 points in two weekend games.

His 47 points against Cameron were the most scored in the district this season, even surpassing the feats of another big fellow, 6-foot-7 Don Spires of Stanton Local, who flipped in 41 against Newell several weeks ago.

Bell's total for 16 games is 349, for an average of 21.8. Staley remains as the top scorer of the club with 378 markers, or a 23.6 average.

Coach John Robison will have Bell back next season. Staley, a senior, has been a regular at Newell since his freshman season.

SPEAKING OF smaller cagers, Tom Kraft, who measures 5-foot-7, sparked the Potters Saturday night, but his effort wasn't enough.

He drilled in five of his first six shots, then went on to score 16 points in only 21 minutes of playing time.

ELHS Must Hustle To Hit .500 . . .

Several mental mistakes also helped in the latest downfall.

Coach Jim Harris just shook his head in the lockerroom after the game and said, "There isn't any excuse for what went on out there tonight."

East Liverpool's latest performances were just reversed from the game turned in against Canton McKinley on the previous weekend.

We never have seen a team run so hot then cool off so fast. The Potters will have to hustle to even break even this season.

Six games remain on the 18-game schedule. The Potters have a good chance of defeating Toronto Friday night, while Canton Central, Saturday's opponent, is a big question mark.

Victories over Martins Ferry, Bellaire and Weirton are doubtful. ELHS has a return match with Wellsville at the M-A. The Potters already have mastered the Tigers once. The Potters are 5-7.

Larry Bruno Honored . . .

AN EAST Liverpool native, who hit the jackpot at Beaver Falls as its head football coach, was honored Monday night by the Rochester Letterman's Club at its annual sports smoker.

In three seasons at Beaver Falls his teams ran off two undefeated seasons, 1960 and 1961, and captured the WPIAL title in 1960.

About 300 attended and among the star studded list of guests were Mike Ditka, former Pitt star who was voted rookie-of-the-year in the NFL last season; Dick Mills of Beaver and the Detroit Lions; Fritzie Zivic, former world boxing champ from Pittsburgh, Milt Plum, quarterback for the Cleveland Browns, Tito Francona of the Cleveland Indians and from the Pittsburgh Pirates were Dick Stuart and Elroy Face.

Attending from East Liverpool were Chuck Winters, a brother-in-law of Bruno's, and Municipal Judge Sam Chertoff.

Stanton Meets Old Rival; Midland Seeks 20th Win

A turn-away crowd is expected at Irondale as the No. 2 rated team in Ohio guns for its 16th consecutive victory. The Red Raiders conquered Springfield (13-3) earlier this year at Springfield.

Tonight's light card also finds Midland (19-0) visiting Freedom for a Section 8 battle, and Wellsville High's Tigers (5-8) seeking to rebound against Steubenville Central Catholic (11-2) at Beacom Memorial gym.

Hank Kuzma's Midland Leopards are favored to whip Freedom and retain their position atop the Section 8 standings. Freedom is 4-5 in the loop, in fourth place in the eight-team field.

Al Aloi, carrying an average of 18.4 points per game, will lead the Leopards in search of their 20th straight win.

Wellsville High catches Steubenville Central on the way to its best season in years. The Crusaders posted weekend victories over Weirton Madonna, 55-43, and Follansbee, 67-49, and need only one more victory to match the best previous Central record.

Junior center Steve Baldwin, with an 18 point average per game, is the biggest threat for the Tigers. Wellsville is headed towards its first losing season since 1957-58, McDevitt's first year at the helm. The defending Sectional AA champs have had records of 14-7, 16-5, and 13-8 since then.

Two other games tonight find high-scoring Newell at Salineville and Peters Township at South Side.

Newell (10-6) is favored to trim Salineville (1-13) behind the scoring punch of Dave Bell and Mick Staley. Each is averaging over 21 points a game.

Newell's Dave Bell has climbed from seventh to third in the district's individual scoring race with some sensational efforts of late. And teammate Staley remains in second place, giving Coach Robison's Vikings a tremendous scoring wallop.

Stanton's Don Spires, 6-7, center continues to lead all district cagers with 395 points for a dazzling 26.2 average. Staley is second with 23.5, and Bell third with 21.8.

East Tech, Ayersville Top Voting

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Ohio's sports editors are right, there's going to be a star-spangled, free-for-all fight for the Southwest District's lone spot in the Class AA division of the state high school basketball tournament.

The scribes—45 of them voting in the weekly Associated Press poll—decided today that five of the top ten teams in the state are from the southwestern area, which has captured 19 of the 39 big school titles since the championship races were launched in 1923.

Cleveland East Tech's 1958-59 champs continued to lead the poll, the Scarabs stretching their slim lead to 14 poll points over Hamilton Taft on the 10-9-8 etc. voting basis.

Three newcomers, all from the southwestern area, moved into the elite list today to join runner-up Taft and third-place Urbana. Dayton Roosevelt eased into the sixth spot, Xenia claimed eighth and Dayton Chaminade grabbed 10th.

Ayersville's Pilots, champions in 1957 and 1961, continued to rule Class A with an iron hand. The Defiance County crew ran its string to 18 games and piled up 279 poll points to runnerup Stanton Local's 132. A newcomer — Alger with a 16-0 record—made its first appearance by roaring into fourth place.

Massillon defeated Alliance 57-50, using the 30-second rule innovation, and clinched at least a tie for the Big Eight Conference title as it ran its loop mark to 4-1. Also in the league are Canton McKinley, Warren, Niles, Salem, Steubenville and East Liverpool.

Tragedy struck on the Ohio hardwoods last week when Jim Lymper, 51, of Mansfield, one of the state's best known officials, died while handling the Huron-Willard game.

Hamilton Taft beat its cross-town rival, Garfield, 64-57, and then handed Wilmington its second loss, 98-80. Wilmington had lost previously only to unbeaten Xenia Central.

Here's How Writers Voted Ohio Teams

OSU Streaks To 17th Straight

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

The current band of the all-conquering Buckeyes is streaking along in devastating fashion with 17 straight victories. No. 17 came Monday night at home—an impressive 89-63 lacing of Iowa in a Big Ten conference game that gave them undisputed possession of first place in the league.

Just a year ago, Jerry Lucas & Co. were doing the same thing—winning at will. They had put together a tidy string of 32 triumphs in a row, five of them at the end of the 1960 campaign en route to the national championship.

The Bucks captured 27 straight last season and needed only a win over Cincinnati in the NCAA final for a 28-0 undefeated slate and a 33-game skein. The Bearcats upended Ohio State 70-65 in overtime.

Coach Fred Taylor's lads from Columbus are back in business again, and the way they're going they're going to be mighty hard to stop. The Buckeyes have a 7-0 Big Ten record and have seven more games to play—all league games.

If the Buckeyes sweep their seven remaining games and the four games in the NCAA championships, they'll wind up with a 28-0 mark. Only three other major teams ever have finished a season unbeaten—Kentucky in 1954, San Francisco in 1956 and North Carolina in 1957.

The Buckeyes built a 41-11 bulge over Iowa, led at halftime 52-26 and coasted in. Jerry Lucas was high for the winners with 24 points in 27 minutes but Iowa's Don Nelson topped all scorers with 29.

Mississippi State, ranked ninth in the current Associated Press poll and the only other top 10 team in action Monday night, thrashed Tulane 70-59 for its 17th victory in 18 outings. Leland Mitchell paced State with 29 points.

Colorado's Big Eight leaders turned back Oklahoma 54-50 for their sixth straight league triumph as Jim Davis iced the verdict with four successful free throws in the stretch. Arizona State University ran its league record to 6-0 and grabbed at least a share of the Border Conference crown with a 94-70 decision over New Mexico State.

In other games, Nick Werkman of Seton Hall, the nation's second leading scorer with a 33-point average, collected 40 points in a 96-59 win over Upsala; Cliff Luyk caged 40 points before fouling out to spark Florida to a 92-83 win over Tennessee; Michigan broke Wisconsin's five-game Big Ten winning streak 81-74 and dropped the Badgers 1½ games behind Ohio State as Tom Cole hit for 23 points; Davidson stretched its victory string to 12 in handing Richmond a 55-52 Southern Conference reversal, and Dave Downey's 28 points triggered Illinois to an 89-80 Big Ten triumph over Minnesota.

Elsewhere: Auburn rallied in the second half to trip Georgia Tech 48-39 in an SEC game, Oklahoma City outlasted West Texas State 129-106 behind Larry Jones' 31-point outburst; Providence (13-4) overcame a 10-0 deficit and went on to whip Lemoyne 53-46 for its eighth consecutive triumph; Nebraska shaded Oklahoma State 57-56 behind clutch shooting by Tom Russell and Missouri subdued Kansas 79-66 in a pair of Big Eight games; Howard Pardue accounted for 30-points—including the decisive basket—in Virginia Tech's 74-72 squeaker over Furman in a Southern Conference test and Jon Feldman's 35-point harvest was instrumental in George Washington's 82-75 licking of Virginia.

In the only other game on the Ohio front Monday night, Ohio Northern defeated Findlay 76-57 and moved into a tie with Ashland for the lead in the Mid-Ohio League.

The Bears now have a 7-1 mark in the league and are 14-3 overall. Findlay is 3-5 and 6-9 in the two categories.

Northern had five players in double figures as they led all the way. High-point honors, however, went to Findlay's Willie Tuggle who scored 17.

Kent State Forfeits One Cage Victory

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Kent State University, which had won two basketball games so far this season, forfeited one of them after discovering that sophomore guard Bob Coen was academically ineligible.

Coen, of South Bend, Ind., has been ineligible since Dec. 16, but, because of an error in evaluating grades, he was kept on the squad, a spokesman said Monday.

Forfeited was the game the Golden Flashes won Dec. 29 in the consolation finals of the Canton Invitational Tournament, when they defeated West Virginia Wesleyan 79-57. Coen played in that game.

Kent had compiled a 2-12 record and was 0-7 in the Mid-American Conference. "In a way, you can say it's fortunate we haven't been doing so well this year," a spokesman observed.

Coen has been averaging nine points a game and was considered "the sixth man on the squad," the spokesman said.

A 'Little Man' Speaks Up . . .

All-state time is fast approaching and the Northern Panhandle often is overlooked when the selections are made. The primary objective of basketball is to put the ball through the hoop. The two Newell cagers have excelled in this phase of the game. Both certainly deserve all-state consideration.

His 47 points against Cameron were the most scored in the district this season, even surpassing the feats of another big fellow, 6-foot-7 Don Spires of Stanton Local, who flipped in 41 against Newell several weeks ago.

Bell's total for 16 games is 349, for an average of 21.8. Staley remains as the top scorer of the club with 378 markers, or a 23.6 average.

Coach John Robison will have Bell back next season. Staley, a senior, has been a regular at Newell since his freshman season.

SPEAKING OF smaller cagers, Tom Kraft, who measures 5-foot-7, sparked the Potters Saturday night, but his effort wasn't enough.

He drilled in five of his first six shots, then went on to score 16 points in only 21 minutes of playing time.

ELHS Must Hustle To Hit .500 . . .

Several mental mistakes also helped in the latest downfall.

East Liverpool's latest performances were just reversed from the game turned in against Canton McKinley on the previous weekend.

We never have seen a team run so hot then cool off so fast. The Potters will have to hustle to even break even this season.

Six games remain on the 18-game schedule. The Potters have a good chance of defeating Toronto Friday night, while Canton Central, Saturday's opponent, is a big question mark.

Victories over Martins Ferry, Bellaire and Weirton are doubtful. ELHS has a return match with Wellsville at the M-A. The Potters already have mastered the Tigers once. The Potters are 5-7.

Larry Bruno Honored . . .

AN EAST Liverpool native, who hit the jackpot at Beaver Falls as its head football coach, was honored Monday night by the Rochester Letterman's Club at its annual sports smoker.

In three seasons at Beaver Falls his teams ran off two undefeated seasons, 1960 and 1961, and captured the WPIAL title in 1960.

About 300 attended and among the star studded list of guests were Mike Ditka, former Pitt star who was voted rookie-of-the-year in the NFL last season; Dick Mills of Beaver and the Detroit Lions; Fritzie Zivic, former world boxing champ from Pittsburgh, Milt Plum, quarterback for the Cleveland Browns, Tito Francona of the Cleveland Indians and from the Pittsburgh Pirates were Dick Stuart and Elroy Face.

Attending from East Liverpool were Chuck Winters, a brother-in-law of Bruno's, and Municipal Judge Sam Chertoff.

Stanton Meets Old Rival; Midland Seeks 20th Win

A turn-away crowd is expected at Irondale as the No. 2 rated team in Ohio guns for its 16th consecutive victory. The Red Raiders conquered Springfield (13-3) earlier this year at Springfield.

Tonight's light card also finds Midland (19-0) visiting Freedom for a Section 8 battle, and Wellsville High's Tigers (5-8) seeking to rebound against Steubenville Central Catholic (11-2) at Beacom Memorial gym.

Hank Kuzma's Midland Leopards are favored to whip Freedom and retain their position atop the Section 8 standings. Freedom is 4-5 in the loop, in fourth place in the eight-team field.

Al Aloi, carrying an average of 18.4 points per game, will lead the Leopards in search of their 20th straight win.

Wellsville High catches Steubenville Central on the way to its best season in years. The Crusaders posted weekend victories over Weirton Madonna, 55-43, and Follansbee, 67-49, and need only one more victory to match the best previous Central record.

Junior center Steve Baldwin, with an 18 point average per game, is the biggest threat for the Tigers. Wellsville is headed towards its first losing season since 1957-58, McDevitt's first year at the helm. The defending Sectional AA champs have had records of 14-7, 16-5, and 13-8 since then.

Two other games tonight find high-scoring Newell at Salineville and Peters Township at South Side.

Newell (10-6) is favored to trim Salineville (1-13) behind the scoring punch of Dave Bell and Mick Staley. Each is averaging over 21 points a game.

Newell's Dave Bell has climbed from seventh to third in the district's individual scoring race with some sensational efforts of late. And teammate Staley remains in second place, giving Coach Robison's Vikings a tremendous scoring wallop.

Stanton's Don Spires, 6-7, center continues to lead all district cagers with 395 points for a dazzling 26.2 average. Staley is second with 23.5, and Bell third with 21.8.

East Tech, Ayersville Top Voting

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Ohio's sports editors are right, there's going to be a star-spangled, free-for-all fight for the Southwest District's lone spot in the Class AA division of the state high school basketball tournament.

The scribes—45 of them voting in the weekly Associated Press poll—decided today that five of the top ten teams in the state are from the southwestern area, which has captured 19 of the 39 big school titles since the championship races were launched in 1923.

Cleveland East Tech's 1958-59 champs continued to lead the poll, the Scarabs stretching their slim lead to 14 poll points over Hamilton Taft on the 10-9-8 etc. voting basis.

Three newcomers, all from the southwestern area, moved into the elite list today to join runner-up Taft and third-place Urbana. Dayton Roosevelt eased into the sixth spot, Xenia claimed eighth and Dayton Chaminade grabbed 10th.

Ayersville's Pilots, champions in 1957 and 1961, continued to rule Class A with an iron hand. The Defiance County crew ran its string to 18 games and piled up 279 poll points to runnerup Stanton Local's 132. A newcomer — Alger with a 16-0 record—made its first appearance by roaring into fourth place.

From here and there:

Massillon defeated Alliance 57-50, using the 30-second rule innovation, and clinched at least a tie for the Big Eight Conference title as it ran its loop mark to 4-1. Also in the league are Canton McKinley, Warren, Niles, Salem, Steubenville and East Liverpool.

Tragedy struck on the Ohio hardwoods last week when Jim Lymper, 51, of Mansfield, one of the state's best known officials, died while handling the Huron-Willard game.

Hamilton Taft beat its cross-town rival, Garfield, 64-57, and then handed Wilmington its second loss, 98-80. Wilmington had lost previously only to unbeaten Xenia Central.

Here's How Writers Voted Ohio Teams

Class AA

Teams	Poll Pts.	W.-L.

OSU Streaks To 17th Straight

Iowa Stopped At Columbus

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

Irrepressible Ohio State, the nation's top-ranked team, conceivably could take its place among collegiate basketball's all-time elite.

The current band of the all-conquering Buckeyes is streaking along in devastating fashion with 17 straight victories. No. 17 came Monday night at home—an impressive 89-63 lacing of Iowa in a Big Ten conference game that gave them undisputed possession of first place in the league.

Just a year ago, Jerry Lucas & Co. were doing the same thing—winning at will. They had put together a tidy string of 32 triumphs in a row, five of them at the end of the 1960 campaign en route to the national championship.

The Bucks captured 27 straight last season and needed only a win over Cincinnati in the NCAA final for a 28-0 undefeated slate and a 33-game skein. The Bearcats upended Ohio State 70-65 in overtime.

Coach Fred Taylor's lads from Columbus are back in business again, and the way they're going they're going to be mighty hard to stop. The Buckeyes have a 7-0 Big Ten record and have seven more games to play—all league games.

If the Buckeyes sweep their seven remaining games and the four games in the NCAA championships, they'll wind up with a 28-0 mark. Only three other major teams ever have finished a season unbeaten—Kentucky in 1954, San Francisco in 1956 and North Carolina in 1957.

The Buckeyes built a 41-11 bulge over Iowa, led at halftime 52-26 and coasted in. Jerry Lucas was high for the winners with 24 points in 27 minutes but Iowa's Don Nelson topped all scorers with 29.

Mississippi State, ranked ninth in the current Associated Press poll and the only other top 10 team in action Monday night, thrashed Tulane 70-59 for its 17th victory in 18 outings. Leland Mitchell paced State with 29 points.

Colorado's Big Eight leaders turned back Oklahoma 54-50 for their sixth straight league triumph as Jim Davis iced the verdict with four successful free throws in the stretch. In the only other game on the Ohio front Monday night, Ohio Northern defeated Findlay 76-57 and moved into a tie with Ashland for the lead in the Mid-Ohio League.

The Bears now have a 7-1 mark in the league and are 14-3 overall. Findlay is 3-5 and 6-9 in the two categories.

Bright's Post 7th City League Win; Wellsville, Alex's Gain Victories

Bright's pushed its record to 7-1 with a narrow 74-69 victory over Professional Mercantile Collection Agency, which staged a rally that nearly caught the leaders.

Wellsville got rolling in the second half for its sixth victory in eight games by downing the Newell Merchants, 77-57. The Newell five is winless in eight starts.

In one other contest, Alex's Carry - Out didn't run out of gas this time and rolled to a 54-45 victory over Bloor's Pharmacy.

Four starters finished in the double figures to pace Bright's Joe Anderson and Wayne Cline had 18 each, John Watson flipped in 16 and Keith Bishop had 14. Mickey Pierce led the near-upset for PMCA with 20 markers.

Wellsville, in front 33-28 at halftime, jumped to a 56-40 margin at the end of the third period. Johnny Iams, the former East Liverpool boy now living in Steubenville, fired in 29 points to capture high point honors for the night in leading Wellsville's attack.

Jack Thayer paced Newell with 18 markers.

A 24-point performance by deadeye Jim Harris gave Alex's Carry-Out its third win in eight starts. Alex's led at halftime, 24-18, then rose to a 40-29 advantage when the third period closed. Bill Paolisso chipped in with 17 pionts for Alex's.

Sherrard Five Defeated By Cumberland

NEW CUMBERLAND — The New Cumberland Blue Raiders notched their sixth victory in 18 starts when a visiting Sherrard team fell, 57-42, in a Monday night contest here.

After battling to a 31-25 halftime lead, Coach John Kuzio's team spurted in front, 49-31, at the end of the third quarter and had smooth sailing the rest of the way.

Chief contributors to the victory were Gary Nardo who dropped in 17 points and Ken Freshwater who scored 14.

Unanimous Vote Goes To Buckeyes

By The Associated Press

Unbeaten Ohio State has done it again. Once more the weekly Associated Press poll of a committee of sports writers and sportscasters has cast a unanimous ballot for the Buckeyes.

Coach Fred Taylor used all of his 14 men Saturday as Ohio State ran its winning streak to 16 by thumping Northwestern 97-61. The poll covered only games through Saturday, Feb. 3.

After Saturday's game with Minnesota, Ohio State will have only six more to play in the regular season, including a big date with Wisconsin March 3. Ohio State, upset in overtime in the NCAA final last year by Cincinnati for its only loss, never has gone all the way to a perfect basketball season.

The only change among the top 10 teams in the new poll found Oregon State (16-1) moving into the select circle and Southern California (12-4) dropping out after its defeat by UCLA.

Next after Ohio State came the Kentucky Wildcats (16-1) who added to their record last week by knocking off Georgia Tech, Georgia and Florida. Kentucky hasn't lost since it bowed to Southern Cal Dec. 4 in its second game.

Cincinnati held tight to third place, right on Kentucky's heels, by boosting its season record to 17-2 by beating Drake, Houston and North Texas State.

The standings of the top 10 with first place votes in parentheses, points figured on the basis of 10, 9, 8, etc:

1. Ohio State (41)	410
2. Kentucky	352
3. Cincinnati	334
4. Kansas State	279
5. Duke	227
6. Duquesne	171
7. Bradley	140
8. Bowling Green	119
9. Mississippi State	78
10. Oregon State	58

Ridan Picked In Stake Race

By GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Handicappers give undefeated Ridan a slight edge over Crimson Satan and Sir Gaylord in Wednesday's $25,000 added Bahamas Stakes at Hialeah Park.

They figure Mrs. Moody Jolley's colt, going for his ninth straight after winning the six-furlong Hibiscus Stakes, at 7 to 5 for the seven-furlong Bahamas, with Bill Hartack to ride.

Crimson King Farm's Crimson Satan, 2-year-old champion last year, did not run in the Hibiscus and was held at 8 to 5 in Wednesday's feature, with Willie Shoemaker in the saddle.

Shoemaker said he fears Meadow Stable's Sir Gaylord more than he does Ridan. The overnight line has Sir Gaylord at 5 to 2. Ishmael Valenzuela will ride.

It will be the first time these three leading Kentucky Derby candidates have met this winter and the track record of 1:22 may be broken. Ridan ran the Hibiscus in 1:09 1-5, only two-fifths of a second slower than the track record of 1:08 4-5 set four days earlier by Beau Admiral.

Each of the top three will carry 126 pounds. The remainder of the field, carrying less weight, could give them a battle.

J. M. Roebling's Rainy Lake, winner of four out of five and second to Ridan in the Hibiscus, gets in under 117 with Bob Ussery, the leading Hialeah jockey, to ride.

Mrs. Ethel Haffa's Mighty Fennec, third in the Hibiscus, will have Sam Boulmetis on his back and Avelino Gomez will ride F & B Stable's Good Fight.

Two others who may go are A. J. Ostriker's Figaro Bob and Gustave Ring's Stinson Beach.

The Bahamas is the last big test for 3-year-olds before the mile and a furlong Everglades two weeks later, to be followed by the $100,000 Flamingo on March 3.

Ski Championships Receive New Title

CHAMONIX, France (AP)—The World Ski Championships, scheduled to open an eight-day run Saturday, instead will be known as the World Games of the International Ski Federation.

The change in title was announced Monday after the championships were canceled because of the refusal of the Allied Travel Office to issue travel permits to the East German team.

East Germans are banned from travel in the West under the general NATO policy that went into effect after the building of the Communist wall in Berlin.

Johansson Will Fight British Champ Friday

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) Ingemar Johansson has a three-part plan for his comeback, providing he beats former British champion Joe Bygraves in their 10-round heavyweight bout here Friday night.

1. Challenge Dick Richardson of Wales for the European title.

2. Fight Sonny Liston in an outdoor bout there.

3. Take another crack at the world title.

"I'm still young," Ingo, 29, said today, "and I've got another five years of boxing in me. I think I am still good enough to win back the world title if I get a chance."

The former champ, who hasn't fought since he lost by a knockout to heavyweight king Floyd Patterson in Miami last March, has seemed serious about training for the Bygraves fight.

"I went on a diet," Ingo said. "Previously, I used to eat anything and everything at anytime. Now I don't and I feel fitter and harder." He said he weighs 198.

His friend and adviser, Edwin Ahlquist, is encouraged by Johansson's condition and attitude.

"If he beats Bygraves," Ahlquist said, "then he will have one other fight, probably next month, before challenging Richardson for the European title. I plan to match Johansson and Richardson in an open air fight at Goteborg Stadium in May."

Turley Feels Very Good In First Pitching Test

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Hard-throwing Bob Turley, who developed bone chips in his elbow during the 1961 baseball campaign, has passed the first test on the road back toward the form that made him a 21-game winner for the New York Yankees.

Turley, 31-year-old right-hander who won 21 in 1958, took his first workout as the advance guard of the world champions opened their new training camp Monday, pitching for 15 minutes and then reporting optimistically:

"It felt very good. Of course, I am keeping my fingers crossed. I have been throwing for two weeks in the gym and I haven't had any sign of pain. I believe I'm going to be all right. Right now I could pitch a few exhibition innings."

Turley won the Cy Young Award in 1958 when he was 21-7 and won two games in the World Series, including the clincher, as the Yankees beat the Milwaukee Braves.

He was 17-14 over the following two seasons before becoming particularly ineffective for the Yankees last season, appearing in only 15 games (72 innings) for a 3-5 record and a bulging 5.75 earned run average.

Women Football Boosters Will Purchase Sport Coats

The Lady Football Boosters Club of East Liverpool voted to adopt a project of purchasing sport coats for members of the football squad when the club met Monday night at the YMCA.

Coach Bob Hedmond explained that the sport coats would be worn on the night of a Potter football game and only by those considered to be on the traveling squad.

The club also adopted the emblem which will appear on the coat designed after the high school crest.

Net Income Boost Reported By Sohio

CLEVELAND (AP — The Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) reported today preliminary figures showed net income increased to $25,540,631 in 1961, from $24,661,984 the previous year.

That was equal to $5.11 per share of common stock on 4,865,333 shares outstanding, compared with $4.94 per share in 1960. Net sales and operating revenue totaled $382,363,281, compared with $371,676,705 in 1960.

Picks, Shovels Slated For Widening Canal

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — Picks and shovels instead of heavy machinery will be used to widen Kinston's major drainage canal. The project will give work to at least 50 of the unemployed labor force in this city of 25,000.

City and county governments voted Monday to spend $15,000 on the project, to last about two months.

More Athletic Participation Seen U.S. Need

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Byron R. (Whizzer) White, U.S. deputy attorney general, says America needs more Paul Hornungs and Bob Fergusons and fewer spectators in athletics.

White addressed the 25th annual Maxwell Football Club dinner Monday night honoring Hornung of the National Football League champion Green Bay Packers and Ferguson of Ohio State as the professional and college football players of the year.

"I am and have been a rabid fan," said White. "But I am concerned because athletics are not reaching anywhere near the majority of our young people. We've got to have more participants."

Hawks Lose Lovellette For Season

By The Associated Press

Even when they have a day off, the hapless St. Louis Hawks lose.

The five-time champs of the Western Division of the National Basketball Association, now dragging their sneakers in fourth place, have lost hulking Clyde Lovellette for the rest of the season with an injured achilles tendon in his left leg. Rookie backcourt man Cleo Hill is out for a week or 10 days after breaking a small bone in his right foot.

Two games were played Monday night and St. Louis' successor as kingpin in the West, the Los Angeles Lakers, and the Hawks' perennial title playoff opponents, the Boston Celtics, fattened their division leads.

The Lakers, with Jerry West treating the old home folks at Morgantown, W.Va., to 46 points, whipped Cincinnati 134-128—opening an 11-game lead over the Royals in the Western Division. The Celtics thumped the Chicago Packers 127-111 in Chicago and moved eight games up on the runner-up team in the East, the Philadelphia Warriors.

Baltimore Must Replace Trio Called Into Service

By BILLY HITCHCOCK

OPELIKA, Ala. (AP)—Despite the loss of three players who figured prominently in our 1962 plans, the Orioles should be very much in the thick of the pennant race next season.

It will be difficult to replace men like Steve Barber, an 18-game winner last season; Ron Hansen, our regular shortstop, and standout rookie prospect Barry Shetrone, all of whom have been called into service.

However, we still have a solid crew of veterans and a group of youngsters just approaching their prime. If a number of rookies come through as we expect, and if we can plug a few holes on our roster between now and opening day, we will be in excellent shape for a run on the pennant. I feel sure the presence of Johnny Temple, Billy Short and John Powell will help.

The Orioles' biggest weakness was hitting and lack of consistent long ball, which naturally caused a shortage of runs. Powell, a left-handed hitting outfielder who has never failed to hit well over .300 in the minors, and Gus Triandos, who was hurt last year, could help this situation greatly. I'm also counting on Earl Robinson, who has speed, power and a strong arm.

Jackie Brandt is a fixture in center field. Russ Snyder and Whitey Herzog are good outfielders, and the latter, like Robinson, indicated he is ready for a big year by hitting .332 from July 5 to the end of the season.

The Oriole pitching was easily the best in the league last year. Barber's absence will hurt, but Billy Hoeft should be able to take up some of the slack. We are counting on Short and Joe Nuxhall, a couple of newcomers to help.

I have no worries about the infield, despite the loss of Hansen. Jim Gentile at first and Brooks Robinson at third are the best in the league. Jerry Adair will shift from second to short.

I certainly feel the Orioles will be a strong contender for the American League pennant and the teams to beat will be the Yankees, Tigers, White Sox and Indians.

Alonzo Stagg, Nearing 100, In Hospital With Bad Knee

His physician stressed that Stagg was not in serious condition but said any ailment could be serious at his age. Stagg will be 100 years old Aug. 16.

Stagg's son, Dr. Paul Stagg, is chairman of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics at University of the Pacific here.

"His knee is quite inflamed," said Dr. Stagg. He said it was a recurrence of knee trouble that began last week.

Although the years have bent his shoulders and his sight has been fading, Stagg retains the sharp mind that made him one of football's outstanding strategists and innovators for 70 years.

Stagg was an end on the first All-America team that Walter Camp selected. That was in 1889, when Stagg was at Yale.

Then he went to the University of Chicago. He coached the Maroons for 41 years until he reached mandatory retirement at the age of 70.

By that time he had achieved enough to overflow several careers but it wasn't enough for Stagg. In 1933, he came to Stockton to coach football at little College of the Pacific, now University of the Pacific.

With imagination and a zest for football that refused to fade, Stagg elevated Pacific to major schedules. In 1943, his team won seven of eight games, beating such teams as UCLA, California and St. Mary's.

In 1946, Stagg left COP and became an assistant to his son, Almos Alonzo Jr., at Susquehanna University, a tiny school at Selinsgrove, Pa. In 1953, the old man returned to Stockton and became an advisory coach at Stockton College, a two-year school.

When he finally called it a career in 1960 at the age of 98, Stagg said, "It was a lot of fun and I have no regrets. I taught a lot of boys something."

College Figure Dies

Bright's Post 7th City League Win; Wellsville, Alex's Gain Victories

Bright's pushed its record to 7-1 with a narrow 74-69 victory over Professional Mercantile Collection Agency, which staged a rally that nearly caught the leaders.

Wellsville got rolling in the second half for its sixth victory in eight games by downing the Newell Merchants, 77-57. The Newell five is winless in eight starts.

In one other contest, Alex's Carry - Out didn't run out of gas this time and rolled to a 54-45 victory over Bloor's Pharmacy.

Four starters finished in the double figures to pace Bright's Joe Anderson and Wayne Cline had 18 each, John Watson flipped in 16 and Keith Bishop had 14. Mickey Pierce led the near-upset for PMCA with 20 markers.

Wellsville, in front 33-28 at halftime, jumped to a 56-40 margin at the end of the third period. Johnny Iams, the former East Liverpool boy now living in Steubenville, fired in 29 points to capture high point honors for the night in leading Wellsville's attack.

Jack Thayer paced Newell with 18 markers.

A 24-point performance by deadeye Jim Harris gave Alex's Carry-Out its third win in eight starts. Alex's led at halftime, 24-18, then rose to a 40-29 advantage when the third period closed. Bill Paolisso chipped in with 17 pionts for Alex's.

Hawks Lose Lovellette For Season

By The Associated Press

Even when they have a day off, the hapless St. Louis Hawks lose.

The five-time champs of the Western Division of the National Basketball Association, now dragging their sneakers in fourth place, have lost hulking Clyde Lovellette for the rest of the season with an injured achilles tendon in his left leg. Rookie backcourt man Cleo Hill is out for a week or 10 days after breaking a small bone in his right foot.

Wellsville 8th Grade Pushes Streak To 9

Harry Thornton and Mick Comparetta paced Wellsville's eighth grade team to its ninth straight victory without a defeat when the young Tigers rolled over New Cumberland 42-20.

Thornton pumped in 14 points and Comparetta 11 to lead the attack. Wellsville will complete its schedule at home Friday against Jefferson Union.

Turley Feels Very Good In First Pitching Test

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla (AP)—Hard-throwing Bob Turley, who developed bone chips in his elbow during the 1961 baseball campaign, has passed the first test on the road back toward the form that made him a 21-game winner for the New York Yankees.

Turley, 31-year-old right-hander who won 21 in 1958, took his first workout as the advance guard of the world champions opened their new training camp Monday, pitching for 15 minutes and then reporting optimistically:

"It felt very good. Of course, I am keeping my fingers crossed. I have been throwing for two weeks in the gym and I haven't had any sign of pain. I believe I'm going to be all right. Right now I could pitch a few exhibition innings."

Turley won the Cy Young Award in 1958 when he was 21-7 and won two games in the World Series, including the clincher, as the Yankees beat the Milwaukee Braves.

He was 17-14 over the following two seasons before becoming particularly ineffective for the Yankees last season, appearing in only 15 games (72 innings) for a 3-5 record and a bulging 5.75 earned run average.

Sherrard Five Defeated By Cumberland

NEW CUMBERLAND — The New Cumberland Blue Raiders notched their sixth victory in 18 starts when a visiting Sherrard team fell, 57-42, in a Monday night contest here.

After battling to a 31-25 halftime lead, Coach John Kuzio's team spurted in front, 49-31, at the end of the third quarter and had smooth sailing the rest of the way.

Chief contributors to the victory were Gary Nardo who dropped in 17 points and Ken Freshwater who scored 14.

Nick Miller's 16 points paced the losers.

Unanimous Vote Goes To Buckeyes

By The Associated Press

Unbeaten Ohio State has done it again. Once more the weekly Associated Press poll of a committee of sports writers and sportscasters has cast a unanimous ballot for the Buckeyes.

Coach Fred Taylor used all of his 14 men Saturday as Ohio State ran its winning streak to 16 by thumping Northwestern 97-61. The poll covered only games through Saturday, Feb. 3.

After Saturday's game with Minnesota, Ohio State will have only six more to play in the regular season, including a big date with Wisconsin March 3. Ohio State, upset in overtime in the NCAA final last year by Cincinnati for its only loss, never has gone all the way to a perfect basketball season.

The only change among the top 10 teams in the new poll found Oregon State (16-1) moving into the select circle and Southern California (12-4) dropping out after its defeat by UCLA.

Next after Ohio State came the Kentucky Wildcats (16-1) who added to their record last week by knocking off Georgia Tech, Georgia and Florida. Kentucky hasn't lost since it bowed to Southern Cal Dec. 4 in its second game.

Cincinnati held tight to third place, right on Kentucky's heels, by boosting its season record to 17-2 by beating Drake, Houston and North Texas State.

The standings of the top 10 with first place votes in parentheses, points figured on the basis of 10, 9, 8, etc:

1. Ohio State (41)	410
2. Kentucky	352
3. Cincinnati	334
4. Kansas State	279
5. Duke	227
6. Duquesne	171
7. Bradley	140
8. Bowling Green	119
9. Mississippi State	78
10. Oregon State	58

Ridan Picked In Stake Race

By GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Handicappers give undefeated Ridan a slight edge over Crimson Satan and Sir Gaylord in Wednesday's $25,000 added Bahamas Stakes at Hialeah Park.

They figure Mrs. Moody Jolley's colt, going for his ninth straight after winning the six-furlong Hibiscus Stakes, at 7 to 5 for the seven-furlong Bahamas, with Bill Hartack to ride.

Crimson King Farm's Crimson Satan, 2-year-old champion last year, did not run in the Hibiscus and was held at 8 to 5 in Wednesday's feature, with Willie Shoemaker in the saddle.

Shoemaker said he fears Meadow Stable's Sir Gaylord more than he does Ridan. The overnight line has Sir Gaylord at 5 to 2. Ishmael Valenzuela will ride.

It will be the first time these three leading Kentucky Derby candidates have met this winter and the track record of 1:22 may be broken. Ridan ran the Hibiscus in 1:09 1-5, only two-fifths of a second slower than the track record of 1:08 4-5 set four days earlier by Beau Admiral.

Each of the top three will carry 126 pounds. The remainder of the field, carrying less weight, could give them a battle.

J. M. Roebling's Rainy Lake, winner of four out of five and second to Ridan in the Hibiscus, gets in under 117 with Bob Ussery, the leading Hialeah jockey, to ride.

Mrs. Ethel Haffa's Mighty Fennec, third in the Hibiscus, will have Sam Boulmetis on his back and Avelino Gomez will ride F & B Stable's Good Fight.

Two others who may go are A. J. Ostriker's Figaro Bob and Gustave Ring's Stinson Beach.

The Bahamas is the last big test for 3-year-olds before the mile and a furlong Everglades two weeks later, to be followed by the $100,000 Flamingo on March. 3.

Ski Championships Receive New Title

CHAMONIX, France (AP)—The World Ski Championships, scheduled to open an eight-day run Saturday, instead will be known as the World Games of the International Ski Federation.

The change in title was announced Monday after the championships were canceled because of the refusal of the Allied Travel Office to issue travel permits to the East German team.

East Germans are banned from travel in the West under the general NATO policy that went into effect after the building of the Communist wall in Berlin.

Women Football Boosters Will Purchase Sport Coats

The Lady Football Boosters Club of East Liverpool voted to adopt a project of purchasing sport coats for members of the football squad when the club met Monday night at the YMCA.

Coach Bob Hedmond explained that the sport coats would be worn on the night of a Potter football game and only by those considered to be on the traveling squad.

The club also adopted the emblem which will appear on the coat designed after the high school crest.

Hedmond explained the importance of his summer physical fitness program and reviewed the 1962 football schedule.

More Athletic Participation Seen U.S. Need

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Byron R. (Whizzer) White, U.S. deputy attorney general, says America needs more Paul Hornungs and Bob Fergusons and fewer spectators in athletics.

White addressed the 25th annual Maxwell Football Club dinner Monday night honoring Hornung of the National Football League champion Green Bay Packers and Ferguson of Ohio State as the professional and college football players of the year.

"I am and have been a rabid fan," said White. "But I am concerned because athletics are not reaching anywhere near the majority of our young people. We've got to have more participants."

White was a football star at Colorado.

Net Income Boost Reported By Sohio

CLEVELAND (AP — The Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) reported today preliminary figures showed net income increased to $25,540,631 in 1961, from $24,661,984 the previous year.

That was equal to $5.11 per share of common stock on 4,865,333 shares outstanding, compared with $4.94 per share in 1960. Net sales and operating revenue totaled $382,363,281, compared with $371,676,705 in 1960.

Picks, Shovels Slated For Widening Canal

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — Picks and shovels instead of heavy machinery will be used to widen Kinston's major drainage canal. The project will give work to at least 50 of the unemployed labor force in this city of 25,000.

City and county governments voted Monday to spend $15,000 on the project, to last about two months.

Baltimore Must Replace Trio Called Into Service

By BILLY HITCHCOCK

OPELIKA, Ala. (AP)—Despite the loss of three players who figured prominently in our 1962 plans, the Orioles should be very much in the thick of the pennant race next season.

It will be difficult to replace men like Steve Barber, an 18-game winner last season; Ron Hansen, our regular shortstop, and standout rookie prospect Barry Shetrone, all of whom have been called into service.

However, we still have a solid crew of veterans and a group of youngsters just approaching their prime. If a number of rookies come through as we expect, and if we can plug a few holes on our roster between now and opening day, we will be in excellent shape for a run on the pennant. I feel sure the presence of Johnny Temple, Billy Short and John Powell will help.

The Orioles' biggest weakness was hitting and lack of consistent long ball, which naturally caused a shortage of runs. Powell, a left-handed hitting outfielder who has never failed to hit well over .300 in the minors, and Gus Triandos, who was hurt last year, could help this situation greatly. I'm also counting on Earl Robinson, who has speed, power and a strong arm.

Jackie Brandt is a fixture in center field. Russ Snyder and Whitey Herzog are good outfielders, and the latter, like Robinson, indicated he is ready for a big year by hitting .332 from July 5 to the end of the season.

The Oriole pitching was easily the best in the league last year. Barber's absence will hurt, but Billy Hoeft should be able to take up some of the slack. We are counting on Short and Joe Nuxhall, a couple of newcomers to help.

I have no worries about the infield, despite the loss of Hansen. Jim Gentile at first and Brooks Robinson at third are the best in the league. Jerry Adair will shift from second to short.

I certainly feel the Orioles will be a strong contender for the American League pennant and the teams to beat will be the Yankees, Tigers, White Sox and Indians.

Alonzo Stagg, Nearing 100, In Hospital With Bad Knee

His physician stressed that Stagg was not in serious condition but said any ailment could be serious at his age. Stagg will be 100 years old Aug. 16.

Stagg's son, Dr. Paul Stagg, is chairman of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics at University of the Pacific here.

"His knee is quite inflamed," said Dr. Stagg. He said it was a recurrence of knee trouble that began last week.

Although the years have bent his shoulders and his sight has been fading, Stagg retains the sharp mind that made him one of football's outstanding strategists and innovators for 70 years.

Nurses at the hospital said he is no trouble at all.

Stagg was an end on the first All - America team that Walter Camp selected. That was in 1889, when Stagg was at Yale.

After graduation from Yale, Stagg coached at Springfield College, a school that helped develop many of the nation's outstanding coaches.

Then he went to the University of Chicago. He coached the Maroons for 41 years until he reached mandatory retirement at the age of 70.

By that time he had achieved enough to overflow several careers but it wasn't enough for Stagg. In 1933, he came to Stockton to coach football at little College of the Pacific, now University of the Pacific.

With imagination and a zest for football that refused to fade, Stagg elevated Pacific to major schedules. In 1943, his team won seven of eight games, beating such teams as UCLA, California and St. Mary's.

In 1946, Stagg left COP and became an assistant to his son, Almos Alonzo Jr., at Susquehanna University, a tiny school at Selinsgrove, Pa. In 1953, the old man returned to Stockton and became an advisory coach at Stockton College, a two-year school.

When he finally called it a career in 1960 at the age of 98, Stagg said, "It was a lot of fun and I have no regrets. I taught a lot of boys something."

College Figure Dies

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child Who Errs Needs Parents' Help

Suppose your son, for whom you had great hopes, decides to quit high school in spite of anything you can do. Suppose your unmarried high school daughter becomes pregnant. Suppose your teen - age son elopes with a girl you are sure is unworthy to be his wife. Suppose your son or daughter fails in college. Suppose your son is sentenced by the court to an industrial school, called a reformatory by most persons. Such problems and similar ones may arise in the "best of families".

Dr. Garry Meyers

In such instances parents are inclined to feel they and their families have been disgraced. They tend to recall the mistakes they must have made to lead to such problems.

—:—

IT'S NOT EASY for parents to consider the child and his or her own future. Nor to center their minds and hearts on what they can do for the best welfare of the child concerned.

It seems to me that all such problems are tests of the basic character and wisdom of parents. You and I do not know how well we would meausre up if such problems faced us.

Here and there we find parents who face problems like these in wonderful ways. They try to forget themselves. They try not to dwell on how they must have failed as parents.

They center their minds and hearts on just one goal — how they can most help their child. They recall the words of Saint Paul, "Forgetting the things that are behind and looking forward to the things that are before—"

SOMETIMES parents facing tragic problems are able to sit down together and map out a good future program. Sometimes they seek expert help.

Wisely they agree to try to find the best possible ways to do most for the child concerned. In doing so, they try to forget themselves.

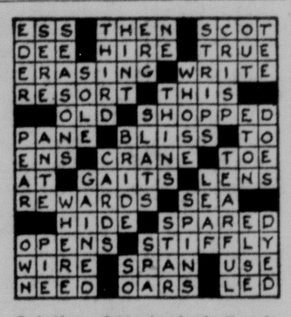

They keep their minds and hearts solely on the future welfare of their child. Thus, they not only are a blessing to the child but they also grow richer themselves.

My bulletin "A Parent's Prayer" may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child Who Errs Needs Parents' Help

Suppose your son, for whom you had great hopes, decides to quit high school in spite of anything you can do. Suppose your unmarried high school daughter becomes pregnant. Suppose your teen-age son elopes with a girl you are sure is unworthy to be his wife. Suppose your son or daughter fails in college. Suppose your son is sentenced by the court to an industrial school, called a reformatory by most persons. Such problems and similar ones may arise in the "best of families".

Dr. Garry Meyers

In such instances parents are inclined to feel they and their families have been disgraced. They tend to recall the mistakes they must have made to lead to such problems.

—:—

IT'S NOT EASY for parents to consider the child and his or her own future. Nor to center their minds and hearts on what they can do for the best welfare of the child concerned.

It seems to me that all such problems are tests of the basic character and wisdom of parents. You and I do not know how well we would meausre up if such problems faced us.

Here and there we find parents who face problems like these in wonderful ways. They try to forget themselves. They try not to dwell on how they must have failed as parents.

They center their minds and hearts on just one goal — how they can most help their child. They recall the words of Saint Paul, "Forgetting the things that are behind and looking forward to the things that are before—"

SOMETIMES parents facing tragic problems are able to sit down together and map out a good future program. Sometimes they seek expert help.

Wisely they agree to try to find the best possible ways to do most for the child concerned. In doing so, they try to forget themselves.

They keep their minds and hearts solely on the future welfare of their child. Thus, they not only are a blessing to the child but they also grow richer themselves.

My bulletin "A Parent's Prayer" may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Gunshot Wound May Have Saved Boy, 10

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP) — A gunshot wound may have saved Dwayne Pritchett's life.

The 10 - year - old lad was wounded while helping his father, Theodore Pritchett, repair a jammed revolver. A bullet entered the boy's abdomen, missed vital organs and came out his back.

OFF THE RECORD

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do if my ballpoint pen begins skipping and seems to have run out of ink sooner than it should?

A. Try heating it by holding the point for a minute against a lighted electric light bulb. This has the effect of softening the ink which may have hardened inside. Be careful about this process, however, since too much heat might soften the plastic case of your pen.

Q. How can I prevent eggs from bursting when hard-boiling them?

A. The eggs will not burst if one end of each egg is pricked with a needle before placing in the water. This makes an outlet for air and prevents the shell from cracking.

Q. How can I rewhiten the yellowed bone handles of some of my cutlery?

A. You can whiten these considerably if you'll rub them with a cloth wet with peroxide of hydrogen. Rinse in clean water, and dry with a soft cloth.

Q. How can I make paint adhere readily to tinware?

A. By use of the following method: Rub the surface of the tinware thoroughly with a piece of rough pumice stone or coarse sandpaper. Then apply a thin coat of shellac varnish, after which the surface may be painted very easily.

Q. How can I rehabilitate leather shoes that have been out of service for a long time, or dried out after a thorough wetting?

A. Rub the surface of the leather with half a raw potato before polishing the shoes. This will help them take a good gloss.

Q. How can I prevent a mirror from fogging?

A. Try applying a film of soap to the surface of the mirror with a moistened finger, then polishing the glass with a soft, dry cloth or some cleansing tissue.

Junior Editors Quiz on STARS

QUESTION: How were stars formed?

ANSWER: On a clear bright night we are able to see that the sky is filled with great numbers of stars, some very small and far away, others larger and much nearer. Stars are really large masses of hot gases. Some scientists believe they were formed ten billion years ago, when one big mass exploded and pieces tore off which became the stars and the sun, and the planets. Stars contain the same elements found in the earth, but since the stars are so much hotter, these elements are changed to gases. Scientists can tell what elements are in the stars by studying their light. Hydrogen, helium, calcium and iron are in all stars.

Stars are grouped together. The sun, the planets and most of the stars we can see. There are many galaxies like ours scattered throughout the universe, although none is larger than ours.

FOR YOU TO DO: Study a group of stars in the sky near you. Study them a few hours later, and see how they seem to have moved. See if you can learn why.
